TUESDAY MORNING, JANY 10, 1865.

To an Agricultural Country like Canada, three successive bad harvests are a fearful misfortune... Iv has actually empoverished the Province. Two years were endured without much outery-perhaps the Thanksgiving Days of Mr. Sandfield Macdenald's Ministry humbugged the people into a belief, that the bad harvest was confined solely to each man's locality. The present Ministry did nowfall into this error, consequently nothing prevents the farmer in one vicinity from knowing that his distant fellow agriculturiet is as badly off as himself. Another bad harvest will utterly ruin the

There is nothing at Washington from which any contrary opinion can be predicated. But the Reciprocity Treaty, tho' annulled, there is every likelihood that another Treaty, less favorable to Canada, will be made in its stead. The Americans complain that their Lumber Trade is seriously injured by the stipulations of the present Treaty, and perhaps it is. They do not complain so much of the free trade grain. So it is not improbable, that in the new Treaty, very likely to be made, the Canada Lumber Trade with the United States may be hurt, and the price of grain not lowered. This will prove but a tem purary evil; for year by year the Canadian hoped that in a short time the Catholic Forests become thinner and thinner, and stitutions of this city would prove second to

It strikes us, that allowing the Americans the use of North American British seas never was palatable to the people of the Lower Provinces.
