WHAT IS THE APPEAL? The Catholic Register, of Toronto, regards the discussion of Quebec matters in a new light as an appeal to Rome touching the constitutionality of the Manitoba school question. "The conservatives took it for granted," it remarks, "that the imperial privy council was the court of last appeal " " The present appeal to Rome andeclaration that in such a case as this the imperial privy council is not the court of last resort." This is an extraordinary deduction, and one which the facts do not justify. The school question, and the judgment of the privy council thereon, are only incidents of the appeal to Rome.
