THODIST CHURCH FILLED.

Miss Dimedale Among Her Friends... She Delivers a Very Entertaining Address -Delightful Music by the Choir-Rev. Jas. Whiting Officiates in the Morning.

Rev. James Whiting, of St. Thomas, a ounger brother of the pastor of the Queen the pulpit of that church yesterday morning. Mr. Whiting has been in the ministry for almost thirty years, spending his time in the west. His hair and whisers are tinged with white. He speaks with force, having a resonant voice. His theme was the "Test of Discipleship," and based on the words: "Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me." St. John XXI chap, and 15 verse. He discussed the subject under four headings: (1) Christ demands our love for what He is: (2) for what He has done for us; (3) for what He has revealed to us; (4) because of His pledge of unfailing fidelity and friendhip. Mr. Whiting was at times quite eloent, while his illustrations were most apt. Louching God's revelations to mankind he remarked that at Grimsby, where a new and magnificent temple had been built, a clergy-MANAGEMENT OF THE PARTY OF THE tinct reverberations of the human voice. This reminded him that while Christ was on the earth eighteen hundred years ago, and spoke in this earthly temple, with the heavens as its dome, His voice has been reverberating down the ages and is now heard ineveryland. Christ was typified as a deliv. Penn., are visiting with Mr. Mahood, erer, as one who passed through the throng of humanity down to its lowest strata to lift up and purify. In a noted cathedral it is said there is a beautiful stained window, the work of an artist, who from the refuse thrown away by other artists, designed indeed, the most magnificent ornament of the entire cathedral. So Jesus coming to fallen humanity had gathered up the shreds and lifted them high in the cathedral of his glory, there to flash and shine as an evidence of his love forever. Speaking of the transitory and fitful character of friends he remarked that there were some friendships that were lasting and unstrained. Sir Walter Scott went to the aid of a friend in financial troubles against the wishes of his friends. To them he said: "This man helped me when my friends were few ; I'll beip him when his enemies are many." Jesus' friendship was represented as an evening star most resplendent in the President Edwards, one of the America's greatest statesmen, bid his friends roodbye as he was dying, and then, turning his head on his pillow, sweetly smiled, saying : "Now, Jesus of Nazareth, my never failing friend, I come to thee." The preach er closed by urging all to make Christ their steadfast friend. In the evening Queen street Methodist church was crowded to the doors by those who desired to hear Miss L. H. Dimsdale, the evangelist, who has been spending several weeks with friends at the Thousand Island Park. The choir was in attendance, and sang several appropriate hymns while the congregation was becoming settled. The anthem, with Miss Greenwood taking the solo, was nicely rendered. During the collection a quartette composed of Captain Crawford, Mr. Parker, and Misses L. Meek, L. Allen, rendered "The Evening Hymn," by Campone, in a very effective way. Miss Johnson, in the absence of Mr. H. Reyner, capably presided at the organ. In the them Rev. W. Galbraith, B.C.L., Toronto; Rev. James Whiting, St. Thomas; Rev. W. Briden, Little Britton; Rev. E. A. Chown, B. D., Elora, and Rev. C. Lavell, Drummondville; and the pastors of the church. Several assisted in the service.

Miss Dimsdale, in a neat fitting dress with a vest of white and a tasty bouquet fastened to her corsage, expressed pleasure in again having the opportunity of addressing her Kingston friends. She suffered from very screthroat, but she expected the sympathy and consideration of her friends while she spoke to them. She was, indeed, thankful for their welcome, coming as it did without previous announcement. She was de lighted to hear of the steadfastness of those converted last spring; to God be ascribed all praise. She talked for half an hour from Ecclesiasties VII., 29: "God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions." This declaration she considered fell as a thunderbolt against scientific theories, that man was evolved from lower orders. Then she considered the uprightness of man when created, and showed that Adam had been possessed of a great deal of intelligence, that he comprehended the works of God to an infinite degree. But how his descendants had fallen! Then she dwelt in a happy way on the inventions of man to gratify his mind, his appetite, his ear, and his avarice. She protested against the prurient literature affoat, that pollutes the min I and excites the imagination. was found in too many homes. She did not condemn fiction of a helpful, enobling and elevating character, nor of newspapers. The land was never more favored than now. It was marvellous the way the news of the universe was compiled. She urged chris tians to lock the door against immoral literature and novels and devote more time to bible reading. Christian intelligence would thereby be increased. After referring to intemperance she dwelt on that kind of music popular with the giddy throng, the kind that-tickled the ear and stirred the feet in dance. It was not that kind of music surely that vibrated through Eden, nor that swelled in the choruses angel assemblies. She also protested against the avarice of men who crushed the life out of others by their mortgages and usury, who accumulated wealth not as God had ordained. To her mind men were created to live in close affinity, not to injure one another, camping at Allumette island, Ottawa river, to live in accordance with the golden is again in the city. He is as brown as a Oswego with a cargo of coal. rule, thus strengthening and enhancing life. In concluding she dwelt on Christ as a sacrifice for man's iniquity, as a saviour to those who had become tainted and sullied by sin. Miss Dimsdale spoke with feeling, and her remarks were listened to with much attention. After the service many crowded forward to shake hands with her.

Given a Crayon Drawing. The popularity of Capt. Garret and his steamer, Ella Ross, continues unabated. On the last trip of the steamer when she arrived at Clayton, N.Y., an express parcel, addressed to the captain, was placed on board, which, upon being opened, was found to contain an excellent life-size crayon drawing of the captain, very handsomely framed. The drawing is a master piece, and was exeand presented by Mrs. W. W. Green, Watertown, N. Y. The drawing is highly prized by the captain and his fami-

Hon. O. Mowat, premier of Ontario, is in the city, and remains until to-morrow. He is the guest of his brother in-law, Mr. John Fraser. He was met this morning, looking | cluding many ladies from Kingston and well. He arrived on Saturday on the "Parisian," which made the fastest trip of any of Allan's boats. It beat previous records by two hours and forty five minutes. The run between Liverpool and Quebec was effected in 7 days, 23 hours, or in 4 days, 13 hours from land to land, the European mails being landed at Rimouski in 6 days, 13 hours. This was the first instance also that a mail steamer landed her passengers in Quebec on a Friday. The trip naturally elicited high encomiums from the numerous passengers who gave expression to their feelings in an address to Captain Smith, in which reference was made not only to the remarkably quick passage but also to the uniform kindness and consideration of the captain in provid passengers. The worthy captain made a happy and humorous reply, giving due credit to his able officers and crew, a reference which was heartily applauded.

A While reporter met the premier and sought his opinion regarding the proposed retaliation referred to by President Cleveland in his message. Mr. Mowat said that he could not speak of it as he had not read the message yet.

Regarding the bye-elections for the Ontario legislature he said they would be held this fall. They would be attended to on his return to Toronto.

There will be a great change of voters, as the campaigning will be conducted on federal lines, and the change of votes in the tariff question will be very great. The election will also show the strength of the prohibitionists." The colonel looks

POLITICAL CLAP-TRAP.

Magnate's Opinion of Retaliation-Would Cripple the Grand Trunk.

General Manager Spicer, in Detroit, in regard to President Cleveland's latest mesof a retaliatory commercial policy toward the Dominion of Canada said : "There can be no two opinions in the matter. To carry out the line of action suggested in the message would work very serious damage, not only to the commercial interests of Canada but to those of this country as well. Of necessity, that would impair the traffic of the Grand Trunk, but that is a feature of the case least interesting to the gentral public. "The Grand Trunk, under the existing system, has been a safety valve for shippers and consignees east and west. Let it be decided that goods cannot be held in bond while in transit across Canada, and it is selfevident that commercial interests of such states as Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Wisconsin and Mirnesota must be injured almost beyond computation. They are left to the mercy of the through roads on this side and deprived of that competi-

sonable rates. I know of no state that would suffer so much as Michigan, and no city so much as Detroit. "But I do not anticipate the evils which would result from an adoption of the policy recommended by the president. His action strikes me as a piece of political clap trap and a shrewd move to shift responsibility. It will afford political thunder for saloonpoliticians, but beyond that I do not look for results. The good sense of the people would not endorse such action as is urged, and the great commercial element of the country would rebel against it. The message may serve a political end, coming as it does in the midst of a national campaign, but I have no idea that its recommendations will ever go into practical effect." Assistant Manager Fortune thought that the subject had been fully covered by the newspapers. The Grand Trunk would safe fer from a diminution of business, and the border states in their commercial interests, but he had no idea that the suggestions of the president weuld ever be found in practical operation.
