Capt. Dowling of the Brigt. "Leo" of Lauenburg, N. S., says: "I do not consider the ship's medicine chest complete without a quantity of Simson's Liniment. In one particular case that came directly under my notice, its operation was simply wonderful. The case was a very bad swelling of the legs of one of my men. A few applications, rubbed thoroughly in, brought him around in a very short time. Since adopting Simson's Liniment on board ship I have adan-

An Examination on Matrimony.

suppose it will not be long before in female seminaries they have lectures on divorce. There are always various forms of lectures on matrimony. And as divorce is growing to be a regular experience, why, it will be just as well that something about the law on both subjects should be taught in schools. Time was when the mother was proud to see her daughter settled in life by marriage. But nowadays there is so much uncertainty about it that old folks have to keep a spare room always ready for her return. By and by in colleges we will have a regular examination on the subject. "What is the difference between marriage and divorce?" Answer-Marriage contracts two into one; divorce expands one into four.

"What is marriage, anyway?" "Marriage is an experiment for the benefit of a second husband."

"What is divorce?" "Divorce is a vacation in matrimony."

Igeon Messengers at Sea.

The scheme suggested by the French Society Colombophile is a novel, indeed, an important one, and it seems rather strange, now we are told how much advantage is likely to result, that it was not thought of before. It consists in sending pigeon messengers from ship to ship, the same being on the bread seas and far apart, or near an enemy's country. and needing re-enforcement. A cote has been established aboard the dispatch boat St. Louis, the consort and constant attendant upon the Couronne, line of battle ship and school of gunnery at Salius

At its recent departure from Toulon, whither it comes every three weeks to revictual, the St. Louis brought young their floating cote, and to the noise of artillery fire, the St. Louis firing at least 600 shots a week from her great guns. At distances small at first, but finally reaching 200 miles at sea, the pigeons were released with messages, Louis going to their There have been few mis haps, and, strangest of all, the pigeons do not fear, so far as can be seen, the fire of the great guns, at times arriving when | head of thoroughbred Ayshire cattle for the they are in full play, and in the midst of | round sum of $1,500, and has presented burning powder.
