And the following is from the [Hamilton Times.]

Yesterday morning, as we announced in last evening's paper, Forepaugh's aggregation arrived in this city, and two performances were given on the wellington street commons, afternoon and evening, the tents on each occassion being crowded. It is certainly the best Menagerie and Circus which has ever visited Hamilton, Browne & Co. and in connection therewith is a museum of mechanical curiosities the like of which were never before seen in Canada.

Forepaugh's Circus is to exhibit here to-morrow week, but the great Towel man of Kingston will have an exhibition to morrow. July 34th, 500 dozen Towels at wheels deserves the admiration and prices defying competition, and vertising in newspapers. Didn't think it patronage of the Canadian public, and it will also sell them at a large reis to be hoped his tour thought the duction in price to those who will buy one dozen or more, consequently watch for the great show tomorrow.
