THE ODDFELLOWS' AT HOME.

THE BUILDING THRONGED ALL THE EVENING.

It Was the Twenty-Seventh Anniversary of the Formation of the Lodge—Grand Master White Was in Attendance and Made a Happy Speech.

Members of Kingston lodge, No. 59, I.O.O.F., evidently believe that if anything is worth doing it is worth doing well, at least that is the impression the success of last evening's function had on the minds of all who were so fortunate to attend. The spacious hall would not contain all who sought admittance, and throughout the evening the ante-rooms were filled with the over plus, although extra seats were introduced into every available space in the hall. Arrangements for the success of the affair were as complete as it was possible to make them. As the guests arrived they were met by an attentive reception committee and shown to the dressing rooms, the two smaller adjoining lodge rooms being used for the purpose. Thence they were escorted to seats in the main hall.

The occasion marked the twenty-seventh anniversary of the formation of Kingston lodge and at the same time the seventy-eighth anniversary of the founding of the order was commemorated. Shortly after eight o'clock R. J. Wilson, noble grand of Kingston lodge, opened proceedings by announcing the purpose of the gathering. The members took advantage of the anniversary of the lodge to be "At Home" to their families and friends. The lodge was organized on April 14th, 1870. The charter members were S. A. Khone, S. Oberndorffer, R. D. Patterson, G. S. Lee and B. J. Fages. George Lee and Dr. Fife Fowler were initiated members on the night of the installation and have since been active members. S. Oberndorffer is now connected with Cataraqui lodge. Since the formation of the lodge 650 candidates have been initiated and become members. The present membership numbers 310. Dues, fees, etc., collected within the past twenty-seven years amounted to $38,387.87. The lodge has paid to widows and orphans $4,244.35, and distributed in sick benefits $6,470. The amount granted for the relief of distressed brethren, etc., amounted to $3,868.75, making a total of $14,583.10. Insurance can be obtained in the relief branch of the order from $500 to $2,000. This branch has a reserve fund of over $100,000, while $26,500 has been paid to families of deceased members.

Grand master Henry White, Port Hope, gave an interesting address, claiming to be, in a sense, a citizen of Kingston, inasmuch as he was a member of Louise lodge, Daughters of Rebekkah. At the next meeting of the lodge he asked those present, who were members, to say to the others, "Just tell them that you saw me, and they will know the rest." Time would not permit, he said, to tell of the possibilities of Oddfellowship. He considered the order the finest in the world. It is a fraternal society and the members will stand together for weal or woe. Its principles teach the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. Such being the case, it follows of necessity that relief is a factor in its workings.

The order did not have bright surroundings at its birth, but those who founded it built better than they thought. From a membership of five at the birth of the order at Baltimore in 1819, Oddfellowship has branched out until now there is over one million members in America and it stands foremost of all fraternal societies in the world. In this province there are 23,000 members, and no jurisdiction stands higher in the estimation of the sovereign grand lodge than Ontario. The speaker said some would not claim, perhaps, that the Oddfellows was a better order than any other, but he would claim that while it possessed the advantages of all the other societies it did not have their disadvantages. "Oddfellowship has a grander and loftier motive than the national societies. Its principles inculcate, not a reverence for any foreign land, or country, left behind in seeking fortunes, but loyalty to Canada, the land in which we live, and that means if we are not loyal to the land in which we earn our bread and butter we are not fit to be Oddfellows. The secrecy of Oddfellowship is only incidental to the fulfilment of its fundamental principles. The speaker characterized the relief branch of the order as the finest mutual insurance society in Canada. He pointed out the antagonism shown the order by the churches in its youth, until the churches found out the order was doing a work which they aimed at but could not accomplish. All churches, save one branch, recognized Oddfellowship. A pronounced movement is on foot, he said, to establish an orphanage second to none in existence.

A. H. Blackaby gave a short address, pointing out the fraternal features of the order.

A splendid concert was rendered, of which criticism is unnecessary, as the ability to please of those who contributed is already well established. The programme consisted of: Instrumental duet, Mrs. Herbison and Miss Dunbar; solo, "Beneath the Apple Tree," Miss A. Bassam; recitation, "Mottoes and Morals," Miss Oberndorffer; solo, "Al Ballo," Mrs. Callfas; solo, "He Sleeps at Rest," W. A. Lavell; solo, W. Bassam; recitation, Mr. Tudhope.

At the conclusion of the concert refreshments were served by the Daughters of Rebekkah. These were of a character to dispel the whims and fancies of the most exacting epicure. After all had paid lengthy attention to this portion of the evening's entertainment, dancing was in order and this was continued until a reasonable hour. The "At Home" may be counted among the successful social functions of the season.

In Scribner's For May.

No series of articles that Scribner's has published has attracted more comment from successful men than that on "The Conduct of Great Businesses." The fourth in the series (May issue) on "The Working of a Bank," by Charles D. Lanier, is one of the most effective, because the subject is so little known, even by business men. Great financiers have furnished the author with valuable information. The pictures are from famous New York bank buildings.

In Mr. Howell's "Story of a Play," in Scribner's, the experiment of "trying it on a dog," is described with rare humor.

C. D. Gibson is the only American artist who ever sketched a drawing-room of the queen from life. His article and pictures appear in the May Scribner's.

The amateur champion of golf in America, H. J. Whigham, has written an instructive article for the May Scribner's.

To Regain Health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Skinner, Earl street, left to-day for New Jersey. Mr. Skinner is not in the best of health and will sojourn on the Jersey coast for a couple of months to recuperate.

Miss Statten, 600 Yonge street, Toronto, says: "I have used one box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills and feel great benefit from them in every respect." Sold by E. C. Mitchell.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

What Is Transpiring in the Sporting Arena of This Busy City.

The Frontenac hockey club will be photographed in a group to-morrow morning by a Princess street photographer.

George Gates will represent the Frontenac bicycle club on the track this summer. He is a well-trained athlete and ought to lead some of the fast ones over the tape.

The ladies' hockey club of Gananoque has sent out invitations to an "At Home" in Turner's hall, Gananoque, on the 22nd inst. A number of young people here have been favored with invitations.

Dr. J. M. Forster is the Rockwood bicycle club's representative in the C. W. A. convention. He controls twenty-two votes and is instructed to support F. J. Hoag for chief consul for the Quinte district and Chatham for the annual meet.

A friendly game of baseball was played at Cataraqui on Saturday afternoon between the villagers and a team from Williamsville. After nine innings of exciting play the score stood: Cataraqui, 28; Williamsville, 9. A return match is being arranged.

E. Lyons and F. J. Hoag, president and vice-president of the Kingston bicycle club, will leave for Toronto to-night to represent the local organization at the annual meeting of the C. W. A. Dr. Herald goes up as representative of the club on the executive committee. R. J. Wilson will also be in attendance.

The bicycle baggage bill is about as important an item as will come up for discussion at the C.W.A. convention in Toronto to-morrow. The bill amends section 250 of the railway act, which is the section concerning the checking of baggage, so as to provide that bicycles shall be carried as baggage subject to the same charges and liabilities as other baggage. Petitions are being circulated through the city for signature, and when filled these, with others circulating in other places, will be presented to parliament.

THE CHICAGO MARINE BAND.

Played to a Small But Delighted Audience Last Night.

The famous marine band of Chicago, which has been engaged by T. J. Power, of Belleville, to give eighteen concerts in Canada, appeared in Martin's opera house last evening before a somewhat small audience. It is seldom that a better musical organization is heard in this city, and those who heard conductor Brooke's musicians last evening will not soon forget the treat. The majority of the selections were popular in character and were rendered with a spirit that carried the audience along with the swing of the music. Wagner's "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin, was undoubtedly the finest selection of the evening. "The Bird Shop," a fine descriptive piece, was rendered in a manner that cannot be excelled.

Every number was vigorously encored and each encore was generously responded to. Among the extra pieces given was "The Maple Leaf," which called forth the wild enthusiasm of the audience.

Miss Sybie Sammis, vocalist, was billed for one appearance, but so well did her selection please the house that she was recalled.

Mr. Brooke's conducting was a marvel of ease and ability, and number after number was played with hardly a moment's intermission.

The reeds in the band are particularly good and effective and were heard to specially good advantages in several selections.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Activity Along The Wharves By Those Who Own Vessels.

The Welland canal is expected to open on Monday next, nearly a week in advance of last season.

The sloop Maggie L. arrived from Glenora last evening with 1,000 bushels of buckwheat for Richardson & Sons.

The Kingston & Montreal forwarding company, Portsmouth, launched from winter quarters on Tuesday the elevators Sparrow and Sampson. Yesterday the barge Beauport was launched, and to-day the barge Siren will be placed in readiness for the season's work.

The steamer Hero cleared from Swift's wharf at three o'clock yesterday afternoon for Picton, on her first trip of this season. She carried quite a large cargo of freight, and her passenger list was fairly large for the opening trip. She reached Kingston at eleven this morning, and will start again for Picton at three—half an hour earlier than last year. Capt. Bloomfield is still in charge of the vessel.

Deserving Young Kingstonians.

Pluck, perseverance, energy and enterprise are absolutely necessary to succeed in business, and one Kingstonian firm that has amply demonstrated its possession of these qualities is that of Nash Bros., news agents and stationers. The success they have attained has been paid for with steady, shrewd devotion to business, upright methods, and promptness in meeting all engagements.

To their already comparatively extensive business they have, within the past few days, added the news and confectionary trade on the steamers of the "White Squadron." Messrs. Nash have had experience in this business with every detail of which they are thoroughly acquainted. They have engaged a staff of thoroughly competent assistants, and the patrons of the vessels composing the famed "White Squadron" may rely upon the best of treatment and an ability to meet all their wants.

Fire Brigade For Portsmouth.

The residents of the village of Portsmouth are negotiating with the village council to secure fire protection for the municipality. It is hoped that a fire department will be organized, and if the hope be fulfilled Thomas Smith will, it is thought, be appointed chief, with full charge of the department. It is expected also, that the services of E. Culcheth's and A. Cameron's horses can be secured when required. The villagers are in earnest in the matter, and the movement has the full support and approval of nine-tenths of the voters.

Service On Holy Thursday.

High mass was celebrated in St. Mary's cathedral this morning by Rev. Fr. Kehoe assisted by Rev. Fr. Carey. After the mass a procession took place. Owing to the absence of his grace the archbishop the usual ceremony of the blessing of the oils did not take place.

Received An Increase.

Dr. J. Webster, junior physician at Rockwood hospital for the insane, looks pleasant these days under the stimulating influence of an increase in salary of $100, brought down in the recent supplementary estimates in the Ontario legislature.

Mrs. Fitch, 143 Terauley street, says: "To E. Miller & Co., Dresden, Ont." "I have much pleasure in recommending your Compound Iron Pills. I was suffering from neuralgia and soon got relief from their use. I would gladly recommend them to all who suffer from the same complaint." Sold by E. C. Mitchell.

The 400

Have already found out that our confectionery and fruits are the best that money can buy. We have a special lot for Easter. J. Hiscock.

A High Class Compliment.

The March Review of Reviews says: "I really must congratulate our Canadian contemporary, The Canadian Magazine, upon the rapid stride it has taken to the leading position in the magazine world. Altogether it is one of those which have made most progress of late years." The April number of the magazine warrants this encomium. Can a good literary journal come out of Canada? Certainly!

Your Wants Supplied.

You want a new parasol for Easter. We have the newest, neatest, nobbiest ones you ever saw, from $1 and upwards. We carry the best kid gloves only, every pair warranted. The cheapest way to get a suit of clothes is to buy the cloth and have it made up. We have a splendid assortment of fine tweeds and serges and will guarantee you a saving of $5 per suit. Come to R. McFaul's, opposite City hotel.

A Magnificent Display.

The window of O. G. Johnson's store on Brock street was a source of attraction to all passers-by yesterday and to day. The display of flowers and plants is unusually fine, and the arrangement is artistic and decidedly unique. Among the plants and shrubs displayed are bogan valia sanderinera glauba, Bermuda lilies, New Zealand pine, "silk oak," Indian and English azaleas, palms, maiden-hair ferns, etc.

Won By The Association.

The judgment in the case of the Thousand Island Park association, respondent, against Helen M. Gridley, Syracuse, appellant, was affirmed with costs. Mrs. Gridley owns a lot on the park adjoining the lot of Mr. Holden, the coal magnate. She attempted to build a dock extending beyond Mr. Holden's, and the park association brought suit for a permanent injunction, which has been won in both courts.

Trade In Telegraph Poles.

There is reason to fear that the twenty per cent. duty imposed on telegraph poles by the new Dingley tariff will deprive the people of this district, and of the whole north country of a very lucrative industry. H. D. McCaffrey & Co., Oswego, N.Y., have for years purchased large quantities of poles in Addington, Peterboro, Hastings, Haliburton and Parry Sound districts, to fill his American contracts, and the number exported has ranged from 50,000 to as high as 80,000 yearly, at an average cost of $3 each. The duty will be prohibitive.

Great Medical Convention.

The convention of the music teachers' national association in New York, June 24th to 28th, will be the greatest convention of professional musicians ever held. At least 15,000 will attend, coming from all parts of America and Europe. Among the attractions are recitals by the members of the American guild of organists; two orchestral concerts in which the Metropolitan orchestra will take part; singing, by the Arion society, of Brooklyn; a lecture recital, by Mrs. Regina Watson; prize compositions, chamber concerts, piano and song recitals, the "Messiah," by a chorus of 1,000 voices under Frank Damrosh. The Metropolitan permanent orchestra (Seid's) under Arthur Classen, has been secured, as also John Philip Sousa and his magnificent band.

Will Get Their Money Back.

Local members of the Select Knights' endowment branch, which recently went into voluntary liquidation, have received notices from B. J. Leubsdorf, supreme recorder, stating the amount of money which the member has been credited with, and which amount he is to receive back with interest, providing there are sufficient funds.

A special meeting of the supreme legion was held at St. Catharines about a month ago, when expressions of opinion from all the branches of the endowment scheme were considered. These were adverse to a continuance of the endowment, which went into liquidation. Locally there are about a dozen members, representing about $800. It is expected all the money paid in will be refunded at a fair rate of compound interest. The endowment system was in force nine years.

Interest For Sixty Years.

An octogenarian lake captain, who years ago retired from "active service" tells of an incident that occurred during the early portion of his career on blue water, and that had its ending only a few days ago.

Sixty years ago the captain was "paying off" a number of the members of his crew at the close of the season of navigation. After the transaction was completed, and when he counted the money that remained he found that he had paid out thirty cents too much. He thought nothing of the matter, however, the amount being too small to occasion him any regret, and the affair passed from his recollection in a few days. Recently he was surprised at receiving a letter from one of those paid off on the occasion referred to, which letter contained a statement to the effect that the writer had received thirty cents more than he was entitled to, and he enclosed $5, being that amount with accumulated interest for the sixty years that have elapsed since the over-payment was made.

"Pleasure To Show Goods."

"'Tis better to look and not to buy than never to look at all." The only way we can prove that our Wall Paper is good value for price charged is to have you see it

That's why we say, "No trouble to show goods." Not much use mentioning prices here. It is only when you SEE the goods that you realize the cheapness of them.
