A similarity has been discovered between the writing of Foster and the clerk. Wentworth, Foster's partner, said the latter was the last man he would have suspected of doing such a deed. He was temperate and was never known to speculate. The whole matter is now a muddle as no one seems to know who will be responsible.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Present session, WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The question of retaliation against Canada is probably dead Foreign Affairs met yesterday, but the where it is likely to remain. The only action taken by the committee was to send to the Treasury Department for such information as it can furnish relative to the subject of railroad traffic between this country and Canada, and as to what course has heretofore been pursued by the department in the matter, allowing the transhipment of goods in sealed cars free of duty, etc.

There are two investigations of Canadian matters already ordered by the Senate in addition to the one called for by Senator Sherman's resolution. One was authorized by the resolution of Chairman Cullom, of the Inter-state Commerce Committee, in August, and provides for an investigation by his committee of the entire question of railroad traffic across the Canadian domains and why it has been allowed by the administration in view of the fact that Article XXIX of the Treaty of Washington has been abrogated.

About two months ago a resolution introduced by Senator Hoar was adopted by the Senate, providing for a special committee of tain and her dependencies. This committee has already done considerable work and has been furnished with a large amount of correspondence from the State Department. Owing to the failure of Congress to adjourn it is likely that Mr. Hoar's committee will be allowed to do the entire work called for by the three Senate resolutions, and the conclusion will be presented to Congress in a single report. Until this work is finished, which will not be until the next session of Congress at least, it is probable that no movement towards retaliation will be recommended by the Rel ublican Sanate.

Mr. Sherman's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.-Mr. Sherman from the Committee on Foreign Relations reported back the resolution offered by him for an enquiry as to the state of the relations between the United States and Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada, and it was placed on the calendar. He stated in reply to a question by Mr. Blair that the Committee regarded the matter of such great importance that it did not desire to enter on the consideration without further information.

Crone walked away while Haskins was conveyed to a physician's office where the wound was stitched The Haskins last night was able to leave his room for the first time since the stabbing.

His hands are badly burned, and his eyes are very much injured and now sightless, but the doctor hopes they can be saved.

An Elegement of 13-Year-olds.

HAMILTON, Sept. 28. - Frederick Meinke endeavored to prevent his daughter Louise, a smart, bright-eyed and rather good-looking girl of 18 from keeping company with Powell Hoffman, who about a year ago went to board with Mr. Meinke. After Hoffman had been there a few months he began to pay attention to Meinke's daughter Louise, but as the girl was young her parents did not think anything about it. Things went along smoothly until Sunday evening, when Hoffman was told that he would have to get another boarding house. He immediately packed his trunk and took his departure but before going he saw Louise, and they decided to skip as soon as they got a chance. Wednesday night was hardly the kind of a night that a romantic lover would select in to escape the anticipated arrest. He was which to elope with his beloved one, yet about midnight young Hoffman ascended a ladder by which he could reach Louise's room and carried her little trunk down to the door. Then Louise quietly stole out of the house, and away they went. Mrs. Meinke was rather surprised when she got up yesterday morning and discovered that her daughter had vanished. On inqu ries being made at the station it was learned that Hoffman and the girl took the 2.30 train for Detroit. Mr. Meinke followed the couple to Detroit, and will make it very interesting for Hoffman if he catches him.
