United States. Canada to-day was face-to-face with the fact that with unanimity the United States would pass a non-intercourse bill. Although the senate had determined that the President should not have the eredit after settlement of the question, in view of the election, yet the President and Administration had sent the treaty down with the declaration that it was a fair and honorable adjustment of existing difficulties. Without expressing an opinion regarding the message, he might say that all Canada asks is a fair, plain application of the principles of the treaty of 1818. Canada had gone as far as possible for the purpose of maintaining friendly relations with the republic, but the time would never come when the people of Canada, feeling as they did towards the Mother Country, would adopt a policy, fiscal or otherwise, detrimental to the British people.

The Government of Canada would pursue the policy followed on previous occasionsdeal with the question with fairness and deep consideration. Certainly from no act of indiscretion on the part of the Canadian Government would difficulty arise from the illogical message of President Cleveland.

He pute. 'England and Canada, united in a | will remain in Styria and Hungary till about just cause,' says the duke, 'can stand a good deal more bluster than that which has just been addressed to them.' From all evidences it will be seen that the threat of President Cleveland has failed to upset the judicial attitude either of the imperial or the Canadian government, and we may hope that in view of this attitude, and with the strong moral pressure which the American nation generally are certain to bring to bear advisers will adopt an attitude more conformable to the usages of pacific diplomacy.

The Standard says : "For the subsequent change of tactics on the part of President Cleveland, or for the unfortunate vote of the senate, the colonists are not responsible. They can only repeat that though anxious to keep on good terms with the United States they cannot make shipwreck of their own interests and those of their posterity to oblige American party politics."

The Daily News says: "In reference to what he called 'the late extraordinary message of the president' Sir Charles Tupper | agonized husband and her little son. drew a distinction which ought to be borne son or party against Canada. The Bucket Shop Case-The Queen's Park Muddle Straightened Out.

TORONTO, Sept. 7. -- Mr. Hodgins, Master in Ordinary at Osgoode Hall, yesterday made an important announcement to parties interested in Central Bank affairs. He stated that while he was a judicial officer under the Provincial Government he had been acting wholly under the Dominion Statutes, which gave him a permissive power in matters of this kind, and the jurisdiction that he had exercised had been purely voluntary. And further that he considered that it would be more conducive to the public interest that he should give his attention to the business that was strictly within his province as Master in Ordinary. REPORT TO THE MILITIA OFFICIAL DEPARTMENT.

So Conuntties of Any Kind-The Trouble In the Governor-General's Foot Guards

OTTAWA, Sept. 6. - The Department of Militia has received a report from the officer commanding the expedition to the Skeena. He arrived at Victoria, B. C., on Aug. 25. No casualties of any kind occurred while the force was absent on duty. At Port Esslington they were encamped wit in about 14 miles of the village. The ground there was densely wooded, indeed all the ground thereabouts is covered with timber. They eleared a space for their tents and for a drill ground and went into quarters until news could be heard from Hazelton. The corps carried out drill and rifle practice while in camp. The whole country in this vicinity While awaiting orders the is mountainous. officers and mem took advantage of the $000 feet high and snow-capped. The work was of the hardest description and showed the pluck and endurance of those who undertook it. Many wild animals were killed and skins brought back as trophies. The the adaptability of the men for the work they would have been called to do if their services were required to suppress any Indian uprising. During the time the battery was in camp many of the Indians from all parts of the country were assembled at the mouth of the river for salmon fishing and they all appeared to appreciate fully the strength represented by the ships ofwar upon which the force went up to Port Esslington and the strength of the armed force landed from here.

The commanding officer speaks in the warmest terms of the zeal and energy displayed by the officers, non-commissioned officers and men in carrying out their various duties, and the especially good conduct of the force during the whole time the battery was absent from Victoria.

Attached to the report is a capital sketch of the Skeena River. It was executed by a lieutenant in the battery, a graduate of the Royal Military College.

It is understood that the trouble in the Guards has been settled by the officers agreeing to withdraw their resignations for six months and if no further complications arise in that time, not again tendering them. This result is said to have been brought about partly by personal influence on the officers and partly by their patriotism, which would not allow personal feeling to influence them at a time when there was a possibility, however remote, of international complications which might require their presence in the field.

The Department of Customs has decided to enforce a fine of $400 on the American tug Gladiator for towing in Canadian waters. It appears that the vessel had a permit to tow one raft last year, on the atrength of which she has been doing other towing.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Myery Stables Burnt at Orangeville-A Lad Crushed in the Ruins. ORANGEVILLE, Sept. 7 .-- Jones and Glover's livery stables were burnt yesterday morning at 1 o'clock. Three rigs and six horses were destroyed. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary. The Advertiser lays it to local jealousy and enmity arising out of rivalry in the 'bus line, and calls upon the mayor to institute an investigation. A few hours after the fire was subdued the brick gable fell, crushin almost to death a young Irish lad named Wilson, a nephew of Father Jeffcott. No hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Two Oshawa Losses. OSHAWA, Sept. 7. - Coulthard, Scott & Co.'s agricultural implement factory and W. J. Montreal Must Pay for the Accident.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7. -Judge Mathieu gave judgment yesterday in the cases of J. B. Cadaret v. the city, and A. P. Vanasse, et al., v. the city. It will be remembered that when Cardinal Taschereau visited Montreal two years ago an arch erected by the city at the foot of Jacques Cartier-square broke down, killing an old lady, Mrs. Vanasse, and severely injuring her niece, Miss Cadaret. The children of Mrs. Vanasse claimed $5000 damages and the father of Miss Cadaret $200. The court held the city responsible, and rendered judgment for the full amount claimed by Cadaret, but reduced he claim of Mrs. Vanasse's heirs to $1000.

A Ballway Crash. LIMA, Ohio, Sept. 6.-A passenger train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago ran into a passenger train on the Lake Erie and Western here. The first was an hour late and was coming in at about forty miles an hour, when the air brakes refused to work. The engine went clean through the Lake Erie baggage car cutting it completely in two. The passengers were badly shaken, a few receiving bad cuts about the head. The Fort Wayne engine left the track. 1. the Lake Erie had been a second sooner in pulling over the crossing it would have entailed tremendons loss of life, as the passenger cars were full. A Miracie at St. Anne de Beaupre.

QUEBEC, Sept. 7. -Another miracle is said to have been performed at the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre: A beautiful young daughter of Mr. William Alcrow of this city, fell some five years ago and hurt her knee: it turned into something like a 'white' swelling and she has had to walk with crutches since. She came to St. Anne a week ago and was faithful at her devotions. One morning, having partaken of Holy Communion, she instantly found a change take place as though she could walk. She arose and is now doing well and walking about nicely. Busane From a Brother's Disgrace,

BRANTFORD, Sept. 7. - A young girl named Jennie Campbell has made two or three attempts upon her life. A brother of the unfortunate girl was recently convicted and sentenced for indecent assault and the trouble is supposed to have preyed upon her
