To those suffering thus, it is gratifyfound a remedy that will restore them to capable boarding house keeper, may not was a confirmed sufferer, feeling but little hope of her recovery to health. Although not confined to bed she dragged on a wretched existence from day to day. Added to ser other sufferings was that terrible one; known to some in a mild form, but to few as to Mrs. Cargo-insomnia. This with her other troubles, headache, and a feeling of fatigue on slight exertion was rapidly breaking her down. Many other popular medicines were tried, but none reached the seat of the trouble and

Mrs. Cargo felt like giving up in despair. At last, however, she was induced to try a medicine that is exciting much favorable comment the world over-Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Mrs. Cargo admits that after the numerous disappoint-ments she had experienced she had but little faith left in any medicine, but be-fore taking the Pink Pills long she found her appetite, which had before been very poor, returning, and this gave her the first ray of hope she had had. Her husband began to notice the improvement in her condition and another supply of Pink Pills was procured, which were carefully and faithfully taken according to directions. The improvement was so marked that she continued the treatment from January until March, at the end of which time she had gained thirty seven pounds in weight, and was fully restored to health and has had no return of the

An impoverished condition of the blood, or a disordered state of the nerves is the mankind, and to any thus effected Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy and certain cure. No other remedy has ever met with such great and continued success, which is one of the strongest proofs that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills accomplish all that is claimed of them. They care locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis. St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, diseases depending upon vitiated blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, curing all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in al cases arising from mental worry, over work, or excesses of any nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark They are never sold in bulk, and any lealer who offers substitutes in this for should be avoided. These pills are manu actured by the Dr. Williams' Medicin Co., Brockville, Ont., and Schnecandy, N. Y., and may be had of all druggists, or cents or six boxes for $2.50.

INEXPENSIVE GREENHOUSE.

The accompanying illustration shows the plan for a greenhouse which is chear and gives a different temperature in vari ous parts of the house, yet is heated with only one fire. The front part is ten feet wide and twenty two feet long, and the rear part eight feet wide and twenty-two feet long. To build the house, dig in the ground two and a half feet, then set in onk posts eight feet long, sinking them three feet in the ground. This left the walls five feet high, except the south wall, which is only four feet high. This wall framework is oak scantling two by three boards one inch thick. Then earth is sauked up to the top of the wall, and soilded. The rafters on the south side are seven feet long; all the other rafters are

Glass Man. His name is C. W. McLean, of New Borne, N. C., and during the last few years he has obtained patents for a surprising number of devices in gians. Among these is a glass coffin, which is guaranteed proof against decay and rats. So long as in deliberate attempt to made are thousands of women, premisturely old to smash it, it ought to last forever. Another contrivance is a stair-see made wholly of glass-steps, landings and newel posts being all of that material. Yet atiother is a glass barcel. But perhaps the most remarkable invention of the Glass Man is a billiard table of gines.

They may be of epaqu ground glass, or of any color that may be aultable for deporative effect.

Thus before many years have passed will be considered the height of Juxury. perhaps, to occupy a dwelling of glass. Glass bricks, of course, are expensive. People who live in glass houses will be able to | mother sex." afford to wear clothes of glass. Nearly twenty years ago these was shown at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia a Best Policy bonnet composed entirely of glass. It was a love of a bonnet. The flowers on it were glass, and so were the ribbons, which looked like the finest satin. The patentee of this process describes it as suitable for the manufacture of neckties, shawls, table

In fabrics of this kind a very fine quality of glass is used. It is spun in threads of exceeding delicacy, and of these several colors may be produced at the same time. They are woven in a loom of ordinary pattern. Anybody may observe that a thin sheet of glass is somewhat clastic. The threads employed in weaving are of such fineness as to be perfectly pliable and not at all brittle. With a gown of glass would naturally go a pair of glass slippers. Not like Cinderella's. Oh, no! Cinderella did sheet of glass is somewhat elastic. 'The not wear glass slippers. Her slippers in the original French story were of "vair," which means fur. Vair and "verre," meaning glass, are pronounced exactly alike. Hence the corruption. A Pittsburg man named Smith has invented a process for making glass slippers in molds. They would not do very well for dancing. There is no reason why a glass gown should not be woven of iridescent glass, and its wearer would look like an animated rainbow on a ball-room floor -one dazzling shimmer of ever-changing

Until recently the manufacture of iridessent glass was set down in the list of the lost arts. But in 1878 it was rediscovered, and now it is a common commercial articie. It is made by exposing the melted glass to the vapors of salts of sodium. At the Metropolitan Museum of Art are exhibited great numbers of bottles, plates and other articles of glass which were made and used long before Christ was born. They were dug up in Cpyrus and elsewhere. Many of them have a beautiful iridescence, but it is the result of decay. Glass will rot like anything else, and decay has split the structure of this ancient glass into laminae or flakes which interrupt the light so as to produce brilliant red, green, purple and other rainbow col-

The window-blinds of the glass house That is another patent, and the inventor suggests that such blinds may be made of whatever colors are desired. Baby in the nursery perhaps will play with giass build-ing blocks, and at a suitable age he will receive a Christmas gift of a pair of roller skates with glass rollers. Both of these ideas have been patented. When he is old enough to go fishing he will not dig worms in the garden, but will be provided with artificial bait in the shape of a hollow minnow of glass, coated on the inside-partly with a solution of gold or silver and partly with a luminous paint. The originator of this minnow says that it is a brilliant object in the water and calculated to compel the attention of any fish that has a particle of appetite. Glass bedsteads may be proof against lightning and bugs, but it is hardly to be expected that glass houses should be free from mice The inmates could hardly do better than to employ glass traps for the capture of such vermin. The great advantage of the glass mouse-trap, according to the statement of the inventor, is that may be seen by others who chance to come that way, and they will be inclined to join the one inside, espec'ally when they observe that he is nibbling a choice mor-Up to date the glass mouse trap has not made itself popular, notwithstanding the important arguments in its favor, and of the most of the other devices described it is unfortunately true that they have not proven profitable to the persons who have contrived them This remark, however, by no means applies to the glass lemonsqueezer, which is already a familiar household utensil. The inventor of it is said to have sold his rights for $50,000.

STUB ENDS OF THOUGHT

All good men den't make good hus-The world contains many "tired women" who wouldn't rest if they had the A woman won's lie for her own sake nearly so easily as she will for the sake of somebody else.

Nobody is mistake-proof. Most sentiment is liable to mildew not carefully looked after. Cupid shoots his arrow through a pocket-book when he doesn't take airu. A woman can't be any more constant than a man, but she can keep it up much

Cupid is represented as a child, because an adult Cupid would be chased out of the country for reckless shooting. Education is an acquired habit. To reflect upon the actions of dertain men, one is almost led to believe that even rascals are degenerating. A scamp of the temperate sort thought to be the worst of the species; hypocrisy enters largely into his make-up.
