LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Opinions Of A "Citizen." KINGSTON, June 28.—(To the Editor) have often noticed poor people looked down by ministers held in high esteem by the wealthy class and I have even heard of these ministers convening with the elders and expelling from church a poor man, because he got drunk and did not pay liberally to the church, while the next door neighbor was allowed to remain a member because he paid $50 per year to the church, but bore a far worse character. This is one of the many cases that have come under my own observation. I don't think it is a christian act to turn a poor man out of a church for simply making one or two mis-steps, and let alone a wealthy man in the church whose conduct is worse than a pestilence.
