A GHOUL'S GLEE. Revelations.

A Chicago Jezabel in the Tolls-Terrible

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. - Martha Mayer is keeper of a house of ill-fame in Fourthavorue, Marie Louise Duscharme, a 15year-old girl, was brought from Montreal by an agent of Mayer's, and on arriving here was drugged to her ruin in the den of infamy run by the procuress. After many desperate attempts Marie finally managed to make her escape and told her story to the police. Madame Mayer was promptly arrested and held to the grand jury. This is as far as the case ever went. The procuress succeeded in locating the complaining witness, cajoled her into accepting a wad of her ill-gotten cash, purchased a ticket to Montreal for the girl, and when the case was finally called up the Mayer woman gave the grand jury the laugh.

Marie had no sooner been disposed of when a child named Edna Baruum, also from Montreal, was shipped on. The story the child tells is a pitiable

Edna claims that directly on her arrival at the house, which she was informed was a boarding house, she rebelled and demanded a free path out of doors. Instead, sue found herself dragged into a room and locked up. Here the unhappy girl was gagged, bound and ruined under the eyes of the landlady She, too, finally broke away, and Martha Mayer was again arrested. The prisoner will come up before Justice Bradwell a week from Martha Mayer appears to be secure from harm, in her own mind, at least. A reporter ventured into her joint last night and was redeived by Mme. Mayer in person. She is a tall, fat and dabby creature, about 50 years of age and just barely able to talk English The reporter tried a ruse on the woman and while it failed signally in scaring the procuress, it was productive of a rather startling list of self-confessed criminality. " Do you know," said the reporter, " that Marie Louise Duscharme has returned from Canada and will be used by the State as witness against you ?" "Bot is one lis," hissed the woman; and then, complacently, "I know bettan den sat."

She was pressed for an explanation. "She cos dead," and an unpatural fire up the woman's bleared eyes.

The aggregate of the subscriptions and of money calized from the sale of tickets for the pub tio meeting was between $16,000 and $18, 000, and less than half of this has been realized in cash as most of the subscribers, in view of the split in the party, have thought it best to keep their money in their pockets until the air is cleared. ANTI-PARNELLITE MANIFESTO. None but Traitors to Country Could Stick o to Parnell LOSBON, Dec. 11.-The anti-Parnellite members of the Irish Parliamentary party have issued this manifesto to the "Feeling bound to protect our country's cause at whatever personal sacrifice, we found pursaives under the sad necessity Jerminating Mr. Parnell's leadership. would have been easier to have left him undisturbed, but such a course would have left every man of us a traitor to his country.

"Mr. Parnell, disregarding our appeals to remember the country, evinced an ill-judged determination to maintain his untenable position, thus threatening to plunge Ireland into a conflict which may overwhelm her and cause her present fair prospects to disappear forever. It is the duty of Irishmen now, irrespective of consideration of feelings either for Mr. Parnell or those differing from him, to scoupt a course that will tend to save Ireland from destruction. After detailing various ressons for their action the signers of the manily governments. Thus your labors will be festo add that whatever judgment Ireland may pass on the manifesto her cause hangs on the issue, and the signers will abide by that judgment, they bring the nation's servants. They enumerate the charges against Paruell as follows: 1. He speaks as if he were the injured party whereashe alone is responsible for the presen deplorable situation. 2. He piedged himself to repel the charges in connection with the O'Shea case, but when the time came to do this he remained silent. 3. He does not be itate to renounce and denounce the multitudes of English friends of Sherty as English woives.

4. But the English woives and the Irish bishop express the same opinion of Mr. Parnell and be cannot mend matters by calling nick-names. 5. The reminder of the Leinster re-election was the most ungenerous taunt ever uttered. The effort to sustain Mr. Parnell without playing Ireand fabe is made a cause of attack, whereas it nught to be a vindication. The signers position before Ireland dwell upon at longth. They set forth that Parnell's re-election was due to gratitude for oast services, and his disposition to the fact that if he continued as leader the struggle might have been abandoned. The manifesto says: Parnell must aware that his personality and obstinat efforts for -freedom leave treland with nothing for many years but the abominable system imposed by the present Government. If he is re-elected the Tory Government will resume coercion, receive w new lease and the struggle for Home Rule be lost to the living generation. "Lose All or Win All."

The final question which rests with the Irish nation is, "Lose all for Parnell or win all without him. Home Il-1 with Glad-

The signers say they refuse to abandon Gladstone for Parned, or to insist upon the Liberal feader revealing his plans, which they say would be foolishly to give advan tageous opportunities to Ire and's foes. The signers refuse to believe that Gladstone desired to dictate. He was bound to publish hisconviction that the retention of Parnell n the leader ship of the Irish party would wreck Home Rule. Why should a man o al waste the brief remnant of his life in struggle foredoomed to failure?

The signers offered Parnell an opportunit of temporary retire neut, with a view to his eventual reinstatement, but it never gave the faintest chance of a settlement. His fatal manifesto was an appeal to the hatreds be tween the people of Great Britain and Ire land, and makes it impossible for him here ifter to co-operate with the Liberal party. The manifesto concludes: Fellow-country men, the issue we submit you is one upon which the fortuges of our country must depend. May God defend the right

The new-paper United Ireland true got into trouble through its persistent advocacy of the retirement of Parnell. Parnell is one of the directors of the company cwaing the paper, and acting in that capacity he to-day seized the plant of the paper, stopped the issge of the current edition and ejected the Barrister Kelly, Henry Campbell, Mr.

Parnell's private secretary, and Mahoney member of parliament, were present when the seizure was made. Parnell's agent has taken possession of the offices of the paper. When Bodkin entered the office to-day he found Parnell in possession. Mr. Parnell, in the presence of the directors, read the articles of association under which the company was or anized, and then ordered the sheriff to eject Bodkin. The latter made an ineffectual resistance. A desperate row sheriff's office. and the sub-editors Sticks and stools were used as weapons and the air was filled with flying missiles. Finally, after a sharp, fierce struggle, the sub-editors were put out of the building. The news of the seizure of the paper created great excitement in Dublin and a mob soon surrounded the office. Parnell later addressed the staff, the members of which promised to serve him during the romainder of the crisis. Mr. Parnell placed Mr. Leamy in charge of the paper. It has been ascertained that one of the editors got a hint of Parnell's intention to seize the paper and made arrangements to have today's edition printed at an earlier hour than usual. The edition was on the point of being issued when Parnell appeared. He ordered that the entire edition, which contained bitter attacks upon himself, be destroyed. In the struggle that took place in the office one of Mr. Bodkin's supporters was hit on the head with a stool, receiving a scalp wound. Three of the sheriff's men received slight

Humbert said the recent elections had rendered the state more solid than ever. He hailed with joy and confidence the new Chamber which the country had elected. thus confirming the faith he felt in the country's free institutions. By displaying unity and resolution at home, consciousness of her rights, firmness of conviction and decision of will, Italy was gaining for herself increasing authority and respect abroad which constituted the best guarantee of peace. Faithful in her alliances, cordial it her friendships and sincere in her desire to improve her relations with all the powers, danger of international complications dissipated. As more tranquilizing anticipations become stronger and more general throughout Europe the foyalty of our intentions is evident to all. In Africa we have now only to fix the limits of our territories and sphere of essentially pacific. Legislation to ameliorate the lot of workmen will form the principal part of the work of the session-work in which all patriotle men will be able to concur. The work of military reorganization being completed within the limits of national de-influence, in which task we deal with friend-fence Italy feels sure of herself. The King emphasized the necessity of plaing the national finances on a sound basis and expressed confidence that Parliament would find in administrative entrenchments and the reorganization of the present system of taxation sufficient resources to effect an In continuance he said: Following the traditions of my house during the 12 years of my reign I have always secured respect for the power of the state, which only those who are enemies of our institutions can fear or threaten. As a sealous guardian of the rights of all I have always guaranteed the rights of the religion of my ancestors, At the same time maintaining the greatest respect for that liberty of conscience which honorably marks our age; ! at I never permit my sovereign authority to suffer derogation in the name of that religion. The Italian monarchy is founded on plebiscites as well as traditions and is for all a piedge of peace and liberty. That monarchy is also strong enough to fear nothing and is always ready to welcome any reform aiming at the welfare of the people whose love is the foundation of the throne. Stringent Measures to be Adopted to Stop the Wholesale Slaughter of Deer.

pointed by the Ontario Government to enquire into the laws affecting fish and game, the infringement of the same, and the best means by which protection may be afforded to ground and winged game and the preservation of the fisheries of the province, met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organization. The commissioners are: Dr. G. A. McCallum, Dunville (chairman); A. D. Stewart, Hamilton (secretary); Richard A. Lucas, Hamilton; H. G. Hervey. Brockville; J. H. Wilmott, Beaumaris; W. 8. Pulford, Learnington; John Mitchell, J. C. HARDY'S ONE PRICE STORE, Guelph; A. H. Taylor, Ottawa; F. W. Thornson, Toronto; H. K. Smith, Belleville.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, Provincial Secretary, dilated on the importance of the enquiry and said there was one subject to which the commissioners would give special attention—the wholesale destruction of deer. There is, said the hon. gentleman, an imminent danger of the extermination of deer in this province if the present system is allowed to go on. A few years ago quail could hardly be found in any part of the province, but after two or three years' cessation of quail shooting the birds were plentiful in Western Ontario. This was purely and simply the result of absolute protection of that species

Mr. Gibson further referred to the shipment of game to New Yor , in which Americans do a profitable trade and which did Canadians no good. Such an enactment would cheapen the price of game at home. Mr. Gibson then suggested that the commissioners map out their procedure in different districts, arrange for witness' attendance, have sub-committees for the division of work, appointing thereon members who were most familiar with the subject in

In the evening the commission again met. They divided the Province into four sections and appointed a sub-committee to take evidence in each. The work of re-organization will be continued to-day. THE FUMES WERE FATAL.
