"The day may yet come when Mr. George Brown and Sir John Macdonald will sit side by side in the same Cabinet together. Stranger things have happened ere this."

The very thing itself has happened They sat together in 'the cabinet of '67, but only for the purposes of confederation. When that was consummated there was an immediate dissolution of the uncongenial partnership. Such a political, emergency is very unlikely to recur, and a repetition of such a personal coalition la still more remote and improbable.

"New-Mown Hay." A day or two ago a family containing our ladies halted on Woodward avenue, near the Holden Road, and one of the females sniffed the air and cried out

"Ah 'how delicious is the scent of that new mown hay " "Ah 'ah 'ah !" the rest of them cried out as they elevated their noses. A man in his shirt sleeves was leaning over the fence, but they did not see him until he cried out "I hegs your pardon, ladios, but the days ago and died, and I didn't find the body till an hour ago. I've sent a team to haul it away, and I'm sorry about the smell. Drive along a little and you'll get in windward of the corpse !"- Free Press.
