A SANITARY LEATHER

Close the sewers of a city, and a plague sets in.

Seal the porcs of a spot on your _/ hand, and blood poisoning ensues.

Perspiration must escape from the body, or kill it. The feet, and the armpits, are the chief outlets of this sewerage of the systemperspiration. And the nearer footwear approaches the porous nature of textile clothing, the less will it interfere with Nature's work. Patent and Enamel leathers are absolutely air tight-being painted.

Chrome, and other mineral tannages, are mere puttying up of the natural pores.

Such leathers would make good boats, but are dangerous foot

Natural leather is full of tiny air holes, through which perspiration can escape.

"Normal Calfskin" tanned by Heyl, of Germany, is the only matural leather of today, and it can be proven porous as cloth—sanitary as linen.

It is light in weight, because its pores are not filled with doubtful oils, nor with heavy minerals. It is cool in summer, because it carries cii perspiration, and contains no heating

It is clean, because there is nothing in it but sheer fibre, and it will shine with almost the brilliance of a Patent Caliskin.

It is the only leather in which porosity is absolutely proven, by the infallible test of gas filtration, as shown in Slater Shoe stores.

To be had in Canada, solely in that fined - priced, and Goodyear Welted,
