The charge of bigamy preferred against George Boston was tried at the London Court yesterday morning. It is questionable if the facts brought out leave him liable to an action for bigamy, but We have also on hand a very large Stock of they certainly stamp him as a very contemptible scoundrel. It seems that in June, 1875, he was married to Mary Wally, who, with her child, is now being taken care of at the Protestant Home. He has never done anything for her support, and on this account has been several times before the Police Magistrate, and in addition he has served a term in the Central Prison for stealing a fiddle from a youthful Italian strest musician. About a fortnight since he called at the residence of Rev. Mr. Gemley and asked for a copy of his marriage certificate, stating that it had been lost while moving from one house to another. This was furnished, and the prisoner gave it to Mary Ann Hutehins, an English wo man, stating that was all that was required by Canadian liw to constitute them man and wife. The woman did not suspect anything till she looke i at the certificate a day or two later, when she found that her name was not men tioned. She then instituted inquiries, which resulted in her discovery of the real state of affairs. The Magintrate did not see his way clear to committing the prisoner on the charge of bigamy, but he held him till Wednesday on the old case tions to Mr. Mackenochie, is firmly of neglecting his wife and family, when he will see what can be done.
