Is the Times not somewhat in error? Didn't Mr. Morton hold his place on the Canada Pacific directorate until the New York Sun accused him of acting unpatriotically? Was his surrender of office then not admission that his conduct was not above criticism? He may, as the Times Intimates, be always depended on to do the proper thing, but he does not seem to have done it

CANADA THE GAINER.

soon enough in this case.

It is the Hamilton Spectator that assures us that "If the people of the United States desire reciprocity in natural products Cana. da will be the gainer by agreeing to the arrangement. But they must not expect us to give them more than they give us. And if they do not want reciprocity we can get along very comfortably without them." Some of which is very good and some of it not so good. Canada-or rather Canada's government-is not so ready to respond to the American government's call for reciprocity as our contemporary would have us believe. It is not so long since the United Statesgave this country a chance to show its liberality in trade matters, and experienced the shock of seeing our government stultifyng itself by refusing for a time to carry out its own statutory enactments. That did not look as if reciprocity was being forced upon the Americans; rather it was an evidence that reciprocity was being forced upon the Canadians, and only partially accepted by the government, and with very bad taste. It is gratifying to learn from the Spectator that Canada will be the gainer by it. With the conversion of the Spectator we may look for better things from the government it supports.

HIGH-CLASS EDUCATION.

In a recent number of the Empire the following appeared, telegraphically :

"An order-in-council has been passed increasing the annual fee payable by the cadets of the Royal military college from $100 to $200. When the college was first founded no fee was charged, but in 1880 the existing fee was imposed, and it is now proposed to double the amount ; but it is not yet decided whether the order will apply to the ensuing | month. He attends the meeting of the genterms, even at $200. The fee is about onethird of the cost of education in England, similar to what is given at the R.M.C."

The army is not a good place for young men of limited means, and few of those without ample means now care to enter and remain in it. The Royal military college, however, is doing more than fitting its cadets for military life. Its education qualifies them for civil occupations, such as engineering and surveying, besides giving them a training which is beneficial in several capacities. The fee of $100 or $200 may not make much difference to those who purpose sending their sons to the college, and it may do so. It is certainly large enough, added to the cost of maintenance, to bar out the youth whose brains are their wealth and hope of the future. In our opinion the council has made a mistake in the issue of its last order. Its meaning is: Only the wealthy need apply.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THEM. Mr. J. G. Blaine, in the speech which he made at the reception in New York, said the key note of the presidential campaign was protection to active laborers. And this at a time when the statesmen of the country are demanding the stoppage of indiscriminate immigration, and the workingmen are declaring, as they did at Indianapolis last week, that the Republican leaders are wedand have no proper regard for the interests of labor, that they really believe in a pro. tection"which demand tribute from the millions of wage workers for the benefit of the trusts and combines. And what do the Democrats preach? That "all taxation shall be limited to the requirements of all economical government; that the necessary reduction in taxation can and must be affected without depriving American labor of the ability to compete successfully with foreign labor, and without imposing lower rates of duty than will be ample to cover any increased cost of production which may exist in consequence of the higher rate of wages prevailing in this country." It is not difficult to understand why such a declaration, taken from the Democratic platform of 1884 and repeated in 1888, should be so popular.

ADOPTING THE IDEA.

At the prison congress, held in Boston some wasks since, the idea was advanced that men, convicted of crime, should not be sentenced to imprisonment for any particular time, that the period of their confine ment should be left with the prison executive and be lengthened or shortened as the conduct of the convicts warranted. The Ohio legislature has determined to give the scheme a trial and has passed a law in accordance with it. According to it after a man has been convicted of crime for two separate offences he is regarded as incorrigible, and the next time that he is convicted of a crime he is sentenced for life, subject to the discretion of a board of prison managers. The board can grant him permission to go out of the prison precincts as a sort of "ticket of leave man," but whenever he shows an inclination to resume his old habits of life he may be re-arrested and sent back to prison to serve out the remainder of his time. Such a law gives the state the guarantee that imprisonment will not go for nothing upon some men, that they will not leave the penitentiaries as vile and wicked and criminally inclined as when they entered them, that if their habits cannot be corrected the men will be kept where they can not do harm. The operation and effect of the law will be watched with interest by all who are interested in prison reforms. TO THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF

The Winnipeg Sun attends to those who will persist in referring to the boundary railway scheme as injurious to Canada and Canadian interests. "Admitting, for the sake of argument," says the Sun, "that a portion of the trade of the North-West is directed into American channels, the question might pertinently be asked, Who is to blame for it? The Manitoba government, which has been forced in self-protection to secure competition by an arrangement with the Northern Pacific, or dominion government, which has given our millions to bonus and render impregnable a gigantic corporation which has not, in the past, evinced a spirit to do this province even common jus tice? The Canada Pacific made a great mistake in seeking to check the aspirations of the people of Manitoba. Long before the government crisis came it became apparent house were uninjured. The duties of his that the people would have their way, and position make Mr. Collier unpopular with the syndicate should have diplomatically met their wishes. Instead of this the syndi cate opposed the Manitobans in every way, in itself and through the government, and only ceased its hostility when parliament recompensed it for its abandonment of the day afternoon, Geo.
