When the lesson was over, and I rose to take my leave, the old man addressed me.

'Miss Ballendrant,' he said—it was the first time I have ever heard him either address or speak so to her—'has been trying to persuade me that I am growing childish, and that my hand has forgotten the instrument I have played since my childhood. I shall leave it to you whether she speaks the truth or not.'

As he spoke he took a violin from a case beside him, and arranging the strings glanced triumphantly towards his daughter, but she had buried her face in her hands, and was sobbing silently.

The moment he drew the bow across the strings I thought there was something amiss, and then, oh, powers of discord, the noise I had heard when I first stood upon the step—such hideous wailing and shrieks as filled the room. No one with the veriest knowledge of music could have touched those strings. Had an infant the necessary strength of arm and wrist he would have produced as much harmony.

Surprised and bewildered, I knew not how to act.

Unwilling for Camille's sake to sit and hear, and not wishing for the same reason to offend the old man by taking my leave, I knew not how to act.

Suddenly Camille started to her feet, her face flushed crimson and her eyes swollen with tears.

'Are you a gentleman?' she cried, hysterically, 'to sit there and see an old childish man make a fool of himself! Perhaps, though, it amuses you. If so, pray enjoy it!'

'Camille,' I pleaded, 'you are unjust!'

'Go!' she shrieked, wildly, and pointing to the door. 'Go!'

'You are unjust,' I said again; 'but believe me I pity you from the bottom of my heart. By and bye, when you can think, remember I am your friend 'till death.'

I walked miles that afternoon, but the house had fascination for me, and almost unconsciously I retraced my steps.

As I drew near I saw a crowd gathered around the door, and hurrying on, I asked one of the bystanders what was the matter.

'Matter enough. The old feller's dead, and the girl's half crazy, and keeps on crying out that she killed him.'

I found it was too true, the violin lay dashed to pieces on the floor, the old man was dead, and the daughter lay in a swoon with a doctor trying to restore her.

She gradually recovered consciousness, but only to break into fresh denunciations of herself as having killed him. At length, however, she wore herself completely out, and under the doctor's management sank into a deep slumber.

The Coroner gave the verdict that the old man had died from heart disease accelerated by unusual excitement. Then, giving the doctor a carte blanche, I saw that every thing that money could do was done before I left.

I called next morning early and found Camille sitting up in an easy chair, but weak and exhausted.

'I wish to see you,' she said, 'to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the kindness you have shown, but I am very poor, and never can repay you.'

I tried to stop her, but she would not hear me, and she told me the story, the bitter story of her life. How her father has been gradually losing his hearing until about three years before, when he had been attacked by some peculiar affection of the brain which completely puzzled the doctors, and when he had recovered his strength his musical powers were completely gone; how she had kept the knowledge from him, blaming herself, oh! so bitterly, for her loving deceit; how hard they had found it to live upon the pittance she could earn; of all her futile trials in endeavoring to get pupils. Then how yesterday, when concealment was no longer possible, she had let him know the truth; and dashing the violin to pieces, he had fallen in what she had thought a fit, but was in reality death.

It was a relief to her, yet God only knows the pain it cost her to tell me this; and as she recalled the final catastrophe, she clasped her hands, and through a rain of tears prayed silently for strength to endure.

I followed the body of the old man to its last resting place, and when the service was over and the minister had departed I left Camille by her father's grave and waited for her at the gate. In about an hour she rejoined me, a very picture of sorrow, pale but very calm.

We stood in silence for a moment or two, and then I ventured to ask her plans for the future.

'I have taken a little room,' she said, 'and, though I have very little money, I trust I can manage until I get a situation of some sort.'

'Miss Ballendrant,' I said, 'I have a situation for you if you will accept it.'

She turned her eyes to me inquiringly.

'A lady going abroad desires a companion. My recommendation will be sufficient. Do you think it would suit you?'

'Oh, I should be so thankful,' she said, 'if I thought I were competent to fill it. And the lady's name?'

'My mother.'

A rosy flush suffused her face, and she asked timidly:

'Are you going too?'

'I intend doing so, but do not let that be an objection.'

One sudden look of joy flashed into her eyes, and for a moment chased the sorrow from her face. Only for an instant; but it was enough for me to know—and I could wait patiently, trusting in the future.

A Case of Thirty Years' Standing.

East Aurora, N. Y., May 22, 1872.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons:

Gentlemen—I was troubled with dyspepsia for thirty years, and tried several medicines advertised for the cure of this distressing complaint without deriving any benefit from them. About a year ago I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and after using altogether twelve bottles I find myself entirely cured. I consider my case one of the worst I ever heard of, and I take great pleasure in recommending the PERUVIAN SYRUP to all dyspeptics, believing that it will be sure to cure them.

Yours respectfully, J. T. BOWER.

Sold by all druggists.

ELECTRICITY! THOMAS' ECLECTRIC ELECTRIC OIL.—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma and croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most sceptical: J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "Send me six dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful. Wm. McGuire, of Franklin, writes, "I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Eclectric Oil, I am nearly out, nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "Send me some more Eclectric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reid, Riverton, P.Q., writes, "The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. Thomas is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown on the bottle and TAKE NO OTHER. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for the Dominion.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized.

A CARD.

TO all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

☞ After war, pestilence and intemperance—colds lead to the greatest destruction of human life, mainly because it is considered by many to be of no consequence and hence systematically neglected, until a simple, curable disease is converted into a fatal pulmonary one. Every one troubled with what is called a slight cold or cough, should immediately use Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers—they allay irritation at once and exert a most beneficial influence on all the bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all medicine dealers at 25c per box.

Very Sensible.—Those dealers who are supposed to know what affects their own interests purchase Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy by the dozen, and feed it to their horses for the purpose of improving their condition, which it always does—others should profit by their example. Remember and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Sold by all medicine dealers.

BLOOD IS LIFE!

The Great Shoshonees Remedy.

An Indian vegetable compound, of the juices of a variety of most remarkable Medicinal plants and herbs, the various properties of which exert their healing influences on different ingredients systematically compounded, is so constituted as to act simultaneously upon the Blood, the Nervous System, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys and other parts of the body, restoring their functions to healthy action, in a manner heretofore unequalled, and being purely vegetable, is as harmless as nature's own beverage.

THE SHOSHONEES PILLS

Are manufactured with the strictest and most rigid scrutiny, care and exactness, from such of the very choicest and most refined Vegetable Regulating Laxatives, &c., as are perfectly compatible with every ingredient entering into the consumption of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and are the only Laxatives, compounded with the view of meeting in harmony the exigencies of the Remedy. These great Medicines are perfect invigorators and renovators of the system, and decidedly beneficial in all, and permanently cures a very large majority of diseases arising from impurities of the blood such as Scrofula in all and each of its varied forms, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Canker, Scald Head, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, Ulcers, old sores, disease of the liver and kidneys, dyspepsia, bronchitis, rheumatism, neuralgia, pains in the sides and shoulders, costiveness, headaches of all kinds, Female weakness, pains in the back, and above all for that "all gone" feeling so prevalent to those of sedentary habits and general languor and debility from whatever cause, either from undue exposure, over taxation of the bodily or mental powers, neglected colds, and even to the last stage of consumption itself. Price of the Remedy in large bottles $1; Pills 25c per box. Prepared by J. C CHAMBERLAIN, Conway. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, General Agents.

Opinions of the Press:

"PROF. EGAN has earned for himself a high public reputation and his testimonials of the highest character to his scientific abilities.—Whitby Chronicle.

The press of this Province speaks in the highest terms of his talents and capabilities. He is a practical man of no mean order in his treatment of nervous complaints, having devoted considerable time to their study, and acquired great experience from the number and variety of his patients.—Orangeville Sun.

Parties consulting Prof. Egan, of Toronto, will find him perfectly reliable and trustworthy in every particular.—Brockville Recorder.

We cordially recommend the afflicted to apply to him for relief, he is strictly honorable and confidential in his transactions.—Napanee Beaver.

He is a gentleman deserving of all confidence and thoroughly reliable.—Arnprior Review.

WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE

Declared by Connoisseurs

THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE

Caution against Fraud

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of Worcestershire Sauce to their own inferior compounds, the public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to ask for Lea and Perrins Sauce.

And to see that their names are upon the wrapper, label, stopper and bottle.

Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauces upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea & Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturer and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.

Ask for Lea & Perrins' sauce, and see name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle and Stopper.

Beware of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauces upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea & Perrins have been forged. L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant pro
