LATE GENERAL SHERIDAN.

The Funeral Takes Place at Washington-It Will be a Very Plain Affair.

New York, Aug. 7 .- It is arranged that Gen. Sheridan's remains shall be transported to Washington in a special car, to leave New Bedford on Wednesday, and that the funeral service shall be held in St. Matthew's church on Thursday or Friday. The work of embalming the general's body was begun this morning. General Sheridan has repeatedly expressed a strong dislike of display at funerals, and the ceremonies in Washington are to be as simple as possible. The funeral, however, will be a military one. The interment will be made at the ground of the So'diers' Home in Washington. It is learned to-day that although the symptoms of the renewed heart failure began some 40 minutes before the general's death, the general's condition was apparently not more dangerous than on a number of former occasions. Injections of digitalis, applications of mustard plasters, the use of ammonia and the repeated employment of a powerful galvanic battery were employed unavailingly.

Sheridan deserves to rank next after the something. highest. His name will long be a memoir and incentive to a great people. The Post says America loses a soldier the whole people.

The Standard says in Sheridan his coun-

Morgan made a statement to Warden Coffin Thursday night that is looked upon by some as a confession of his guilt. During a conversation the warden suggested to Morgan that if he had told his whereabouts on the night of the tragedy his life could probably be saved. Morgan said: "It would do no good at this stage of the game, and besides it would cause others a great deal of trouble." Afterwards Morgan went on to state that it would ruin two women if he told where he was at the time of the Mc-Munn rescue.

The police say they recognize in Blinkey Morgan an English thief named Charles Cooper, Charles Morgan and "Blinkey" Mor gan, by reason of a defect in one of his eyes. SENATOR VANCE'S STORY.

THE N.C. SENATOR SPEAKS ON THE FISHERIES TREATY.

His Explanation of the Republican Opposition to Entification They Had to Do Something-Why the Beathen Rage-The Debate Not Concluded.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 -The Senate resumed consideration of the Fisheries Treaty in open executive session yesterday and was addressed by Mr. Vance (Dem., N.C.) in favor of its ratification. He accounted for the remarkable heat exhibited by the Republicans a minst the treaty by telling a story of a fellow in North Carolina who was once caught with an extra "Jack" in his sleeve when playing a game of "old sledge" and who in reply to the fierce denunciation of his adversary said: "Bill, you know we were six and six and it was your deal, and I was obliged to do something." So, said Mr. Vance, the presidential election is coming on and the Republican party, which desires once more to get into power and whose chief joy is the flesh-pots of Egypt, Sugar Tributes of the Press. | knows the game stands six and six and the fue approved the Press. | London, Aug. | The Dany were says knows the game stands six and six and that lie went on to say that owing to the stand taken by his friend on the other side of the Senate we presented to the world this specwhore dash and brilliancy endeared him to tacle of considering a treaty, not in the dignified way, not in a way respectful to the great power with which they treat, not in a way considerate of the interests of the 60,. 000,000 of our people, not in a way consistent with the dignity of this great and mighig nation, but as though the issue was to be decided by a ward primary.

Mr. Vance quoted at considerable length from a newspaper interview with Mr. Frye to the effect that American fishermen require nothing at the hands of the Canadians and said: If that be so, what is all this fuss about? Why do the heathen rage and desire the people to imague a vain thing? He quoted Mr. Frye as saying that the remedy was a duty on salt hish and said : "You heard the senator from Maine (Frye) describe in words that burn, the tearing down of the American flag by Captain Quigley of the Canadian cruiser and you heard him taunt the senator from Ohio (Payne), shaking his fist in his face and telling him that he was apologizing for a man who tore down his country's flag. You heard all that, it created quite a ripple in the gallery, I thought I could already hear the shouts of the columns marching, and banners floating in the breeze, and could smell the powder burned to avenge the American flag, but the wounded honor of the senator can be amply atoned for by a higher duty on fresh fish.'

Mr. Vance went on to describe the condition of the poor population along the Nova Scotia and Newfoundland coasts whose only source of support was fish in their bays, and said there was not a citizen of New England, who, if the conditions were reversed, would not find a hundred methods of repelling Canadian fishermen from trespassing on their rights. Bluster could not do any good though it might get some votes of those who could be controlled by such appeals.

and most dignified assemblies on earth. The present exhibition could not bear out those pretensions.
