Late Miss Smith.

A few years ago, in the little village of Violet, a girl in her teens began her career as teacher, and is still remembered in that section for her excellence. Since then she has taught successfully in several country schools. Last year she took the large Colebrook school, and her indomitable ambition and energy carried her through. This year she took charge of the Yarker school, and she took charge of the Worked with equal and energy carried her through. This year in this trying post she worked with equal determination to succeed. When the school closed at midsummer she was considerably worn down, and it was thought that rest and relaxation would restore her wonted McGillivray preached his farewell sermon | vigor. But instead of gaining strength she in Knox church, Sunday evening. He will grew worse, though all that loving hearts be ordained by the presbytery at Toronto and kind hands could do was done to beat on October 11th and leave via C. P. R. for back the fell destroyer. At times she would China on October 16th. The church was show such signs of rallying that some of her filled by all classes to show their appreciation | friends kept hoping against hope, until at of a good man. He goes out to China full last the object of their affectionate solicitude of love for the great work. He asks for two | crossed the dark valley. Now her classes are all dismissed, her voice is hushed. With such expressions on her lips as "It's all grieve for me," she has fallen asleep. On Oct. 5th, in the still hours of a quiet night, right," "It's all right," "They must not Oct. 5th, in the still hours of a quiet night, she rested from her labors.

"And we wept that one so lovely, should nave a life so brief."

At Violet, on the 8th, a large concourse of people assembled to pay their last tribute of respect to all that was mortal of Miss Mary Smith, of the township of Ernesttown. Among the tokens of regard none bore stronger testimony to the worth of the departed than a lovely floral wreath contribut. ed by her Yarker pupils.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment.

In the complaints peculiar to females these pills are unrivalled. Their use by the fair sex has become so constant for the removal of their ailments that rare is the household that is without them. Amongst all classes, from the domestic servant to the peeress, universal favour is recorded to these renovating pills. Their invigorating and purifying properties render them safe and invaluable in all cases. They may be taken by female of all ages for any disorganization or irregularity of the system, speedily removing the cause and restoring the sufferer to robust health. As a family medicine they are unapproachable for subduing the maladies of young and old.

Advice To Mothers

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25c a bottle.
