A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

What the Tiny Wheels, Springs and Screws in Your Watch Mean.

If you own a watch, open it and look at the little wheels, springs and screws, each an indispensable part of the whole wonderful machine. The busy little halance wheel alone is the result of L.ddreds of years of study and experiment. Have so Far Been Taken From The watch I have before me is composed of 98 pieces, and its manufacture emscrews are so minute that the unaided eye can not distinguish them from the steel filings or specks of dirt. Under a powerful magnifying glass a perfect screw is revealed. The slit in the head is two one-thousandths of an inch wide. I. takes 308,000 of these screws to weigh a pound, and a pound is worth $1,585.

The hairspring is a strip of the finest steel about 91/2 inches long, a hundredth part of an inch wide and twenty-seven ten-thousandths of an inch thick. It. is coiled up in spiral form and finely tempered. The process of tempering was long held a secret by the few possessing it and even now is not generally known. Their manufacture requires great skill レーシャーシャーシャーシャー and care. The strip is gauged to twent) one-thousandths of an inch, but no measuring instrument has yet been devised capable of fine enough gauging to determine beforehand by the size of the strip what the strength of the finished steel will be. A twenty-thousandth part of an inch in the thickness of the strip makes a difference in the running of a watch of about six minutes per hour. The value of these springs when finished and placed in watches is enormous in proportion to the material from which they are made. A comparison will give a good idea.

A ton of gold is worth $627,915, while a ton of steel made up into hairsprings when in watches is worth $7,882,290more than 121/2 times the value of pure gold. Hairspring wire weighs one-twentieth of a grain to the inch. One mile of wire weighs less than half a pound. The balance gives five vibrations to every second. 300 every minute, 18,000 every hour, 432,000 every day and 157,680,000 every year. At each vibration it rotates about 114 times, which makes 197,100,-1 000 revolutions every year. In order that we may better understand the stupendous amount of labor performed by these tiny works let us make a few comparisons. Take, for illustration, a locomotive with six driving wheels. Let its wheels be run till they shall have given the same number of revolutions that a watch gives In one year, and they will have covered a And the Pterodactyl flopped its wings the earth. All this a watch does without distance equal to 28 complete circuits o
