Rev. Dr. Strong, of New York, Addressing the Workingmen-When Society Loves Its Neighbor as Itself it Will be Save

At the workingmen's meeting, yesterday, Rev. Dr. Strong, of New York, was the speaker. J. M. Machar presided and introduced the visitor as a noble man, vocating the doctrines of Christ, and who has not yet bowed the knee to Baal. Dr. Strong said : I am a workingman, a sen of a workingman, and rejoice to know that my Master was a workingman. Is it not strange that workingmen should become estranged from the church, founded by workingmen, yet this is true. While hrist was on the earth, we are told, the pinmon people heard him gladly. Now church is resorting to all sorts of methods to get working people to come to it. One would think the only way to ac something wrong that they are absent from the church, which is the body of Christ, who was a workingman. I believe it is because the church has realized only a part of her mission. The Protestant church has recognized only its mission to the individual. The Catholic church is a little better in this respect. The church has not seen that it also said "Thou shalt love thy neighbor between man and God, but also that there are right relations between man Gumaer's singing alone is worth the price or if it did, it has forgotten it.
