A VERY BAD OLD MAN.

If the Statements of His Wife and Daughters Are Believed.

If the statements of Mrs. Peter Ruttan are correct the police have, in the person of Peter Ruttan, arrested for neglecting to support his family, a man who is hardly fit for society. A week ago he was remanded, and this morning appeared, but his lodgings in the county gaol were kept open for him for another week in the hope that his wife will give evidence. She is now in Watertown whether she went to earn money with which to maintain her family. She was driven off by the cruelty of her husband, a man about forty-five years of age. From the letter sent by Mrs. Ruttan, congratulating the daughter on having had her father gaoled and urging her to have him sent up for a long time, some history was disclosed that has caused an information to be laid against the father for a serious of eace, of indecently assaulting his own offapring. When pressed by a police officer the daughter told the story of his offendings. The magistrate, in sending him up for another week, said if his wife spoke truthfully he was unfit to be allowed his freedom. The chief of police will endeavor to have Mrs. Muttan, who goes under an assumed name in Watertown, come over and appear against Falling Off of Barley Receipts.

The receipts of barley at Oswego for Oct. and November show a great falling off. This is due to the fact that the farmers in the Bay of Quinte district are holding their grain back in the hope of getting higher prices. As a consequence the lake marine consisting of fur knapps, meltons and bea suffers quite a loss, many vessels having | vers. These goods are extra fine. His $13 already gone into winter quarters. The bulk of the grain will go through by rail the coming winter.

CONCERT AT PINE HILL

It is a Very Great Success-All of the Talent Appreciated at It. he postponed concert at Pine Hill school house, managed by Miss Mamie Daly, teach et, with the object of obtaining prizes for her pupils, took place on Monday evening. the 12th inst., and proved a decided success. Mr. H. Bawden occupied the chair and delivered the opening address. He said that he was happy to meet people in the audience from such a wide vicinity as that to which extended, as the subject he would call their attention to could not be widely made known. The farmers, along with the residents of towns and cities, were clamoring loudly for a more practical education than our present educational system affords. Under the present system many pupils were plowed under, who came to the front in after years and were recognized in every line of human industry as superior to the men who, owing to their parrot-like facilities of repeating the thoughts of others, originated nothing themselves, out-ranked those pupils in class examinations in their schooldays. Boys who did not care a anap whether Borneo was in the Arctic regions or was one of the mountains of the moon, became, in after life, superintendents of great lines of railways and other great commercial enterprises, while others who had earned the distinction of B. A. or M. A., in the schools, were frequently to be found in

velop all the latent powers of the youth of our land that we should use every effort to introduce a more practical system of education in our schools. The farmers, if convinced that such a system was necessary, could easily exert their influence in that direction by moving resolutions at their anw. Anderson was before the magistrate nual school meetings, containing expressions of their opinion, and forwarding them to the minister of education at Toronto, where they would receive proper attention. We had a great country, containing priceless mineral resources to develop, and instead of looking to Germany, Norway or Sweden for practical mining engineers to develop these great resources we should educate our sons in that direction and obtain results that would have an inestimable bearing upon the future prosperity of our land. There were boys sitting before him whose powers, if properly developed, would take rank in the future with men like Edison and others who had done so much for the service of their fellow men. Mr. Bawden then introduced the programme of the evening, which was opened by the ladies and gentlemen of Zion church choir rendering a charming glee in a very artistic manner. This was followed by readings, recitations, solos, and displays of skill in instrumental music, all of which afforded great delight to the audience. Where all was excellent it would be unfair to make distinctions. But the recitations of Miss Annie Waggoner and Mr. H. McGillivray deserve special mention for the manner in which they were rendered. Readings by Mrs. W. J. Franklin, Mr. Stevenson, Mr. J. Edwards, and Master J. Bawden were well received. Mr. William Craig, of Glenburnie, kept the feet of the small boy on springs during his excellent recitals on the violin, while the Messrs. Cook delighted them with duets on the mouth organ. Miss Maud Waggener and Mrs. W. J. Franklin rendered solos in a manner that would command the attention and applause of the most artistic ear. A vote of thanks was tendered to the chairman and ladies and gentlemen who had contributed to the evening's amusement, and a special vote of thanks was moved by Rev. Mr. Henderson to Miss Daly, the teacher, who is severing her connection with the school. The reverend gentleman paid a warm eulogy to the character and attainments of that estimable young lady, which so fittingly qualify her for her profession as a teacher. At a late hour the audience dispersed, after all joining in the national anthem, the solo being taken by Miss Maud Waggoner.

THE DORCAS SOCIETY.

An Appeal in Sesson-The Regular Work of a Very Useful Institution.

Now that the fall house cleaning is over, and the careful house keeper has sorted her boxes and trunks and brought out the warm stores, and the kind and loving mother has clothed all her little ones with the warm and comfortable clothing necessary for the cold winter, we ask that each give more than a passing thought to those to whom these comforts have been denied, or who, by their poverty, are unable to provide for those who are so dear to the heart of the poor mother. The Dorcas society has already distributed a quantity of useful garments, made by the members, but they ask that if there are any who have secondhand or cast-off garments they send them to the rooms of the society, that from there they may be distributed to the most de serving or most needy as they endeavor to investigate each case. They would also be glad of old bed-clothing, as a great need of that is found. Thursday of this week being a holiday the regular meeting will be postponed till the 29th, (Thursday), when all donations will be thankfully received at the rooms, corner of Princess and Montreal streets.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

REGULAR FALL SESSION IS NOW WELL ADVANCED.

The Numerous Applicants for the Caretakership of the Court House-The Selection Finally Made-The Audit of the Sydenham High School's Accounts-A Quiet Meeting.

The last session of the county council for 1888 began yesterday afternoon at the court present the Warden, Smith; and Stoness, Calvin, Woodruff, Dr. Brown, S. Staley, Hutton, Campbell, Avery, Bell, Cameron, J. Cox, Joshua Cox, M. Dempsey, Howell Pringle, J. Toland, Wood, Walker and

Dr. Spankie and A. McArthur, the auditors appointed to examine the accounts between the county and the treasurer of the Sydenham high school, reported that there should be a balance in the high school trustees' hands on January 1st, of $252.06, and the balance in the hands of the county treasurer in favour of the high school at the same time should be $82.52.

A communication was read from Britton & Whiting, re by-law No. 242. They state they are instructed by a ratepayer of the county to call the attention of the council to the following feets: ... In 1884 hy less 242 was passed, and under it the sum of $ . W handed to the reeve of Wolfe Island. Subsequently sections 9 and 13 of the bylaw, which authorized the payment, were questioned by the court, and it became the duty of the county council to recover back this authorized payment. The client finds that this has never been done, and that the reeve of Wolfe Island still has in his personal care this amount of county funds, which has not even been paid over to the treasurer of the township of Wolfe Island or expended. Unless the county council gets back this amount of county funds legal proceedings will be taken against the county council for the appropriation of the money. Mr. Ioland thought that the matter referred to in the communication should be dealt with at once. It should be referred to a special committee, the members of which could receive legal advice regarding

Mr. Staley said Wolfe Island had the money alluded to, and would refund it to the council if the other townships which had received $100 each, under the by-law questioned by the courts in 1884, would do the same.

Mr. Hutton was of the opinion that the township of Pittsburg had refunded the grant received by it in 1884 under the bylaw alluded to.

Mr. Woodruff pointed out that none of the townships had refunded the grants received under the by-law which was quashed. Mr. Staley said that if the other townships refunded the grants received by them in 1884 Wolfe Island would follow their ex-

WAS THE MAN DROWNED?

A Hat Found Floating in the Water at the Foot of Johnson Street. This morning an employee of the Shedden company found a brown hat floating in the water at the foot of Johnson street. It was marked with the name of "Dineen, corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto." Last night a Frenchman, a sailor, left the Anglo-American hotel, wearing such a hat. He was very drunk. He has not been seen about this morning, and it is presumed by some that he was drowned, staggering off the wharf at the fout of the street. He was about thirty five years of age. The bartender of the hotel and the Holder Bros. believe that the hat belonged to the Frenchman, who left the hotel about I o'clock. The police are investigating the case.

Those who can should help to-morrow to easily made and more of them are wanted. Help friends in the good work. See the laden, in attempting to make Charlotte get to work. You will have your reward.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Amendment Asked For. KINGSTON, Nov. 13 .- (To the Editor) Have we not some energetic aldermen who will have an amendment made to the market by-law, compelling the removal of the crops from fowls brought to the market. This fall many birds have been sold with the putrid matter in the crops. Let the bipeds be seized that are brought to the market in such a state. An authority says : "Not only does food in the crops injure the appearance but is liable to sour, and this sourness permeates the entire body of the bird." In New York poultry is looked after very closely. The law is as follows : "That no turkeys or chicken be offered for sale in the city unless the crops of such turkeys and chicken are free from tood and other substance and shrunk close to their bodies. That all fowls exposed for sale in violation of this ordinance shall be seized and condemned; such of them as shall be tainted shall upon examination be destroyed, and the rest which is fit for food shall be used in the public institutions of the Again, every person exposing for sale any chicken or turkey in contravention of this ally severe, seventy two killed and wound ordinanc shall be liable to a penalty of five | ed. The prisoners were brought to Kingston ed for sale."

Let a similar law be enforced here. Yours, CUSTOMER.

Wolfe Island Ploughing Match.

WOLFE ISLAND, Nov. 14. - (To the Editor): I, with a large number of others who witnessed the ploughing match, held on Wolfe Island, Oct. 17th, was dissatisfied with the way the judgment was given for several reasons, as the standard rule was to be a 6x9 inch furrow and not a 4x10, and if there was no favor or partiality shown there must be a lack of knowledge as to the rules of ploughing. However, I challenge any island ploughman to plough for a sum ranging from $10 to $50, to be won on any future date. I do not wish to stir up the feelings of any disinterested ploughman who did not compete, but am willing to give the winning party another chance. Yours, JOHN MCGLYNN.

Card From Mr. Burns.

KINGSTON, Nov. 14. - (To the Editor): desire to express to the citizens of Kingston my heartfelt thanks for all the kindness have received from them in my terrible bereavement. The clergy of all denominations have been very kind. I feel grateful to all those who have devoted so much of their time in trying to find the remains of my beloved ones. I am quite unable to express my gratitude as I would wish. Yours faithfully, ROBERT T. BURNS.

A CHAPTER IN HISTORY. CONFLICT AT THE WINDMILL

NOW MANY YEARS AGO: The Burning of the Steamer Peel - But One of the Party Identified With the Incident Alive, And He a Resident of Brockville-Ill-Treatment of Innocent

The Brockville Times has a two column account of the engagement at Windmill Point on Nov. 13th, 1838, when many Cana. dians were shot down. The patriots went down the river on two schooners, and were landed at the windmill at Prescott after several episodes. The steamers from King ston-the Cobourg and Victoria-went to the aid of the Canadians, but the insurgents could not be dislodged the cannon on the vessels being of too light a calibre. Seven steamers were sent to Kingston for stronger ordnance and it reached the point on the 16th. But it was not required as the inv. ders surrendered; the prisoners numbered 160. The loss to the British was exception where some were executed, some transport ed, and the majority afterwards discharged An incident of particular interest occur.

red on May 29th, 1838, it being the burnier J. of the steamer Sir Robert Buch She on her regular trip from Prescott to King ston, and had reached Wells' Island when she stopped to replenish her stock of fuel thicket and rushed upon the boat, yellim hideously meanwhile and brandishing ther arms. The attack being wholly unexpected the crew and passengers were made prison ers and marched from the boat. Many were ladies. The pirates having possession of the vessel commenced to search for plunder. After the search an attempt was made to get her into the channel, but becoming stranded on a shoal a torch was applied to her and she was burned to the water's edge Early the following morning the steame Oneida, of Kingston, arrived upon the some and the stranded passengers were converse to Kingston. It was afterwards ascertained that twenty two men were engaged in the affair and their secreted camp was on Abelli

Mr. McSwayne, whose widow resides in Brockville, and father of Mrs. John Ryan was pilot of the unfortunate boat. The pirates in searching the boat overlooked him. He was not awakened by the win and tumult, and not until the flames had nearly reached him did he become awared his peril. He was noticed to run through the flames to the bow where he leaped into the water with the cry "My God, cannot ] some one save me ?" A boat was sent to his rescue. He was severely barned about the head and shoulders.

With the lapse of fifty years all connect. ed with it either as attacking party, or a passengers and crew, have with one excep tion, departed this life. The one exception is Captain Gilpin, who resides in Brockville Though but a boy at the time of its occur rence the events of the midnight piratical attack are still fresh in his memory.

COULD NOT SEARCH TO-DAY. The Water Was Too Rough-No Definite

Point From Which to Work. Search for the bodies of the young Burns' had to be discontinued to-day because of the roughness of the water. A fresh breen blew from the south-west. The search was kept up all day yesterday, from ten tot dozen boats constantly moving up and down the harbour, drawing grapples. The search ers are handicapped by having no definite idea of where the accident occurred. Covering the whole harbour is a big undertaking John O'Shea, who has been directing the operations, believes that if it could be decid ed where the young men were capsized the finding of the bodies would not occupy much time. He is of the opinion that the young men must have been drowned near the Point Frederick shore, as he thinks the cloth caps worn by them would not float a very long distance. To morrow, if the day is fine, the search will be resumed, and it is desired that every boat-owner should turn out and aid in the search. The grief stricken parents suffer greatly from the anxiety incident to the non-recovery of the remains.
