The coolest place where men do business in New York is the old Washington market. All the refrigerators in the market are cooled by the Cool Air company. The pipes which lead from the central plant to the refrigerators run in every direction just under the roof of the market. On the warmest days these pipes are covered with snow half an inch thick. This cools the air around them, and the cool air naturally falls, thus cooling the entire atmosphere in the market. "It may come to pass," said a British

Her favorite ditty was "How Can We Ever Meet as Strangers?" This she could sing all through, without skipping a word or mak ing a false note. She could call by name every member of a large family and every article of food on the table that she saw and desired. The new postal cards which will shortly be printed are of two sizes-an idea of the postmaster general—the bigger ones. which have twice the area of the present postal cards, being intended for business communications that cannot very well be crowded and for other purposes demand ing space. Both kinds have in the right hand upper corner, instead of the representation of a stamp, a small portrait of Gen. Grant,

Dr. Parr, the celebrated scholar, was once preaching in the country parish of another clergyman, and, as was his habit, used very learned language. The rector afterward said to him, "They could not understand you." "Nonsense," said Dr. Parr. "I am sure there was nothing in my sermon which they could not comprehend." "Well," said the rector, "I will felicity?" "Well, I don't know, sir, said John, "but I believe it is some part of the inside of a pig."
