A NEW PUMPING PLANT.

Rockwood Asylum Being Fitted up With an Electric Pump.

Quite an important improvement is being added to Rockwood asylum, in the shape of an electrical pumping apparatus, for the purpose of supplying water to the main building. A dynamo has been placed in the engine room of the main building, which, besides furnishing light to the institution, will be used to drive a motor that will in turn drive a force pump, situated at the recently sunk well near the skating rink on the grounds. The well is over 230 feet deep and contains water of the purest quality. It will be pumped up and forced into the large tank situated at the top of the main building, and there distributed throughout the institution in the usual manner.

A GOLD WATCH FOR A LADY.

THE REMEMBRANCE OF FRIENDS OF MISS MACDONNELL.

A Gift Accompanied by a Complimentary Address to Mark Esteem and Regard for the Late Superintendent of Nurses in the General Hospital.

An event of an unusually interesting character took place at the general hospital yesterday, inasmuch as it was the first of the kind that has occurred in the history of that institution. The occasion was a presentation to Miss Emily MacDonnell, the retiring superintendent of nurses, who after two years of service here, is now at her home in Montreal. [illegible] of the good-will and [illegible] of the ladies yesterday [illegible] graduate of the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, Md., and has, during her residence here, won a host of friends by the sincerity and earnestness of her work, her kind and genial disposition and wide sympathies. Not only was she a favorite with the patients of the institution, but everyone who in any way had occasion to meet with her won her friendship. It was not surprising, therefore, that the ladies and gentlemen connected with the work of the hospital and who came in almost daily contact with Miss Macdonnell should mark the occasion of her departure suitably, to show their appreciation of her efforts towards the advancement of the institution in which they were interested and to which she was attached. Advantage was taken of the eve of her departure to make her the recipient of their well wishes and with this end in view the ladies and gentlemen immediately connected with the institution assembled in the parlor there at 4.30 o'clock p.m. yesterday. There were present: Mrs. Lowis, Mrs. J. Mackie, Mrs. (Gen.) Cameron, Mrs. B. M. Britton, Mrs. [illegible] B. Walkem, Miss Strange, Miss Biddersleeve, Mrs. (Col.) Cotton, Mrs. (Major) Short, Mrs. (Dr.) [illegible] Mrs. J. McIntyre, Miss [illegible] Henderson, Mrs. R. Walker, Mrs. [illegible] M. Machar, Mrs. (Col.) Huffy, Lady Cartwright, Mrs. C. Cartwright, Mrs. Herkimer, Mrs. Strathy, Miss Strathy, Mrs. H. Skinner, Mrs. Stearns, Mrs. J. P. Gildersleeve, Mrs. (Dr.) Smythe, Mrs. Briggs, Miss McAuley, Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Norton Taylor, Miss Norton-Taylor, Mrs. Deacon Mrs. H. A. Calvin, Mrs. B. B. Smith, Miss Bell, Miss G. Allen, Mrs. (Dr.) Saunders, Mrs. R. Kent, Mrs. W. H. Macnee, Miss K. Moore, Mrs. Drury, Miss Drury, Mrs. Richmond, Dr. Garrett, Hon. Dr. Sullivan, Col. Duff, Rev. Dean Smith, B. M. Britton, Q.C., John McIntyre, Q.C., E. Chown, Principal Grant, W. Bruce Carruthers, Rev. W. B. Carey, Dr. Saunders and others.

Col. Duff presided and with a few appropriate words by way of introduction, read this address to the young lady who occasioned the gathering.

"Dear Miss MacDonnell,—This gathering of those who hope to be regarded as your very sincere friends, and as representing the feelings of many others in this good old city, extends on this eve of your departure the grateful acknowledgment of a heartfelt and absorbing interest in a work near to all hearts here, the care of the sick and distressed. To the general hospital, where a high standard of treatment requires intelligent supervision and incessant care, your services have been lovingly and unreservedly devoted to the best interests of those treated, and of the institution, inspiring others with generous impulses toward exertion and helpfulness. Visitors and patients alike, sensible of your kindnesses and sympathetic attentions, will join us in regretting your removal, and in extending good wishes for your comfort and prosperity in a new home, and especially in the pursuit of a noble and sacrificing profession. The accompanying souvenir will, we hope, daily remind you of friendships which time cannot dissolve, and which, not dimmed but sweetened by absence, it will be a happy privilege to renew."

The address was handsomely prepared in Album form, beautifully bound, and containing a running series of verses throughout its entirety, accompanied by sketches of groups of flowers, harmoniously blended. At the front of the book a view of the hospital buildings was presented. Seventy-five names were attached to the address.

At the conclusion of the reading of the address, Miss E. Macpherson handed Miss Macdonnell a handsomely chased solid gold watch, with chain and charm complete, saying she took pleasure in making the presentation, and considered it an honor to be the one chosen to present the gift. Miss Macdonnell was greatly affected by the kind words and beautiful gift and could not express her thanks. Principal Grant was appealed to and he spoke on behalf of Miss Macdonnell, thanking those who had contributed towards the event and emphasizing the fact that the best way to show appreciation of Miss Macdonnell's services would be to continue her interest in the hospital and by so doing make it an ideal place for the sick, the suffering and all classes who may make it their temporary home. E. Chown also addressed a few words to the retiring superintendent, saying that as a governor of twenty-five years standing he had never seen so large an attendance of ladies at the hospital. "It was due to the interest aroused by Miss MacDonnell and he hoped the interest would continue.

On the inside of the back of the watch these words are engraved: "Presented to Miss Emily MacDonnell in token of the warm appreciation of her Kingston friends. Dec. 3rd, 1895." Miss MacDonnell's place will be filled by Miss Helena McMillan, of Columbus, Ohio, a graduate of the Chicago training school.

THE EAGLE'S NEST.

Scenes From the Wild and Woolly West at the Opera House.

A medium sized house attended the performance of "Eagle's Nest," a western comedy drama, in Martin's opera house last evening. The play is one of the regular wild, western type, and long-haired cowboys, stage-drivers, sheriffs, villains and other characters that make up the population of a western village, were the actors. The audience enjoyed the thrilling situations, wonderful escapes, and gallant deeds that fell to the lot of the hero, "Jack Trail," (G. Heath) laughed heartily at the comicalities of the frayed lawyer, "Dibsey," (J. L. Clark) reproached the rascality of the heavy villain, "Robert Blasedon," (H. Bronridge) and sympathized with the heroine, "Rose Milford," (Ella Cameron) in her woes, and rejoiced in her final triumph.

The serpentine dance by "Dorothy Daffron" was a most exquisite exhibition of the poetry of motion, and carried the house by storm.

SERGT. WILLIAMS' SAD CASE.

His Friends May Bring it to The Notice of The Government.

Sergt. Williams, who some years ago was a resident of this city, and who served for a long period in "A" and "B" batteries, both in Kingston and Quebec, some little time ago received a stroke of paralysis, which affected the right side of his body, and rendered his right arm entirely useless. Having become, on that account, useless to the military department, he was discharged without compensation or pension for his long and faithful service. He is now a resident of Kingston and is unable to work to support his family. It is proposed to petition the government to grant him a pension, and steps will be taken shortly with that purpose in view. The case is one deserving of special notice and immediate action on the part of the authorities.

Two tramps asked for and were given shelter at the police station last night.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BOARD.

The Business Considered at Last Night's Meeting.

Last evening the monthly meeting of the board was held with Professor Dupuis, chairman; Messrs. Pense, McKay and Dr. Herald in attendance. A letter from the county clerk was read, stating that the claim for education of pupils on Wolfe Island could not be entertained, because in November last the whole county was made through by-law a school district, and the letter was referred to [illegible] and to the [illegible] ject. [illegible] was intimated [illegible] of the county council was [illegible] and if the solicitor reports, this to be the case an action will probably be at once entered against the county council for $600 claim for 1894 and a new claim will be presented for 1895.

The special committee upon fees reported in favor of placing a charge upon every pupil. Those resident in the city will be charged $5 a year or fifty cents per month for primary or commercial courses, with the exception of those who will pass from these classes in July, 1896, for teachers. When the subjects above these classes are taken, such as classics, modern languages and science, the charge will be $7 extra. To pupils from the county of Frontenac, except those who in the meaning of the act are county pupils, paid for by the county council, there will be a charge for the primary and commercial courses of $15 [illegible] the higher course $25. [illegible] pupils from other counties resident in the city during the [illegible] shall be considered [illegible] pupils. The term from Sept. [illegible] to the [illegible] of June. [illegible] will be [illegible] as three fifths. Several county pupils are pursuing a course for third class certificates, and the board has asked for a list of their names and will, in all probability, remit the fees in their case until July, 1896, to generously allow them to complete their course free as at present.

On applications of Messrs. Maclean and Lingwood, two of the teaching staff, $50 was added to each of their salaries. W. C. Ewing, one of several assistant masters, resigned. Fifteen applications were received for the position of English master, now temporarily held by Mr. MacColl, through the resignation of Miss Graham. Two of these applications were chosen as preferred names and referred, with the filling of Mr. Ewing's place, to the chairman, Dr Herald and the principal. A number of accounts were passed.

Money For A New School.

At Monday night's meeting of the city council a by-law was introduced to provide for submitting to the ratepayers, on Jan. 6th next, a by law to raise $20,000 for the erection of a new school house in the north-eastern part of the city.

Will Be a Big Class.

Last week 20,000 lbs. of milk was received at the dairy school, which will reopen on the 10th inst. Up to date the secretary has received just double the number of applications that were received last year, which gives promise of a large class.

A Case For Interference.

A citizen told a Whig reporter the story of a family in the north-eastern part of the city, which includes a bright little girl about eight or nine years of age, who is compelled by her parents to carry liquor to them from different hotels, on every day in the week. The children's aid society will look up the matter.

Saved Two Lads From Drowning.

On Friday afternoon last George Armstrong of Skinner & Co.,' wholesale drug store, rescued two boys from drowning, who had fallen into the water off Cataraqui bridge. He saw the accident and did not hesitate, but plunged into the ice water and safely landed the two lads, who assuredly would have been drowned. The act was a decidedly plucky one.

May Not Take It.

This morning an alderman said he was doubtful as to whether or not the Inglis firm would accept the tender for the pumping engine, as there was a clause in the contract which gave the council power to reject the engine if it did not fill to the very letter the terms of the contract, and this he claimed no firm could do for a certainty, which had not constructed such engines and was not conversant with the work.

Fined For Being Drunk.

Jacob Ryan was the only delinquent who appeared in the police court this morning. He is a sailor hailing from Toronto and his vessel having been tied up here for the season, he has been indulging in the flowing bowl too freely. He ran across P. C. Kennedy yesterday afternoon and was taken into custody. This morning he was fined $1 and costs, with the option of spending ten days in jail. The fine was paid.

Conference Of Sunday School Teachers.

The second conference of the Anglican Sunday school teachers of the city was held last evening in St. Paul's school room, rural dean Carey in the chair. After the opening devotions a paper was read by the Rev. T. Blacklock on "The Ideal Sunday School," followed by a discussion in which Dr. Smythe, G. E. Hague, Rev. J. K. McMorine and G. R. Beamish took part. After the singing of a hymn, R. V. Rogers' paper on "The Teacher Out of School," was read and was full of useful hints as to how the teacher could strengthen his influence over the pupils committed to his charge. It was decided that the next conference should be held in St. James' school house during February, and that for that meeting the St. James' Sunday school should furnish a "model class," and that the subject for a paper and discussion should be selected by the conference committee.

Clearing Sale of Mantles.

Just a word—a line or two,
To tell you of our mantles new;
The styles are all that heart could wish,
Large sleeves, full skirts and new broad stitch.
That prices ne'er were cut so fine
You'll see below in every line.

Very heavy beaver in the popular short, double-breasted garment only $5; a similar jacket in a better quality $7.35, and one made from still finer material $9.65. We have a few ulsters with deep capes attached, suitable for children's and misses' wear, worth from $7 to $8 each. While this sale is going on first comes can take their pick of the lot for $2.50 a piece. For ladies who are not wedded to big sleeves we have some really wonderful bargains. For instance, an elegant, serviceable and well finished jacket that sold last season for $12, we are offering now for $4, which is scarcely half the value of the cloth alone. Six dollar jackets we will sell for $2.50; $5 garments for $2, and so on. All through our entire stock we will offer these extraordinary inducements. We need scarcely add that at these unheard of prices all sales must be for spot cash. George Mills & Co., 170 Wellington street, (next door to Waldron's.) Telephone 238.

THE SPECIMENS ARE HIS.

How One Firm Took Advantage of the law to Get Another's Copyright.

Writing master Newlands was in New York recently conferring with the publishers of a copybook containing specimens of vertical writing prepared by himself. The meeting was for the purpose of taking action against another publisher infringing on their copyright. Since the infringement a new book was published and copyrighted, the specimens of writing being prepared by Mr. Newlands. This latter book is so far in advance of the old one in point of excellence that the sale of the old book has been completely removed. Owing, to the peculiarity of the existing copyright law in the United States the publisher who appropriated the copyrighted specimens cannot be held liable, as the law provides for the protection only of such books as are published in their entirety in the United States. In this case the matter was first set up in Canada, but the specimen plates were made in the United States.

MR. ALLEN'S ADDRESS.

Origin of Insurance and the Terms Applicable to Insurance.

The students of the Kingston business college and shorthand school assembled in the large class room of that institution yesterday afternoon to listen to the lecture announced to be delivered by ex-Ald. G. M. Allen, inspector of agencies of the Standard life assurance company. Mr. Allen has had large experience in insurance and is perhaps one of the best informed men on the subject in Ontario, and the students appreciate the efforts of principal McKay in securing so efficient a lecturer upon one of the foremost subjects occupying the attention of business men in this commercial age.

At three o'clock the lecturer entered the class room, and for fully one hour kept the undivided attention of the students. He remarked that marine insurance was the oldest form of insurance, being in use in the time of Livy. Introducing the subject of life insurance, the speaker pointedly expressed that the success of this kind of insurance is a mutuality which was as regular as the law of gravitation. He then explained fire, accident, plate glass and other kinds of insurance, and how a record of fires, accidents, etc., are kept to serve as a basis for the actuary in making out the table of rates. The terms, application, annuity, assets, bonus and dividend were particularly explained, as well as the plans of insurance as endowment, limited payment and annuity. Though the subject is a dry one, the students manifested the utmost interest when such terms as forfeiture, lapse, loading, premium, reserve and surplus were explained.

The lecturer in a very able manner discussed the three elements of a life insurance premium, [illegible] reserve, mortuary and [illegible] the origin of the ton[illegible] which was a very interesting and [illegible] lecture. At the close of the [illegible] of thanks, moved by Mr. Blanchard and seconded by Mr. Anglin, was tendered Mr. Allen for his able, interesting and beneficial talk. This lecture is the beginning of a series of lectures upon other commercial subjects to be delivered for the benefit of students attending the Kingston business college.

DRAMA AT ENTERPRISE.

A Former Kingston Boy Takes a Prominent Part.

Quite a number of Kingston people went out to Enterprise on Saturday last to attend the performance of "Truss," a western drama, by the Enterprise dramatic company in Cox's hall, of the village named. The company gave a really creditable performance, and the audience was a very large and appreciative one, and the entertainment from first to last was most successful and enjoyable throughout. The dramatic company made a very favorable impression and will draw large houses henceforth. Miss Mattie Quirk and Miss E. Clancy deserve special mention for the exceedingly clever manner in which they filled the parts allotted to them. Joseph Graham, an old Kingstonian, was musical director; Archibald Carscallen, manager, and M. S. Murphy, stage manager.

Off Trial in Watertown.

Carey, "the strong man," is under trial in Watertown for burglarizing the residence of Dr. Sargent, near Thousand Island park. He pleaded "not guilty," and W. V. Hubbard, under indictment for burglary, testified he sold the goods to Carey for $20. Other conflicting evidence was submitted. Mrs. Carey was in court. She said she was married to Carey in Kingston, in May last, by Rev. John Knox (?). Other women said she was an inmate of disorderly houses in Watertown.

Lizzie Smith, Kingston, an inmate of Carey's disorderly house boat, testified that she accompanied Carey and his wife and one Maggie Blakely, on their cruise among the islands. She swore that she agreed to give Carey one-half of the money she made by immoral purposes.

Death Of James Blake.

All old resident of the township of Pittsburg, and every sportsman after wild fowl and fish, will regret of the demise of James Blake, which occurred last Thursday at the Hotel Dieu, Kingston. As the rest of his own family being inhumed in Chicago, his remains were taken thither. As a genial citizen, as a more than keen sportsman, ank as one who either in camp or in his own house, could make life acceptable to friends, he had no equal. He ceased was seventy four years of age, but of such a solid build and cheerful nature he would always have been taken for at least twenty years less. His remaining brothers, Patrick and Thomas still survive as among the most esteemed members of Pittsburg township.

Death of a Stranger.

Last night Dr. Wood brought to the general hospital a man by the name of William Prowder, who, during the evening had been thrown from a rig near Kingston Mills and was taken up unconscious. Examination showed that he suffered from a fractured skull. He died about one o'clock this morning. The hospital authorities have been endeavoring to ascertain the man's friends but so far have failed, though they discovered from a citizen that he has a wife and child, but where is not yet known. Deceased was about forty years of age. He recently worked for the St. Lawrence hotel in this city.

THE PATRONS PREPARING.

WILL PUSH A HARD FIGHT FOR D. D. ROGERS.

They Had a Meeting on Saturday Last and Laid Out a Programme. The Lodges in the Riding Were Represented at [illegible] Speaking Up.

A meeting of the patrons of industry of Frontenac county was held in the Windsor hotel on Saturday afternoon last to prepare for the coming elections for the house of commons. There was a large attendance, nearly all of the [illegible] lodges in the county being represented, and among those present were county officers, the members of the executive committee, the president and secretary of the county lodges.

Vice-president Lindsay Hallster was in the chair, and explained to the delegates the object that had led to the calling of the meeting. The federal elections cannot be long delayed, and it behooved them to be up and doing and prepare for the struggle if they wished to win, which they all did. The business before the meeting was then taken up and an agent for the candidate, D. D. Rogers, was appointed, scrutineers were selected, campaign speakers named, election committees appointed, and other matters in connection with the coming election were attended to, the object of this early action being to "have everything ready for a red hot fight," as the president put it, and to relieve the candidate of as much of the work of the campaign as possible.

It has been reported that the meeting was called to disband, a number of the lodges, collect the charters and warrants and return them to the grand lodge, and to divide the money on hand, about $900. Nothing could be further from the truth, as the proceedings at the meeting, which was very enthusiastic, go to show. One delegate remarked that he wished he was as sure of heaven as Rogers is of election.

THE CHILDREN OF MARY.

Hold Their Second Annual Bazaar in the City Hall.

The second annual bazaar of the Children of Mary, which began yesterday in the city hall, has so far proved a most gratifying success. The arrangements are as nearly perfect as possible, the booths are unusually attractive and well supplied, the attendants are just the right persons in the right places, the attendance has been large and the receipts entirely satisfactory. The hall is beautifully decorated with plants, evergreens and flowering and the booths are fanciful in design and elegant in construction. Delmonico's restaurant is presided over by Miss Ronan, with Mrs. Ronan as chaperon. Misses Flanagan, Kelly and O'Connor assist. A gypsey camp on the stage is under the direction of Misses M. Hagerty, Tallon and Cunningham, and attracts its full share of attention. The post office, with Miss K. Corrigan as postmistress, and Misses Mooney and McDonald as assistants, receives quite a revenue. One citizen received a letter (scorched) from hades last night. The match box, where smokers' supplies can be obtained, is managed by Miss Halligan and Miss Devlin. The fancy table, managed by ex-pupils of Notre Dame convent, directed by Mrs. Ward and Miss Bermingham, does a rushing business; the refreshment table is presided over by Mesdames Phelan, McParland, Macarow, Phillpots, Jas. Swift, M. Welch, Drs. Phelan and Curtis, and Misses Sullivan, Devlin, Hickey and Macarow. Misses C. Flanagan and Bissonette have charge of the candy table; Misses Oliin, Tucker, Halligan, Sullivan and Carberry manage the "apron table," the Misses O'Connor and Mrs. McFaul, the surprise table, and Misses Murphy and Irving, the flower table.

A voting contest for the most popular mayoralty candidate is going on under the supervision of Misses Shaw, Oliver and Murphy, who pile up the votes for Ald. Elliott, and Misses Dougherty, Keating and Doyle, who look after Mayor Wright's interests.

The concert last night drew a very large crowd and was excellent in every way. The programme was carried out by the Misses Sullivan and Anderson, instrumental duet, Prof. Gault, legerdemain and magic, pupils of the convent in fancy drill, accompanied by Miss O'Grady, Miss K. O'Connor, song, Miss F. Keating, recitation; St. Cecelia's choir, chorus; Misses Sullivan and M. Hagerty, instrumental duet. Little Misses Mabel Sullivan, Minnie Daley and Crowley, under the direction of Mrs. Parker, went among the audience, prettily costumed, and brought in quite a revenue from their efforts as sales maids. Prominent among the most valuable articles in the bazaar was a beautiful steel engraving, "The Magdalen," presented by P. Healey of the Freeman.

A CITY RED-COAT COMPANY.

The Command Has Been Offered to Ald. Curtis.

Kingston will, in all probability, be able to boast of a company of "red coats." For some time past efforts have been made to accomplish this object and it now appears that the work has not been in vain. The new company will replace the Barriefield company of the 47th batt and will be designated "C" company, 47th Frontenac infantry. Capt. James Byrne, of the Barriefield company, is to retire and the command of the new city company has been offered to Ald. (Dr.) Curtis. The names of several prominent citizens have been mentioned in connection with the two junior commissions in the company and recruiting will be begun as soon as the necessary initiatory steps have been taken.

Successful Sale of Work.

The afternoon tea and sale of work in aid of All Saints church proved very successful, the guild of St. Monica adding nearly $40 to their funds as a result. Some pretty and useful articles, including several dolls, still remain and will be sold privately at 424 Princess street. A pleasant evening was spent by those who attended the social, all being much encouraged by the success of the undertaking.
