THE 4 P. M. EDITION.

THE MAKING OF CANADA.

Synopsis of a Lecture Delivered by Principal Grant.

Principal Grant delivered a lecture on "The Making of Canada," in St. Thomas, on Tuesday evening.

The speaker said that the subject he referred to those human influences in contrast to the divine that had operated in the nation's past history to bring about its present condition.

As with the individual, so with the nation does everything depend on personal effort.

The making of a nation is a difficult and slow matter.

Canadians have a country, but they take too little interest in its future.

Little interest in its future, fighting for party rather than for country.

This may be because Canadians have had to do no heroic deeds for their country in our time.

But Canada has had her heroic epochs. Five great epochs were referred to in Canada's internal affairs.

The last of which, the lecturer said, was the assertion of our absolute fiscal and commercial freedom in maximum and minimum duties.

of 1897, when we declared our right to be treated as well as the rest of the world.

The principal considered the Quebec Act a wise act in allowing the French people to develop along lines that made for contentment and that has been proved by the loyalty and patriotism of the French-Canadians.

A sketch was then given of Canada's external relations.

The principal expressed his personal satisfaction that our own government had met the Dingley bill in another direction.

There is only one alternative before Canada—either to remain as she is, or to have relations with Great Britain and Canada, he said, are determined at all hazards to be loyal both to Canada and Britain.

We have a constitution superior to that of Great Britain in division of labor through our local legislatures, and also superior to that of the United States, in that it has evolved instead of being struck off at a blow.

The constitution of Canada has grown during the last 125 years, while that of the United States remains unchanged.

It is superior also in its educative influence in making every question a question for the people, and in giving all matters not mentioned as within the jurisdiction of the provinces to the federal authority.

while the United States does the opposite. On us devolves the necessity of carrying it on.

Every advance made has been along British lines, and we are not to bring dishonor on the graves of our fathers.

The flag of Britain has become the emblem of equal rights, of law, and of justice to all people.

The British empire is the greatest secular influence for good that the world has seen, and it behooves us to make our country the home of freedom, justice and peace.

A MARINE SUIT.

An Accident of Years Ago Recalled—An Interesting Case.

Evidence was heard to-day in an interesting local marine suit.

Interested parties are being examined before J. L. Whiting, county crown attorney, by Charles Kremer, Chicago, and H. Goulder, Cleveland, two of the cleverest marine lawyers in America.

who are acting in behalf of certain insurance companies, mulcted some years ago of a large sum of money and now seeking redress in trying to lay the blame on the owners of the steamer causing the damage for which the insurance companies had to pay.

In 1893, while the steamer Arabian was locking through the Welland canal she collided with a gate while in lock No. 4.

The rush of water caused damage to the schooner Minnedosa in lock No. 3, bound down with wheat.

The owners of the Arabian paid for the damage occasioned to the canal, but the insurance companies "ponied up" for the damage to the Minnedosa and her cargo.

Now the insurance companies are seeking to recover from the owners of the Arabian the amount paid over to the M. T. Co. for the damage done to the Minnedosa, claiming negligence on the part of the crew of the Arabian and thereby causing the damage to the Minnedosa.

Capt. Geoghegan, in command of the schooner at the time, and Capt. William and Thomas Taylor were examined this morning, as was also W. Power.

At one o'clock an adjournment took place, and at 2:30 o'clock the examination was resumed.

The outcome of the suit will be awaited with interest, as the result will be of interest to all mariners on the inland seas.

Initiating the Measures.

The printing committee of the general committee appointed to take steps to institute a branch of the Victorian order of nurses in this city met last evening.

There were present Mrs. H. Fraser, Miss Henderson, Miss Macfar and alderman C. W. Wright.

On account of the very slim attendance it was decided to take no important action, and the only item of business transacted was to decide upon the style of books to be used by those appointed to take contributions to the fund.

It was agreed that the local newspapers be requested to re-publish all articles referring to the order and to matters in connection therewith.

He is Resting Easy.

A telephone message from the general hospital this afternoon conveyed the intelligence that the man Bertrand, stricken with hemorrhage of the lungs at the corner of King and Clarence streets this morning, was resting easy but very weak from loss of blood.

The cause of the crisis from which fluid had almost ceased, and indications were that he would recover if another hemorrhage did not ensue.

The man gave as his occupation that of clothing cutter, and said his home was in St. Albans, Vt. He was bound for Toronto when taken ill.

Laid To His Long Rest.

The remains of the late W. J. Byrne were conveyed to their last resting place in St. Mary's cemetery this forenoon.

A solemn requiem mass and the libera were sung in St. Mary's cathedral by Rev. Father O'Brien, after which the funeral procession moved to the cemetery.

The pall bearers were: P. J. Howland, W. Flanagan, D. Brannigan, Joseph Dwyer, Joseph Steacy and A. Oberdorfer.

The funeral procession was a very large one.

Finest For Non-Entry.

This morning a number of young men, who are the happy possessors of ice yachts, were called to the custom house in regard to their apparatus on their yachts, which had found its way into the country from the United States without having gone through the books at the custom house.

It is announced (though the officials declined to say a word, being sworn to secrecy), that the owners were each fined $50 for their negligence.

A BIG BLAZE IN NEW YORK.

A GOLD STORAGE WAREHOUSE WAS GUTTED.

The Loss is Estimated at Over $500,000—Thirty Firemen Were Overcome by Smoke and Taken Out of the Burning Building Unconscious One Was Dead.

New York, May 7.—The large gold storage warehouse of the Merchants' refrigerating company, occupying the upper floors of the five-story brick and stone building in Chambers street and running through to Reade street, was almost completely gutted by a fire last night.

The loss will probably amount to more than $500,000.

Three alarms called sixteen engines to the scene. Thirty or more firemen entered the basement where the fire started and were overcome by smoke.

Fireman John Rheinhardt missed his way in leaving the cellar and was finally taken out unconscious. He died in an ambulance on the way to Hudson street hospital.

He was taken from the cellar by firemen John J. Murphy and John O'Connell. They rescued Rheinhardt and had to be taken to the hospital.

The other firemen who entered the basement were carried out by a rescuing party of policemen, citizens and firemen, who took the unconscious men across the street to a fire engine house, which was formerly old Chambers street hospital.

The horses quartered there were turned out and a hospital man of the place again.

The fire spread rapidly through the building, the floors fell in and the flames burst through the roof.

It is said that there were 150,000 cases of eggs, containing thirty dozen each, valued at about $3 a case, in the cold storage warehouse. These will probably be a total loss.

The building on Reade street was occupied by butter, eggs and cheese commission merchants, among them being L. C. Miller & Son, N. C. Howard & Co., Charles E. Foster, N. S. Young & Co., Fred Bishop and Samuel Balcon.

These parties will suffer a heavy damage from water.

EDHEM PASHA'S DESPATCH.

What He Had to Tell of the Recent Engagements.

LONDON, May 7.—A despatch from Constantinople says that Edhem Pasha, in a despatch dated Thursday morning, reports: "The imperial army while marching to Pharsalos met the enemy in the villages of Soubathi, Soudaji, Turconiani and Lamia. After a severe engagement, lasting fifteen hours, we dislodged them from their positions and advanced to Pharsalos, which the imperial army has just victoriously occupied."

Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, whose schooner was detained by the Greek fleet on the assumption that papers found on board of her, after the interviews with the Turks, were of a compromising character, arrived at Athens last night.

He was met at Piræus by M. Ralli, the premier, who conducted him to the British legation and requested Mr. Egerton, the British minister, not to allow him to leave the legation before quitting Athens in order to prevent a demonstration.

It has been decided to send Col. Vasos to Thessaly, and Col. Stratos, with a new general staff, will replace Col. Manos in Epirus. Major Constantines will be sent to Demokos.

Two transport vessels have been sent to Volo to remove the few remaining inhabitants.

It is rumored at Athens that the few wounded Greek soldiers who were left at Pharsalos have been butchered by the Turks.

In an interview, Grumbkoff Pasha, the German officer who re-organized the Turkish artillery and who entered Larissa at the head of the Turkish troops, dwells upon the splendid conduct of the Turks and says the capture of Larissa did not cost them a single man.

He adds that the works constructed by the Greek engineers of Larissa were deserving of all praise, and he fails to understand why they were abandoned.

The Turkish army in the field, he further remarks, is one of the finest Turkey ever possessed, and he says no praise is too great for both soldiers and officers.

Grumbkoff Pasha gives many instances of the self-sacrifice and enthusiasm animating the Turkish troops. In regard to the Greek forces, the German officer asserts that both officers and men were seized with panic, and that great numbers of Greeks in the face of the enemy stripped themselves of their uniforms.

It is hoped that the danger is past and we may look calmly on the larger interests involved. It may be that Turkey has exhibited proofs of strength which few suspected, and perhaps a better future is open to the dominion of the sultan.

Their government may improve, or maybe the empire will collapse as many believe.

Either case would be justified in believing that all changes will be conducted under the sanction of peaceful deliberations.

A panic prevails at Lamia, on the Gulf of Lamia, which is now the base of supplies for the Greek forces at Demokos. Many of the inhabitants are fleeing from the place fearing it will be attacked by the Turks. Three vessels brought refugees from Lamia to the Piræus yesterday.

Rewards For Bravery.

The Royal Canadian humane society has awarded the following bronze medals: Daniel Sitelakshy, a young Indian of Wah Nittan, Vancouver, for rescuing the captain and crew of ten men; Douglas Lyon, Ottawa, saved two lads from drowning in the Rideau canal; Louis Winesgander, Brantford, saved a lad who broke through the ice in the canal at Brantford.

Parchments were awarded to A. J. Wright, Chatham; George F. Watts, Collingwood; Harry Hamilton, Guelph; Mrs. Glasgow and Theodore Smith, Chippewa.

Swallowed a Live Lizard.

Hudson, May 7.—Fritz Christman, a farmer sixty years of age, residing at Harleville, Columbia county, swallowed a small lizard while drinking at a spring two years ago.

All efforts to dislodge it proved fruitless. He died on Monday. It was found by an autopsy that in the two years the lizard had grown to the length of ten inches.
