millions of lives. It unfits men for business or pleasure, and makes life toathsome to those who suffer from it. If you would be strong in mind and body; if you would throw off the fet-ters of wretchedness caused by the mistakes of your life, let us explain to you how it can be done in Nature's own way—by properly applied ELEC-TRICITY. This is the essence of vital force, and when infused into the body by DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT made for MEN ONLY, it will renew the vigor in the weakened parts an restore manhood. We desire especial ly to see or hear from those who have not found relief from medicines and other treatment. Dr. Sanden's medical work, "Three Classes of Men"-pocket edition FREE upon application—ex-plains the marvellous success of elec-tricity in these cases. Address DR. SANDEN, 156 ST. JAMES ST. GENERAL GASCOIGNE SAW IM-PROVEMENT AT THE COLLEGE.

The Staff and Cadets Complimented Upon The Excellence Of The Work Done-A Marked Improvement Over The Occasion of His Last Visit.

social and military event always looked forward to with those two ill mated senses, pleasure and regret, is the annual closing function in connection with the Royal military college. The graduates await the eventful day with pleasure, as it marks a new era in their lives, yet a feeling of regret mingles with the pleasure, for warm associations formed during the four years' term are about to be broken, and kind friends are to be parted with, perhaps, never to be met again. The same feelings animate citizens, who take pleasure in the presence of the cadets and in witnessing them taking part in their gymnastic and military exercises and of applauding the prize winners as they advance to receive their well-earned lancels, ye' withal a sense of sorrow robs the pleasure thus experienced of its keen edge, as the occasion marks the departure of many red coated sons of Mars, who go forth into the world to fight their several battles for honor and glory, and may never again be met with. For the closing exercises yesterday fine weather prevailed. Although old Sol beamed down with one of his warmest smiles, yet cool zephyrs from the blue at the surface again. The Donnelly wreck-waters of Lake Ontario wafted gently ing company, of Kingston, are raising her. across the ground and tempered the atmos phere to a comfortable degree. There was a splendid attendance of citizens, ladies predominating, who attested their interest in the exercises, which opened with an exhibition of gymnastics in the gymnasium. The squad was in command of Sergt. Major Morgans and the cadets performed the different difficult, hair-raising feats a foot forward. The Pierrepont was unable with cleverness and precision, winning to release the stranded schooner, pulling Cotton, D.O.C., camp commandant, yesprolonged plaudits from the assemblage, her towing out in an effort to pull the terday, are as follows:

and words of commendation from Gen. schooner off. She will have to be lighted Gascoigne, who congratulated his "old cellence of the work done by the squad struck. The canal at this point should be under his command. The praise was not dredged out. idly bestowed, as the cadets showed the result of careful training.

Following this the cadets in charge of Capt. Twining and Batt. Sergt.-Major Stairs constructed a pontoon bridge across a water span about 100 feet wide, completing the work in seven and one-half minutes, and being complimented for the work by Gen. Gascoigne.

The next feature was the blowing up of a land mine by electricity. Eighty pounds of gun powder were placed in an embank. ment on the shores of Navy bay. Mrs. Gascoigne touched a button on a portable electric battery, and tons of earth were blown skyward, falling into the bay.

The cadets "fell in," and in command of Capt. Lesslie marched onto the field fronting the main building. Forming up in front of the saluting base, Gen. Gascoigne was received with the general salute. Following this was an inspection by the general and his staff. Then the company performed the march past, advanced column, and wound up with the general salute. Battalion Sergt.-Major Stairs then put the company through the manual exercise and a few field movements, followed by the firing exercise under word of command by Capt. Lesslie.

Gen. Gascoigne complimented the cadets on the manner in which they performed the various exercises and upon their trim, neat, clean and soldiery appearance. Taking time from him they gave three cheers for the queen.

Returning to the gymnasium, Col. Kitson read his annual report, already published, and announced the names of the prize winners. Gen. Gascoigne distributed the prizes, and as each successful cadet advanced to receive his prize, he was roundly applauded by his companions. Batt. Sergt.-Major Steirs, Co. Sergt.-Major

Harris, Sergt. Syer, Corp. Anderson and cadet La Rocque being specially favored.

When the task of distributing the prizes had been concluded Gen. Gascoigne addressed a few words to the cadets, expressing his pleasure at being enabled to be present, being the second time he had attend ed the annual closing exercises. Two years ago he attended similar ceremonies and was pleased to say that he noticed marked improvement in the style of the work performed. "When here last I was in the country only a short time," he said "coming direct from the Scots Guards. My criticism then may have been a little severe, but to-day I have had the pleasure of seeing carried out what I then hoped for. I am pleased with all I have seen tothe occasion of my visit I was not altogether satisfied what came before my notice, and, if you remember, I told you of it. I thought then that there was an absence of smartness, or what is generally termed in the army 'slick and polish.' The cleaner and prouder a man is on parade the better he is for it, and this will stick to him no matter where he goes. In seeing a smart, clean body of men, it means more to the critical eye than outside appearance conveys. I am well pleased with the way you performed your drill to day, your marching and rifle exercise. I noticed a vast improvement over the work done two

"The whole country has been thinking quite a lot about the military college lately, and not only in this country is interest in the college increasing, but also in England. England has paid the highest possible tribute to the Royal military college in giving five commissions to graduates. Some people are of opinion that five cemmissions are not enough to grant to graduates of this college. If parents in this country have difficulty in getting suitable positions for their sons, what anxiety must the parents in England suffer ! Why there they are fairly tumbling over each other in the rush for positions. This will be understood when known that for every vacancy there occurs, there are, on an average, 120 applicants, and of these there are bound to be 119 failures. "I prophesy a brilliant future for the college. On the square the cadets formed a circle, clasped hands, and sang "Auld Lang Syne." At the conclusion of this the graduates were picked up bodily and car-ried on the shoulders of their comrades into the dormatories.

A BIG EXCURSION.

Thousands Of Wheelmen Coming Over From Syracuse.

Arthur Jenkins, of the Herald, Syra cuse, N.Y., was in the city to-day arranging for a mammoth excursion of bigyclists, which will arrive here about noon on July 5th. The excursion is being conducted by an association for the promotion and building of bicycle cinder paths from Spracuee to outlying towns and villages. The association is helped largely by donations and subscriptions, and expects to realize quite a sum as a result of the present undertaking. It is estimated that there are 15,000 wheels in use in Syracuse, and it is expected that at least 3,000 wheels will be brought over here on the excursion, which will leave Syracuse at eight a.m., arriving here at noon. The excursionists will have until 6:30 o'clock to see the sights here, arriving back in Syracuse before midnight. It will be the largest excursion ever run out of Syra-

Mr. Jenkins says the wheelmen are anxious to take a spin out the York road, famed in the United States as being one of the finest country wheeling roads in America. Folger Bros. have agreed to have in readiness at Cape Vincent the steamers America, St. Lawrence, Empire State and Pierrepont to convey the bicyclists to this city. An effort will be made to get the wheels over the day previous. As the excursionists will take at least one meal here, Mr. Jenkins will be pleased to publish in the Herald the different hotel rates, proprietors will send him a copy of their

They Cheered The Band.

Before dismissing the cadets of the Roya military college yesterday, Capt. Lessli complimented them upon the manuer in which they acquitted themselves. took advantage of the occasion to thank the members of the 14th band for the kind manner in which they played for the cadets while in Montreal, saying that as many of the cadets, who enjoyed the visit to that city and the music of the band on that occasion, and the kindness shown the cadets by the bandsmen, would not be at the college again, he would ask them to remove their helmets and give three cheers for the 14th P.W.O.R. band. The redcoated boys put vim into their cheers, and wound up with a rousing "tiger." The bandsmen returned the compliment with vigor. This is the first time on record that such an occurrence took place.

CAUGHT AFTER MANY YEARS.

Sam Lindsay Escaped When on His Way to Kingston Penitentiary.

Sam Lindsay, one of the most noted Canadian criminals, was arrested in Montreal on Wednesday night by detective Suthergill. The particular offence for which Lindsay was wanted is for escaping from sheriff Gibson, of Hamilton, some fourteen years ago. About fifteen years ago Lindsay burglarized a small post office in Ontario. He was arrested and after trial was convicted. He was sentenced to a term in Ringston penitentiary.

After he had been convicted Lindsay was put in charge of sheriff Gibson, of Hamilton, and was to have been taken to King. ston. On the way there Lindsay managed to break from his guards and escaped After disappearing for some time he turn ed up in Montreal, under the name of Knox, and remained here for some time One night, when in a resort at 6 St. Justin street, he quarrelled with another man over some girl. Knox, or rather Lindsay, drew a revolver and shot at the other

This man was wearing a celluloid collor, and this broke the force of the bullet considerably, and probably saved his life The bullet, however, entered his neck, and gave the man a nasty flesh wound. The man was removed to the hospital. After recovering from the effects of his wound he disappeared, and, as there was no one to appear against Lindsay, he was released. When Lindsay was at liberty he left Montreal, and it is supposed he immediatewent to the states. Anyway, he was afterwards heard of in Vermont. Lindsay came to Montreal about four months ago and has been residing since. He appeared to be fairly well off and was not known to work. By some means inspector Murray, Toronto, heard of Lindsay's presence here and wired chief detective Carpenter. Sergeant detective Campoau detailed detective Suthergill to look for Lindsay, and after some searches found him at 63 Vitre street.
