To Have A Big Meet. The Canadian road club, of Toronto, has written to the Kingston bicycle club to the effect that if the Toronto civic holiday is arranged for the same day as the Kingston event, August 7th, the club, 250 strong, would wheel down here, arriving early Sunday morning. From here the members every Saturday at Carnovsky's. would charter a steamer and make a tour through the Thousand Islands on Sunday With detachable Collars and afternoon. The Kingston club will be asked to arrange details for a twenty mile road road race to take place on Monday morning, good prizes being offered. The visiting wheelmen would also take part in the club races in the afternoon. In connection with the trip an excursion would be run down from Toronto.

As the Kingston bicycle club comtemplates holding a mammoth meet on the civic holiday, the members take quite kindly to the suggestion made by the Toronto road club. A meeting of the local club will be held next week, when committees will be named to arrange for the meet and to perfect matters in connection with the reception and entertainment of the Torontonians.

WOMAN WHIST PLAYERS.

Held a National Congress at Philadelphia

Without Once Asking "What's Trumps?" There was a time when American whist players spoke with scorn of the feminine devotees of the game. The funny man made her foibles the subject of his most sarcastic paragraphs, and she would have been regarded as an intruder in any tournament. But times have changed and opinions with them The immortal Sarah Battle now has an army of faithful disciples who have adopted for their own her famous motto, "A clear fire, a clean hearth and the rigor of the game." At the recent women's whist congress held in Philadelphia several hundred womon whist players gathered from all parts of the Union and formed the National Whist League For Women. They played the game, too-150 of them-and for hours on stretch without once asking any of the ol familiar questions, "What's trumps?" and "Whose lead is is?" They didn't gossi either during the hands, and, more than that, there were among them "womer whisters"—that is the latest name—who have met and vanquished some of the best male whist players in the country.

This first congress of women whist players was called by a special committee of five, of which Mrs. T. Hollingsworth Andrews of Philadelphia was chairman. Mrs. Andrews has been teaching and writing

MRS. T. HOLLINGSWORTH ANDREWS. about whist for a number of years and is almost as much of an authority on the game as Foster, Howell or any of the modern school. She has organized scores of Mrs. Patterson, wife of the late Capt. clubs and is of course a great whist enthu-

Other members of the committee were of a club that has never been defeated by men; Mrs. Senator Hawley of Washington, Mrs. Waldo Adams of Boston, president of the Cavendish Whist club, and Miss Susan D. Biddle of Detroit. The call was responded to by women in nearly half the states of the Union, and hundreds of delegates, representing thousands of women whist players, attended. Mrs. Andrews was made permanent chairman of the congress and Mrs. Brown permanent secretary. The congress was deemed of sufficient iman address of welcome by the mayor of that city, and male whist experts read with interest the reports of the tournament. Such was the manner of the triumphant arrival of the "woman whister."

Disappearance of Robert Baird. It seems that the illness of Robert Baird occurred some time before his disappearance, but he had fully recovered. His wife was staying in the country while he was preparing a house in which to move into. It was nearly completed, only a few things remaining to be done the night before he disappeared. Baird got up at five o'clock the morning of the 19th inst., and was quiet and cheerful. He went out, saying he would be back at seven o'clock, but did not return, and as yet has not come back. His friends supposed he had gone to the country until last Monday. On that day friends of his wife came to the city and inquired about him. His brother from Smith's Falls is in the city making inquiries, but has found
