Hon. Billa Flint as a Fish Story Teller -He Downs Them All.

Hon. Bilia Flint, Belleville, has been telling some fish stories that have so remark ably a flavouring about them that the Intelligencer very properly announces over them: "The editor is not responsible for the views expressed." Here is one of the

"The St. Lawrence at Brockville and up amongst the islands is famous for big fish, "Maskos' have been caught over sixteen years ago, weighing as high as 75 lbs. . A man of the name of Carl was the best spearsman and would take a fish in from tifteen to twenty feet depth of water. One night he caught a 'masko' 45 lbs. On dressing it he found a ten dollar gold piece inside. This was a splendid fish for him. Again at another time he caught one weighing 60 lbs. and on dressing it he found a gold watch and chain, seal and key. This was a great flud. A few such fish would be worth having. I saw the fish and the gold watch the morning after. He caught the fish near the old block house about ten miles above Brock.

"The old steamboat Charlotte used to run from the Carrying place to Prescott, and at Mingston used to take the Southereners from the Frontenac, and take them to Prescott, where they took stages for Montreal. . The boat stopped at my father's wharf," said Mr. Flint, "and I was on board of her and heard a gentleman say to another; 'I have lost my gold watch, chain, sealand key; I took them out of my pocket about twelve miles above here to wind the watch up, and they slipped out of my hand and went into the river. I would not have taken $300 for the watchit. But its gone. 'That night Carl caught the fish. The case of the watch was a little bruised by the fish's teeth. The time the the party or where he came from, and there was never any inquiry about the watch, so Carl kept it."

Mr. Flint says he went out once with Mr. fisherman at that place. "We went," he pieces of mica from the greatest mines in the writes, "to the foot of Fairman's Island to still fish. After anchoring I gave him a pole; I had two of the same length, lines the same; he commenced to fish while I crystal was taken a pure, clear sheet, ten was putting a hook on my line, and caught a black bass. He said, 'I will show you up another, using the same words. I baited eny book and caught 22 bass in 30 minutes, and although our hooks, when in the water, were not over a foot apart, he never got a bite. As I caught the 22ad bass the old steamer William came along and threw such a swell over the bar that we caught no more, but he was satisfied to own he was beaten.

MINERALS FROM KINGSTON.

What is Seen at the Exposition in Cincinnati-Beautiful Mica Exhibit.

Cincinnati Post. One of the most interesting exhibits is the Canadian government's from the mines of Ontarie. This province, it will be remembered, is very rich in almost every variety of minerals. Thousands and thousands of tons of iron ore yearly shipped to Cleveland and Chicago from Kingston. Here are some huge pieces of iron ore which are sixty-six per cent. pure. There are handsome specimens of gold, silver and nickel quartz from Thunder bay, large, shining pieces of copper ore from the north of Lake Superior, several pretty bunches of amethyst crystals, their purple and red points glittering like polished glass, beautiful sample of marble, varying all the way from a dead black to a

AN INFORMAL DISCUSSION ON VA-RIOUS CIVIC MATTERS.

The New Street to the Fair Ground and the Sidewalks Upon it-A Claim That is Not Apparently Wel -Founded in Law-The Street Railway. There was not a meeting of the streets committee last evening, as expected, a que

rum of members not being present. An indriving over Princess street, in Williamsville, a short time ago, was taken up. M. Gallagher's waggon, at the time of the acci dent, was laden with barrelled coal oil, etc. At D. Fallon's it broke down. He fell the street, and a barrel of coal oil rolled on one of his legs, injuring it badly. Hie con tends that his waggon would not have collapsed if the street had been in proper condition. The city engineer had investigated the matter. Mr. Fallon, who is the only person who saw the break-down, was interviewed. He pointed out the spot on the road where the waggon broke. This part of was and man Count perfectly level and the street railway level with it, so that the accident could not have been caused by the roughness of the thoroughfare. Mr. Bolger went into the details of the case. He went to Mr. Laturney's carriage shop, where Mr. Gallagher had his waggon repaired. Presley Ward, working for Mr. Laturney, said that falling to the street, was defective. It had been cracked before. Mr. Wilmot said that Mr. Gallagher had said that he should sue for $1,000 instead of $500, and he (Wilmot) replied that it did not matter how large his claim was, he would not win the case. The speaker said the city should not be held responsible for accidents on the streets, even when caused by the street railway. Some steps should be taken to make the street railway company keep its property in proper order. Capt. Gaskin said the streets of the city on which the track ran were in a most disgraceful condition. The company should be notified to repair its road at once. If this order was not complied with the council should move towards the raising of the rails. The city engineer said Ald. Fenwick intended bringing the street railway matter before the council. The city engineer examined the sewer going through the hospital grounds, and reccommended that it be deepened and covered at a cost of $100. He thought it would also be a good plan to build a stone sewer at the foot of Barrack street, a short distance into the water, and continue it past the Queen's wharf by means of a box drain. There were great complaints against the sanitary condition of this slip. Cap:. Gaskin said Mr Perley told him the dredge was going to work on the slip to-day. The engineer thought the dredge would do the slip good.

The matter of walks was talked about. Two board walks commenced to-day will be built on Alfred street, from Princess street to the fair grounds. They will be six and four feet wide.

Boulevards will be located inside of the walks instead of outside as in other streets. The engineer considers that boulevards placed in this way will be better protected. Ald. Wilmot thought that where traffic was not great, four feet walks with earth inside was sufficient. Ald. Gaskin said flagstones made the best walks and should be adopted here. Stone from Ald. Gildersleeve's quarry would fill the bill.

The chairman signed the accounts and the meeting dispersed.

THE COTTON COMBINE

Declared a Thing of the Past-Prices to be Fixed by the Various Mills.

Montreal Star. At the afternoon session of the Cotton association yesterday it was reported that communication had been received from the Chambly mill, which it was expected tion. The St. Croix mill was announced as having seceded without assigning a reason, the consequence of which was that the colored section would be obliged to retire from the association, the other sections remaining in the same position as before.

In the evening the committee of the gray section held a meeting, the question considered being how to prevent the St. Crotx mills from manufacturing grays. The question of allowing jobs to be sold, or distributing them among the wholesale houses in such a manner as to satisfy both the mills and them was also considered. It was stated that although cotton had gone up 21 cents per pound prices had not been advanced; but that they must do so shortly, afterwards breaking and becoming firm. At the adjourned meeting to day it was decided "that owing to the withdrawal of the St. Croix mills from the association, without any satisfactory reason being given for refusing to continue any longer in it, declining to join it, while regretting the course adopted by these mills, as injurious to the general interests of the cotton association and likely to create great annoy ance to the general trade, be it resolved that for the present the question of prices be left open for all mills to deal with as they think

The association has now ceased to exist. The reasons assigned for this are many, one being that the liberal press of the country "hammered at it" with a pertinacity that would kill anything.

It is thought that a few months hence something may be done to re-organize the association on a different basis. Great surprise is expressed at the action of the St. Croix company, as it had benefitted by the association more than any member, and had more concessions made than to any other mill in the combination. There will now be a lively fight for some time. One benefit arising out of the breaking up of the combination will be that the large mills, running a single line of goods, will be able to produce very much cheaper than when it existed.
