ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS CURRENCY.

The Company guarantee to return to each purchaser at least, treble the value for his money

is a question many will doubtless ask themselves and forseeing this we offer the following lucid explanation: The Trade, assignee, anxious to dispose of and realize on the entire stock of the bankrupts in one sale, accepted our offer of $200,000 cash for the lot; after advertising same for sale for one month, and not receiving a single offer, which in the present depression of business and almost stagnation of trade is not to be wondered at; notwithstanding that our offer was one third less than the actual cost of the manufacture of the Pocket Books, The assignee having to at once realize the effects of the bankrupts, in the interests of the creditors he had no alternative but to accept this offer and sell us the lot at our own price, thereby enabling us to

amongst the purchasers, and at the same time retain a fair marginal profit for ourselves; thus you obtain fully double the value of the amount you forward us and it depends on your luck what amount you gain of the

and orders for pocket books should therefore be forwarded us at once—no application by letter after Saturday, November 20th can be entertained.

1000 of the Pocket Books are of the patentd manufacture, superior in valve to the remainder, the retail price of the same being $8, and these will be forwarded to early purchasers until disposed of.

Therefore those that send immediate orders will reap the advantage of receiving a superior article.

Remittances can be sent us either for one or any number of pocket books by draft, post office orders, or greenbacks in registered letter by express, etc.

REMEMBER THIS IS NO LOTTERY, but a bona fide business system, founded on a true financial basis, which enables the Company to convert into money and otherwise surplus stock, and this to with a good profit to both the purchasers and themselves, effecting a speedy clearance of stock which in the present dull times is the great desiderta that in no other way can be successfully attained.

We guarantee each pocket book to be of the best manufacture, of pure morocco leather and intrinsically worth in retail trade at the lowest rate of from $3 to $4.

This is an opportunity that should not be let pass by; one and all should embrace this chance. We afford everyone an opportunity of realizing a share in $100,000 at the insignificant outlay of $1 (one dollar) for which they receive value three fold and those who let this fortuituous chance escape them will have only themselves to blame.

All letters replied to same day as received. We advise intending purchasers to forward orders immediately which will prevent disappointment and receive prompt attention.

Remember, every one that sends One Dollar before November 20th, 1875, receives

A Morocco Leather Pocket Book

CITY AND VICINITY

THE Lennox Fair is described as the most successful held for years.

THE Cadets of Temperance are marching on rapidly. On Tuesday evening sixteen initiations took place.

CALLENDER'S Georgia Minstrels have put up the handsomest posters ever yet hung on the outer walls of Kingston by a minstrel troupe.

SWIFT'S.—Steamers calling: Corsican, from Montreal; Magnet and Zealand, from Hamilton; Admiral, from Charlotte, and Kincardine, from Oswego.

MILITARY.—Lt.-Col. Irwin, Dominion Inspector of Artillery, looked over the Cobourg Volunteer Artillery on Tuesday last. The inspection was perfectly satisfactory.

BETWEEN mumps and the epizoo frail humanity is given to much suffering. Both complaints are taking a vigorous hold on the public.

PERSONAL.—Dr. W. Geo. Beers, of Montreal, now in Europe, recently read a paper before the Odontological Society of London (England), and was elected a member (honorary).

THE market to-day was largely attended, the mild temperature at early morning inducing the farmers to turn out in numbers. The subsequent rain and mud made marketing somewhat unpleasant.

SALE OF THE BARK WORKS.—The Perth Courier says that on Thursday the property known as the Bark Works was sold by auction and was bought by Mr. R. V. Rogers, of Kingston, for the Hon. D. L. McPherson, of Toronto, for $14,000.

FREIGHTS.—From Detroit to Kingston on wheat, 5c. in gold; from Milwaukee to Kingston 6½c. The slight advance here noted is not consequential, and little as it is many vessels are not in a position to take advantage of it, being either already "in ordinary" or the next thing to it.

OH, GOOD!—The farmers will read with satisfaction that one of the agents of the Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company, while engaged in showing a reaper at the Prince Edward Fair, had one of the fingers of his right hand cut off. The mills grind slowly.

"Thin ice formed in exposed places in the vicinity of Memphis, Tenn., on Tuesday night."

Memphis is not the only place where ice has formed this season. Quite a coating covered the water in barrels here in the early part of the present week.

FRANK SHANLEY.—The Globe in noticing the engagement of Mr. Frank Shanley for the railway survey here, says it will not affect the negotiations for that gentleman's acceptance of the position of the Chief Engineership of Toronto, which has been offered to him at a salary of $3,000 per annum.

THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.—This company means business. It has invested over $7,000 so far in real estate, and will begin track-laying in the Spring, if the City Council does not strangle it by inserting a clause in its charter compelling it to sell out about as soon as all its money has been spent in making the road pay at last.

BACK AGAIN.—The late attempt to convict three of the witnesses, by whose evidence Matthias Konkle was convicted of rape of a criminal conspiracy failing, the convict returns to the Penitentiary. A second effort is being made to have his sentence (for life) commuted. His case is such a peculiar one that possibly those acting in his behalf may be successful.

QUITE RIGHT.—The Brockville Enterprise-man remarks that any person who is not suited with this glorious weather, should be sent on an excursion to the North Pole. As to-day is not likely to suit him any more than it does other people, we propose, speaking with our accustomed liberality in the public interest, that the sentence be carried out instanter.

RUFFIANISM.—We do not believe that the rowdyism lately manifested here is the conduct of an organized band of roughs. On the contrary, we believe these guilty of unseemly proceedings are of a different class, being persons who are not given to rowdyism, but allow their passions to get the upper hand of their discretion. The noisy brawls of the past week must be discontinued, however, or character will be in jeopardy.

TILTON.—A number of gentlemen talk of offering Theodore Tilton inducements to visit Kingston and deliver a lecture. There is no doubt the lecture would be a great literary treat, but Tilton's patrons would not be so much attracted by what he would say, as by a desire to see the man whose name has became so familiar as the plaintiff in the late New York scandal case. Tilton's engagements are numerous, but it is probable if the effort be made that he may be secured.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY.—This very benevolent society, which in winters past has done greater charitable service than can be enumerated, has this year suffered from the apathy of its members. It is, however, now about to be revived with the old spirit and energy. A meeting to effect this purpose will be held to-morrow afternoon after vespers in St. Mary's Cathedral. The winter that is coming on will be a very severe one on the poor, as so many laborers will be thrown out of work. The Society will therefore be the means of doing greater good than ever.

The Churches.

Oct. 17th.—21st Sunday after Trinity.—Daniel iii.; 1 Thess. ii.
" iv.; St. Luke xiii. to v. 18.
" v.; St. Luke xiii. to v. 18.
" 18th.—St. Luke.
Isa. iv.; 1 Thess. iii.
Eccles. xxxviii to v. 15; St. Luke xiii. 18.

SABBATH TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Dr. Dupuis will address the meeting in the Sons of Temperance Hall.

The Rev. Jas. Elliott of Kingston will preach at the morning service to-morrow on the re-opening of the Brockville C. M. Church.

There are some young gentlemen of Brockville who have seen the good done by the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Kingston and they led in forming a similar union there, to look after the destitute, watch over the sick and alleviate distress.

Kingston led off in Sunday Afternoon Temperance Meetings, and Strathroy now has them regularly. Picton is coming on.

Pembroke, 15th.—The Roman Catholic Jubilee began yesterday here. The procession took place at ten a.m., before service, a large crowd being in attendance. Everything passed off quiet. A sermon was delivered during service by Father St. Lawrence, of Ottawa. Other services took place at two and seven o'clock p.m. To-day the procession will take place at the same hour.

THE LANDMARKS FADING.—The death of the venerable Henry Shibley has been so quickly followed by that of another old and respected resident of the County that the double loss is made a deep public sorrow. Yesterday Mr. Wm. Cashman, of Glenburnie, died at the advanced age of 76 years, forty-three of which were spent on the farm where, surrounded by his affectionate and lamenting family, he breathed his last moments calmly and in that comfort which only the kindest of earthly care could lavish upon him. The deceased gentleman was one of the pioneers of the section, being contemporary with Messrs. Draper, Rankin and Hickey, who survive him, and following closely upon the late Col. Waggoner, who died not long since so full of years. Mr. Cashman leaves behind him an untarnished memory for industry, uprightness and neighborly disposition, and his enemies are so few as to defy an enumeration.

APPOINTMENTS.—The Canada Gazette of to-day contains the following appointments of Weights and Measures for this District and that adjoining it to the West:

Durham, P. R. Randall, Port Hope; Peterboro, F. W. Hall, Peterboro; Victoria, W. A. Silverwood; Hastings, John P. Macdonnell, Belleville; Prince Edward, Robert Boyle, Picton; Kingston, W. C. Baxter, Kingston; Lennox, Geo. W. B. Sills, Conway; Lanark, J. W. Manning, Almonte; Renfrew, James Stewart, Pembroke; Ottawa, Ernest Lapierre, Ottawa; Dundas, Elisha Fox Loucks, Russell; Glengarry, Finlay McCrae.

The appointment of Mr. Baxter will give every satisfaction, both in regard to personality and an efficient discharge of the duties of the office.

THE CALLENDERS.—Hon. Wm. Lloyd Garrison thus speaks of the famous organization (Callender's Georgia Minstrels) which is to appear at the City Hall on Monday evening: "It is gratifying to see that no imputation can be brought against them of presenting anything offensive to the eye or ear." This is not the same company which was here before, but is the older and the celebrated original one.

ATHLETIC GAMES.—This is University Day, and the students of Queen's College had decided upon a series of field sports which would have developed the muscle and added to their athletic fame. A full and lengthy programme had been prepared for this afternoon, but unfortunately the rain has intervened and a postponement, judging from present time of writing, will be inevitable.

BRITONS' ASSEMBLY.—On Tuesday evening next the Orange Young Britons (Lodge No. 20) will hold an Assembly in the Victoria Hall. The young men are as sociable as they are energetic, and they propose making it jolly for all who attend their dancing party. There will be good music, refreshments and all the other requirements necessary to ensure success.

AN effort is being made to secure the pardon of one Gonnersell, in the Kingston Penitentiary, a Hamiltonian, convicted of burglary, but now represented by his accomplices of being innocent of the offence.

IN TOWN.—Mr. G. M. Kinghorn is here on a short visit to his old home. Mr. A. Livingston has returned home for a holiday, his fellow valuator being called away from duty on court business.

A SMASH-UP, OR SMASH-DOWN.—When the judges had got through with their labors in the grain, roots and vegetable department of the Show on Tuesday, the impatient crowd outside made a rush on to the platform of the Market shed in such numbers and with such suddeness that the structure gave way, and everything was knocked into "pi." Fortunately no one was hurt, but they were all very much frightened. The scramble for the fruit, which was sent rolling in every direction, was a sight worthy our best school days, but the spectacle of incensed and disgusted farmers wives in search of prize tomatoe, crocks of butter, onions, potatoes and other things of that kind was not half so mirthful.—Orillia Times.

JUST LIKE HER.—When a woman makes up her mind to go on a journey, she spends at least one week buying pins handkerchiefs, perfumery, vails and new clothing, and spends about three days packing her trunk. The night before leaving home, she sits up all night to finish getting ready, and from daylight till train time she is trying to remember if she has forgotten anything. She gets to the train at last, gets started, and is just congratulating herself that she has taken along all she meant to take, when she suddenly seize her husband's arm, and exclaims: "There! George! There! I've went and forgotten my shawl, two pairs of stockings, there dresses, my hair-pins, and that box of cuffs!"

MASONIC CONGRESS.—A Freemasons' Congress has just been held at Lausanne, and is considered such a success that a similar meeting in 1877 is already talked of, to be held either in Rome or London. If it be held in the former capital, the President will, it is said, be King Victor Emmanuel; if in the latter, the Prince of Wales. London, it is added, would be preferred by the Freemasons, but a meeting at Rome would be considered by them as a convincing proof of liberty over religious bigotry.

POLICE COURT.

During the past week a staff of men have been engaged in excavating in front of the City Buildings. The work requires careful superintendance, but the contractor has had the kind assistance of the Sergeant-Major who has abandoned the arm chair for the time being, and has thrown his whole soul into the work. "There are some," said the veteran officer to our reporter this morning, "who can dig and scratch around and knock the end out of things generally, but when it comes down to geometrical fluctuations and longitudinal elvations, then they are as unsteady as a picket fence in a sand bank. The transitorial combination makes it necessary that the curvatures of the foundation should be firm, and it is on this account that I am anxious that nothing but the best mortar and horsehair should be used in building." In which our reporter of course coincided, not being sufficiently versed in the construction of big drains to take umbrage to the Sergeant-Major's remarks, and according to custom, when a man doesn't know what he's talking about he's safest to hold his tongue.

Here the News man joined the masonic party, and anxious that both papers should be enlightened alike upon the nature of the big drain, the Sergt.-Major repeated his observations in the scientific manner above described, with the addition, (which was not intended for public ears as it was whispered very lowly) that although it looked like a big drain it was nothing short of a subterranean passage connected with the Bank of British North America and Cummings' Bakery, for the purpose of having access to the bread and money piles in case of a sudden bombardment of the station, while at the same time it would afford a safe retreat for the sacrificing peelers in case things got red-hot and came to the worst. It is on this account that the S.M. has tendered his aid in supervising, for it would be unnatural to suppose that in the event of a repetition of Bull's Run some day the head of the force would be unable to guide his men through the dark valley from misery into moonshine.

Josiah Hamilton entered to ask if any of the "gemmen had seen his Hannah about de town."

Sergeant Macaulay—What is she like? None of us know her by name. What kind of a figure has she?

Josey—"Wall I won't say for shua'h, but I hearn her sister say she was right smart."

Macauley—"But I mean her style—her form."

Josey—"She's on de foam wid de rest of de big gals, ob course."

Macauley—"Tut! blarney. You don't understand me. What's her size?"

Josey—"Wall, I clare, I don't zackly know, I think she take number ten or eleven shoe."

Macaulay—"Chew-Chew! What kind of a numskull are you? How high is sh ?"

Josey—High? She am jist de highest gal round heah, your sho'tin', jist you pick de banjo once—oh! lord a massey! only once! whew! Rattlesnakes, melons and ginger beah! and she'll kick kingdom comin' through a two inch floah, she would!"

Macauley—You'll pass.

The court docket was small.

Jacob Finlayson, a tall American with green goggles, stood up and eyed the assembly with the pride of a Mississippi mule.

The P.M.—Your offence, sir, drunkenness.

Jacob—So I believe. A man must make a miss sometimes.

The P. M.—We never miss. We are dead shots here. $2 fine.

Jacob—Can't you remit; I'm poor, am an orphan and have no money.

The P.M.—It's a pity you hadn't a score of parents to bring down in sorrow to the grave. As for your financial status,

"If you've not the cash to pay,
Why, then, you'll have to borrow.

After thirty-seven years of married bliss John and Mary Delaney decided to separate. They had been at first cantankerous, but this feeling gradually developed into out-and-out fighting, and the two scarcely passed an evening without some sort of a squabble, in which something harder than pillow-cases were used to make impressions. John at first resorted to mild tactics. He quoted poetry to her:

"God created man to always be
The head of every family.
When woman attempts to usurp the throne,
Madam had better be alone."

Finally he lost patience, and resorted to means of making her understand his position, i.e., fisticuffs, at which, however, he found she was very good, and as a result seperation was deemed the only way of securing the peace of mind and serenity of former days.

The P.M. tenderly surveyed the pair, and addressing them said: You come here asking for what it is not in my power to give. You are tired of life—or living together, and you pine for single blessedness, which will be a change neither one of you will care a button about. Thirty-seven years ago, John and Mary, you thought marriage the acme of earthly ambition, and joined hands for better or for worse. Both of you have apparently gone to the dogs, but still there isnt a blade's difference between you and now when the shades of age are closing about you affection seems to be shut out, and you'd rather die in anger than live in love. You come here for advice—for my counsel. I can see reconciliation depicted upon your faces. Heated passions may prompt unkind thoughts; but you are still as true as steel. Your case, my dear friends, is one in the settlement of which I feel a pleasure.

The manner of the P.M. was so earnest that at the conclusion of his remarks John and Mary embraced, and linking arm in arm, respectfully bowed themselves out of Court, the band playing "Hail Columbia."

'Tickle me with a feathaw,' drolled Willie M'Farlane, as he opened his big mouth and shot off a gubbaw that startled the Court and shook up Bennett who sleepily louged against the counter corner.

The P. M.—Tickle me what?

The Sergt. Major—Tickle him with a feather he says.

The P. M.—Aye!

Willie—See here, boss; I'm none of you penny buns, and want none of this ere foolin."

The P. M.—You don't say.

Willie—Bloody me eyes, there's nothing scrimpish about me.

The P. M.—There is a deal of impudence though, more than I'm going to tolerate. You run against the wrong man to be tickled much with a feather; and for fear you might get scrimpish I'll send you of to the Oakum missionery field where your fine feelings and pretty ways will have room for development.

Francis Congoran paid his $2 like a little man, and went out for whiskey straight.

Michael Jones, with the silvery hair of 74 years falling over his wrinkled brow, said he was not accustomed to drink—but he imbibed yesterday, lost his senses, and the police took him under their kind protection. He was anxious to go to Port Hope, and the Court was glad to get rid of him on that condition.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful selection of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever their is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Services Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. APPLETONS'

American Cyclopædia,

NEW REVISED EDITION!

ENTIRELY REWRITTEN BY THE ABLEST WRITERS ON EVERY SUBJECT.

Printed from New Type, and Illustrated with several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the single developements which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled

THE AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our

Graphical Knowledge

Have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in Permanent and Authentic History.

In preparing the present edition for the press it has been accordingly been the aim of of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of Political and Historical Events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been

Printed on New Type,

Forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The Illustrations

Which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their Artistic Excellence.

The cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be complete in SIXTEEN LARGE OCTAVO VOLUMES, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.
