The Minister's Visit.

The visit of the minister of education to the collegiate institute and Frontenac school has occasioned not a little comment and discussion. It was an informal action. He had finished a drive about town and to the military college about noon, and then Hon. William Harty suggested a school visit after lunch. Mr. Ross at once accepted the invitation. Mr. Pense, whose tice. Hambly's Hardware House guests they were for the drive, then telekindly escort Hon. Mesars. Ross and Harty to the rchools, and he at once promised with pleasure. He was told he would be telephoned where to meet the | vided. party. Mr. Pense after arranging with Mr. Ross, found the telephone occupied and then several matters of public and personal business pressed upon him, and he had also an engagement which called him to the other end of the city. The second belephone message was torgotten until too late to overtake the party, whoseinspection was hurried as the afternoon train had to be reached in time for Mr. Ross' return to Toronto. There was no intention or desire to slight the school boar', for at half-past two o'cloc't end aver was made to reach Mr. Meek by messages. While Mr. Pense feels that he usually discharges no small share of public business with carefulness, he regrets very much the mishap on this occasion. The blame rests entirely with him.
