RECIPROCITY AND ANNEXATION-

One important hindrance to the resumption of reciprocal trade between Canada and the United States has been removed from the discussion of the subect. When the late treaty was abro-ARRIVAL OF THE NEW TICKETS. gated there were many who believed that step was taken by our neighbours to impress us with our commercial dependment. Much as Canada might cling to British connection out of a filial venera tion for the Old Land and a colonia pride in its glorious traditions, it was nevertheless expected that when the question was reduced to the hard pan of self interest the Canadian people would at the length forego the pride and prestige of being regarded as the brightest gem in the British diadem rather than continue to deprive herself of free trade with the Republic. A sufficient lapse of time has dissipated the delusion, and has convinced all concerned that Reciprocity cannot be employed as a lever to wrench this country from the British Empire and pry it into the American Union. That this is so has been explicitly acknowledged in one of the resolutions recently adopted by a large majority at the National Board of Trade

Here, it will be seen, the prospect of annexation, near or remote, is eliminated from the discussion and ruled out of the question, as it should be. The question can now be discussed upon its merits, the only fair ground on which the subject should be debated. If reciprocity can be secured upon the sound basis of this clear and mutual understanding, it will be far more permanent and profitable than it could be obtained under the false pretence that Canada would some day in the distance surrender her British Birthright for a commercial mess of pottage. If, however, the policy of withholding reciprocity from Canada in order to exact the consent of this country to a change of national relations to which she was and is opposed, was a mistaken one, equally silly and short-sighted are those Canadian "Statesmen" who, for party purposes, affect to believe in retaliatory ef-

SBASON, BTC., ETC. Saratoga Springs, Aug. 31, 1877. The brightest part of Saratoga's season, like that of Newport's, seems to come along toward the last. Saratoga has not been so gay and brilliant before this summer, and her hotel piazzas are lionized with wealth and beauty. The most exquisite taste prevails in the matter of homes after their rambles and vacacions, believing that the measure of their happipresence lends an air of gaiety, an ap-
