DRESS AND FASHION.

. Hints About Dressing Little People of Both Sexes, So They May Be Comfortable and Appear Property Attired at One and the Same Time.

Children ought to have their small frames as little confined as possible, hence there appears no better style of making their outer garments than the plain or kilted skirts and blouse bodices that admit full play to limbs | should be gently heated. known to require description here, having been long worn by little folk of both sexes.

silk sash, or a sash of the material in both reputable shop where such work is done. But cases fringed at the edges, is loosely knotted | if you must do it yourself, for black gloves round the waist, the bodice being made as a coat jacket, with broad square flap pockets at the back. The basques are elongated in a rounded form to the bem and bordered with gloves, but it will hardly do for other colors. galon, so that the fullness of the skirt, gathered round a point at the back, shows between these two side pieces.

Beige, blue and red are the most generally worn tones for children, and red or white cuffs, vests and sashes are introduced as a the top of the tucks, cuffs and collars. Gathered frillings and flouncings of red or neutral tints look extremely well. There is a yellowish red flame color, which as the season advances will appear with gray on many of the new frocks for juveniles. The new color par excellence is a more decided tone of | quarts of fresh filtered or spring water, if | brown with red in it, and the style of the immediate future for children is the Directoire. Very pretty frocks can be made after this fashion.

Fig. 1. illustrates an overall or apron for little girls, that will be found quite a protection to the dress worn underneath. It is prettier in effect than these garments usually are and may be worn mornings in place of a regular frock. It may be made of blue linen or other fabric. The bands and belt are of bright embroidery. The full sleeves admit of a dress being worn underneath the overall without discomfort to the little wearer.

NO. 2-SUITS FOR BOYS.

There is not much that is remarkably new in boys' habilaments. A new ulster has been brought out in thick fancy cloth, with a detachable cape and plenty of pockets. The little boys who wear suits with short trousers and a jacket with belt can have a new style for the square sailor collars which are a distinctive feature in such suits. They are now made to form revers in the front, being cut all in one. Silk sashes, like military ones, with silk tassels at the end, are tied below the waist. A capital tweed like corduroy is being used for very jaunty looking suits, the tight breeches buttoning at the knee, and they are completed by a waistcoat and loose overjacket.

In our cut are shown two suits that have found favor with New York lads. The next design, made plain and cut to imitate a vest, buttons to the neck. This style is suited to boys from 4 to 10 years of age. The Nassau kilt suit illustrated, in the secand figure is designed for boys 3 to 6 years of age. This style is usually made in check and fine cloths, with a blouse waist, as shown in the cut. Children's clothes should be made as strong as possible and always of good materials.

The "Secret Honeymoon."

The latest mairiage custom is the "secret honeymoon." To the "best man" at the wedding is intrusted the task of selecting a wedding tour, the direction of which ho is forbidden by the dictates of honor to disclose to either bride or bridegroom. When the happy pair drive off from the wedding they have a sealed envelope handed to them, and upon opening this they first discover in which direction their journey is to be. The practice is said to give great satisfaction and to work admirably. Its good points are that it throws an air of pleasing expectation over the honeymoon which would otherwise be absent, and prevents any chance of the bride and bridegroom wrecking their domestic happiness by squabbling as to the direction of the journey. As a drawback, it may be suggested that it will give admirable opportunity of distinction for the practical joker. Probably the next "society" drama will be founded upon the complications of a "secret honeymoon.'

The Tournure.

There is a truce for the moment to the quarrel between those contending for and against the tournure. It is secure for the present, but the combat will probably be renewed next winter. The prudent party is the neutral one, which admits that there are two sides to the question, and that each shall have liberty of choice to dress either with or without a bustle, as best suits her.

Cabbage Pickle.

Three large cabbage heads, 6 green peppers chopped fine, one-half pint of mustard seed, traction. 11/2 pints grated horseradish, 1 cup sugar, one-half cup of salt. Mix well and cover with vinegar. It will be ready for use in of which appears to be spread a snowy napkin like damask. three days,

Useful Directions About Redycing Leather Upholstery and Repairing Furniture. Upholstery leather coverings and hangings that have faded, or the bue of which it is desired to change, may be dyed or stained by any of the strong, liquid color dyes gently beated. So says Decorator and Furnisher, which gives the following directions: The leather must be previously tightly stretched. The surface is finished off by laying on a coat of white of egg, and going over the same when dry with a polished piece of wood shaped like a paper cutter. Copperas will give a black color; a solution of indigo, blue. If the leather is to be varnished, it

To restore the color to rusty black leather chairs or sofas the authority mentioned advises to take the yolks of two eggs and the white of one, beat well, then shake in a bottle until like oil, then in a small tablespoonful of geneva dissolve an ordinary tea lump of loaf sugar, make this thick with ivory black well worked in, mix with the egg and apply to the leather with a brush; after a few minutes polish with a clean dry brush till bright and shining, then set away a few days to harden.

To make furniture paste to cement or fill in blemishes in furniture, especially mahogany, the following directions are given: oughly in turpentine, then to a quarter of an ac of powdered main will enough Indian red to bring it to a deep manoguny color. Stir all thoroughly together.

Mending and Cleaning Kid Gloves.

Mend a tear in the leather by working in put a few drops of the best black ink in a teaspoonful of olive oil, apply with a feather and dry in the sun. Benzine will clean white Corn meal, dry, will do for light gloves that are not much soiled. When at the theatre, do not let your light gloves come in contact with the ink on the programme.

To keep the surface of your kid gloves looking well, when you take them off smooth trimming on many of the dresses made for them out lengthwise until they have about girls up to 15 years old. Red vests and shirts | the same outline that they have on your are, also much worn, and the color is often hand, and put them in a dry place. If the further carried out by stitchings of silk on gloves are rolled together into a wad the surface will soon present an unpleasing appear-

Frozen Coffee. Frozen coffee is made, according to a confectioner's recipe, as follows: Take two obtainable, bring it to the boil, then add half a pound of the best Old Government Java coffee, roasted and ground; stir well together, cover and set aside on the range to infuse. Stir occasionally for the first ten minutes, then let it stand in a warm place till well settled. Now strain the coffee clear through a fine muslin cloth and add water to make two quarts; dissolve one pound of pulverized sugar in it and set aside to cool; then pour it into the freezer, add the whites of two eggs and freeze the mixture to a softish texture. This frappe is generally served in high glasses. The fourth part of a vanilla bean is also sometimes infused in the coffee when making it and tends to heighten the aroma of the coffee. Some persons also add balf a pint of rich cream to it before freezing.

The Care of Tiles.

If tiles are in good condition to start with, it is the easiest thing possible to keep them so. Wash them with tepid water and soap and a flannel. Never use a scrubbing brush, as it seems to loosen them in their setting. When washed, wipe them dry with a soft cloth and then rub them well all over with an old silk handkerchief dipped in butter milk, or a very little linseed oil, polishing them as you go. This process is only required about once a week, unless there is a great deal of dirty traffic. An old chamois leather is excellent to polish them with.

Delicious Plain Gingerbread.

Mix together half cup molasses, half teaspeonful soda, half cup sugar, half teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful ginger, one tablespoonful butter, melted, one cup sour milk, two and a quarter cups flour with half teaspoonful soda mixed with it. Bake twenty to thirty minutes.

An Attractive Wall Ornament.

An odd and pretty ornament for parlor or drawing room is found in the graceful arrangement of a tambourine, as shown in the cut.

The circular parchment may be decorated with a painted landscape or Watteau scene. Quite a popular and amusing design is a cat's head painted to look as if it had just been thrust through the parchment, which shows torn edges around the cat's The rim is gayly trimmed with ribbons and multi-color loops and ends of corded silk, intermingled with gilt and silver cord.
