made from "soap fat," the refuse of the kitchen or the abattoir.

VEGETABLE OILS supply the necessary ingredients — one of the reasons why it should be used in nurseries and for delicate skins. ****

The Albert Toilet Soap Co., Mfrs. Montreal.

Son, Insolvents.

David J. Dick, of the City of Kangston, carin the County of Frontenac, has made and effects of John B. Melver, of the said City of Kingston, for the general benefit of his creditors.

in the said City of Kingston, on TUESDAY, the 25th day of June, 1901, at the | but he wore a disreputable stovepipe hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, to re- and a greasy coat. ceive a statement of affairs to appoint inand for the ordering of the affairs quested to fyle their claims with the assignce with the proofs and particulars thererequired by the said acts on or before the das of such meeting. part thereof so distributed to any person or address. That same afternoon-having persons of whose claim he shall not then so much to do that he was flagrantly have had notice. J. B. M'IVER.

Kingston, 14th day of June, 1900.

Sale of Second-Hand

Second-Hand Billiard and Pool Tables, all complete with fittings and in perfect order. They are made by Rejel & Brother, Toronto, May & Co., Toronto, Brunswick Balke Collendar Co., Chicago

Prices from $50 to $175. BOWLING ALLEYS. We must clear these out to make room for new goods. 88 St. Denis St., Montred.

BROCKYLLE

(To Be Removed From Berthier, Quebec, In June). A BOARDING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, WITH

Headmaster, Rev. C. J. Boulden, M. A., (Mathematical Honours, Cambridge), some time assistant to the present headmaster of Present address, REV. C. J. BOULDEN, St. Alban's School, Berthier-en-haut, P.

Suburban Residence For Sale.

watched the process with a dull interest, knowing that the result would be IS NOT, as most soaps, 8 view, and regretting the loss of many d things furniture, pictures to which he attached a sentimental value. P desired to rob no man; every thing must go. It served him right. Business? What was he doing to that galley-he, the most unpractical of mor-needless torment, of course, but he had never in his life attended a sale, and curiosity drew him in. There lay his cherished possessions, heaped together, manifestly wreckage. How much would it bring, the old writing table? It had belonged to his father; he himself had used it for years. few shillings probably summed its market value. But he must resist the temptation to buy it in. The money in his pocket represented a kinsman's good-will to him, and he had no right to spend it on anything but sheer necessaries.

seemed, to somebody who bore and said, curtly: "Snapshall." Cumberbatch tried to identify this purchaser. Was it the ruffianly-looking fel-GIVEN THAT low in a straw hat? No; the one next to him, a much more respectable under the name style and firm of W. | gure. Thenceforth he kept his eye on Dick & Son, at the said City of Kings | Snapshall. The man was doubtless an assignment under R.S.O., 1897, Chap 147 | dealer but he had a remarkably hu and amending acts, of all his estate, credits | man aspect. Of middle height, rather corpulent, with pensively good-humored face, and a long, black, silky beard meeting of the creditors will be held at | Snapshall might have dressed, the office of J. B. McIver, 38 Clarence part of a clergyman, a headmaster;

> shall bid? No-yes. The communicaperceptible, scarcely more than movement of the eyelid. Half-a-guinea

"Excuse me-you bought a writingtable this morning-the sale at Har-ceived of late. But Snapshall, after scuttle. Bin First-Class Alleys for sale Cheap. fixing a mild eye on him, uttered de-sir' -he ran his fingers through his shallbeard-"with a profit of five and threepence, which together with expenses, will make let us say sixteen and six-used. He spoke frankly, smiling. dealings would put things in such a it sults my business. Will you buy this |

"I will." MLWINGTON, ON THE SHORES OF Temptation had proved too strong skin and pallor of the eyelids, lips and gume bear price, so moderate that Cumberbatch was inwardly astonished. He paid the unquestionable evidence that the blood is thin, watery the unquestionable evidence that the blood is thin, watery the money chatted a little and went his about without permission. Of course, and vitiated. Poor, weak blood fails to supply the money chatted a little, and went his Jennie didn't like it, but I learned nervous system with proper nourishment and day by Delivery of the furniture had been nervous system with proper down and constitutional promised for ten next morning. At day the system breaks down and constitutional that hour, Cumberbatch stood in his empty room, trying to imagine that diseases, such as catarrh, consumption, pneumonia and diseases nervous system with proper monant and day the system breaks down and constitutional diseases, such as catarrh, consumption, penemonia and elegant troubles, find easy victims. There can be no curry, no permanent relief untit the blood is made pure, rich and life-sustaining.

The influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in enriching the blood and revitalizing the nervous system in its seen in the healthful glow which it instills complexity and the new life and sigor which it instills complexity and the new life and sigor which it instills into exery motion of the body. By its -potent help into exery motion of the body. By its -potent help into exery motion of mind and exhausted energies give place to established by the condition of the lody. By its -potent help into exery motion of mind and exhausted energies give place to the shattered nerves, palpitating heart, clouded brain, despreasion of mind and exhausted energies give place to the fact in the lody. By its -potent help into exery motion of mind and exhausted energies give place to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weak to the cheeks

Complete Receipt Book and Household Physician.

Author of "The Town Traveller,"

He went down to the auction-room;

Bidding was not eager. Several lots went for an absurd price, and all, it name of Snapshall. Every time that the auctioneer gave his final rap, he shall then have been given, and that with a clerk, and he had the dealer's at leisure- he made his way to a street near Victoria station, and there discovered a very respectable furniture shop. At a deak in the shop, bent over correspondence, sat the man with the long silky beard. Change the scene, and he might have been composing a broad church sermon.

Ah! the writing-table. Would Snap-

"What price would you put upon it, Cumberbatch was surprised and am-"I wish everyone with whom I have clear and straight-forward way, Mr.

"I find it best, sir. It suits me and Lake Ontario, containing about 14 for Cumberbatch. But he felt joy ra-

THE COMPLEXION

The complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the quality of the blood and on the complexion tells the picture) acts as a thermometer of the health. A pale, sallow or the complexion tells the picture of the complexion tells the complexi

50c. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson leave. Soc. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson Considerably puzzled, Cumberbatch was ready on Sunday morning for the promised visit. With perfect puncture Bates & Co., Toronto. Agents Wanted for Dr. Chase's Last and promised visit. With perfect puncture bates, with the baps, Mr. Snapshall. Who is this ing; no purging, Try them, per over business." "New Grubstreet," "The Ne- I've known too many such cases latether World," "The Emancipa- ly. Hard times, sir, these of ours.

pated," "Isabel Clarendon," hope you'll soon be on your legs private.

Etc. again, sir, and going strong." me till "Thank you. Let me give you my say. address. By the bye, you will deliver "Delivered free, sir, within the four-the dear old wood. tives and friends who took a more or less facetious interest in what called his "cropper." Everybody, turned out, had prophesied failure tent to draw dividends from that substantial legacy? Who would have imagined Cumberbatch infected with the commercial fever of the time? Now he. had lost everything and was considerably in debt. How lucky that he had years ago! At all events, he had no one but himself to feed and clothe. A genial uncle played good Samaritan for his immediate wants, and half a dozen persons made numerous friendly them and look after them. I had

It resulted that in half a year's good. You see, sir?" time the bankrupt felt justified in "I quite understand, Mr. Snap sinuating and quitting his two poor rooms in a poor | shall." neighborhood and taking an unfurnished floor in a decent street. Cumberbatch, not singular in this respect, lodging; at least he would sleep on his and, I can assure you, I tried own bed, and sit on his own chair, best to do my duty by them.

Snapshall? silky-bearded man sitting at his desk ed his hat in a melancholy rhythm. in the shop.

Mr. Snapshall?"

things are better with you, sir?"

robe, I think-

"Capital! But, Mr. Snapshall, The fact of the matter is, I pounds. It's ridiculous, of course, but was thinking of Jennie. that's how I stand at present."

without shadow of sarcasm.

"If you'll allow me to say so," ex- wrathfully. corous words.

"I did, sir. Do you wish to purchase markable man, Mr. Snapshall! How markable man, Mr. Snapshall! How on earth can you remember things in this way?"

"But the point is, Mr. Snapshall," are the markable man, Mr. Snapshall! How riages happy?"

"No, sir, they are not! How could this way?"

have also"-he seemed to be examining out that, they'd eye-"one or two pictures of yours

"Still, sir," persisted the other, premises into a private abode. They a young lady, simply and nicely dressed, busied in writing; the face she turned towards him struck Cumber-downright heart-breaking."

batch as more than agreeable; it was batch as more than agreeable; it was "I sincerely sympathize with you, nine."

mine. I've had ill luck-come a crop- self, he kept a brief stience, private. I hope you'll be patient with me till I've finished what I want to your permission, then, to talk a little thing to marry on; I could give her, trivial from his creditors' point of view, and regretting the loss of many things—furniture, pictures—to which he attached a sentimental value. He had fair luck; my wife, I am sorry to gentleman a real He was still a young man, not quite say, died a long time ago, and two-and-thirty, and had many rela- me three daughters. I've several times family look so low is more than I can thought of marrying again, my girls good schooling; I may say, think, sir, that I managed to bring them up in a lady-like way, Now, anybody suitable to be the mother to girls of that education. sir ? I had to think of that." "I see your point of view," said the > expected to be. "I've spent, one way and another, a great deal of money on my girls, sir. berbatch was liked by those who knew did everything in what I considered much to be pleaded for it in the the right sort of way for the girls' court of common sense.

"As I said, sir, there were three . their names, Henrietta, Caroline, and Everybody thought Jennie. himself moulder in an ordinary more than commonly good-looking cost as little as they might, and, de- there was a difficulty, sir. I daresay siring to buy the furniture, to whom you see it already. I couldn't get should be address himself but to Mr. them into the right kind of society. Snapshell's voice sank; he wore Again, by good luck, he found the look of discouragement, and smooth-

"You see, sir, girls in that position looked above her instead "You probably don't remember me, may make friends at school, but that She can't bear low people, doesn't say that they'll keep But the mild eye beamed recogni- friends afterwards, My girls knew the her sisters' husbands, and never wa daughters of rich men, highly respect- I'm looking close after her, but that while men, I assure you; but they only because a girl is a girl never got invited to their houses. The mustn't be put in danger's way. "A little, I'm glad to say, thank worst was when Henrietta and Caro- know where she goes, who her friend you. In fact, I want a bit of furni- line grew old enough to think of are all about her, I ture for my rooms. Just one or two marrying. I'd looked forward to what she is doing this minute. What that. Just for that, I'd gone on liv- do you think, sir, she might be doproceed to distribute the assets of the body likely to be able to inform him having regard only to the claims, of which notice shall then have been given and that have confoundedly little money to bands suitable to their education?" I "It's a great difficulty," murmured back looking as though it did

> In a furniture dealer, a little con- terly-"the difficulty's over for those they sung she does, sir t Now isn't tempt would have been more than ex- two. Most unfortunately, I shouldn't that the kind of girl who may marry cusable, but Mr. Snapshall smiled think there's many fathers have suf- a gentleman?"

don, but the tone had a surprising "It's my habit, sir," answered the they be? I keep both families supsuavity. The mild eye, still searching dealer, running his fingers through his do, I know very well—because, with "I thought, a bis face, expressed an interest almost beard. "I find it suits my business. I do, I know very well—because, with nave also —ne seemed to be examining rags and hunger. Well," he correct—an opinion about her."

Cumberbatch out of the corner of his ed himself, "one of them would, Caro—"I will come with please eve—"one or two pictures of yours ed himself, "one of them would, Caro—"I will come with please line and her husband, for the man Cumberbatch on a sudden decision. this way."

He opened a door, and Cumberbatch found himself passing out of business premises into a private abode. They them to be careful—for they were al- or two," said the father. "She had to Lawn Mowers. entered a sitting room. At a table sat ways too fond of society beneath go out to spend an hour with a It's a heart-breaking story, young lady friend of hers who has of Cumberbatch's little gallery. He looked at them, yet hardly saw them, for he wished to venture another glance towards Miss Jennie. On leaving the room, he had his desire. Why, ing the room had his desire. Why, ing the room had his desire. Why, ing the room had his desire. Why, in a few that to make the to my minutes went by Snapshall grew mani. Remarkable man, Snapshall.

The complexion tells the quality of the blood and On the objects selected by his custom.

Sition. When I say alone she had a lady housekeeper for a companion, but I knew by experience how little I have been a companion.

You eye that spots a gentleman at once suffered that love-disappointment two listener, more interested than he had said nothing. Again he saw Jennie of his own narrow life and hopes, and had a lady—a real lady—to live with then of four or five hundred a year. a After all, Snapshall's behaviour suggestions as to his future; for Cum- house, a villa, at Brixton Rise, and not seem so very grotesque; there was

> "What I mean sir," pursued the inon myself. You've seen my younges that might marry a gentleman?" Snapshall launched into a description of Jennie's qualities and acquirements, which lasted for some minutes. "She's the only one of my girls"the nie. Never a word has she spoken girls' marriages. But how-how, I "That's it, cried Snapshall. "That's I I ask you, sir, were they to find hus- where she is. She goes to the Abbey, sir, twice every Sunday, and comes mustn't 130 beyond - well, fifteen Cumberbatch, in an absent way. He good, as I'm sure it does. She tells was thinking of Jennie.

Well, sir -Snapshell laughed bit mon was about, and what anthem fered such a disappointment in their Cumberbatch could make only a Well, sir, it depends, of course, on family, and twice over. I'm almost vague reply. He was musing deeply, how much you want. Will you come ashamed to tell you, sir. Will you be and continued to do so as the other Cumberbatch had not foreseen the day when he would speak respectfully, if timidly, to a second-hand furnitur dealer. He thought it probable that the reply would be curt, indifferent—like so many affewers which he had received of late. But Snapshall after the second of late Rut Snapshall after the conversation ended inconcernation and the second as a small shopkeeper, and the second, Caroline, a tailor's cutter! Can would assemble that this way, sir?"

He led the customer upstairs into a long room packed with articles of household plenishing, and here, with out the icast hesitation, pointed out the icast hesitation, pointed out the reply would be curt, indifferent—like so many affewers which he had received of late. But Snapshall after the customer upstairs into a long room packed with articles of household plenishing, and here, with out the icast hesitation, pointed out the icast hesitation and instance in the conversation ended inconcerning the conversation ended inconcerning the conversation ended inconcerning the icast hesitation and instance in the conversation ended inconcerning the conversation ended inconcerning the conversation ended inconcerning the icast hesitation and instance in the icast hesitation and inconcerning the icast hesitation and inconcerning the icast hesitation and inconcerning the icast hesitation and icast lieve that my cldest, Henrietta, mar- went on with Jennie's praises. As was

"I'm afraid you wouldn't care to come and have a bit of supper at our

"I will come with pleasure," "Let me see. I gave half a guinea—

"Oh, pictures! I'm afraid, Mr. Snapas that; her husband is honest; but nesday evening, at nine o'lock, he enno business, sir, no business! They tered Snapshall's domicile, ascended a repent; both of them repent; of course flight of stairs, and was shown by a firmly, 'you might like to see them. they do. I can not con-ceive what neat maid-servant into the sitting perhaps you wouldn't mind stepping made them marry so! It was done room where hung his pictures. Snap-> decidedly a pretty face, and by the Mr. Snapshall," said the listener, be- Cumberbatch sat down and tried to eyes one saw at once that this young fore whose mind's eye the image of talk. He was in a most uneasy frame lady was Snapshall's daughter.

>
> "Sorry to disturb you, Jennie," said and fading.
>
> Jennie had meanwhile been retreating of mind, more than half-ashamed of himself, trying to justify his presence > the girl was very pretty indeed, and Brixton Rise, was in a dangerous por This is queer!" he exclaimed. Stion. When I say alone she had a "Why doesn't Jennie come! I must send somebody round to that house, > > Snapshall took the card and stared and firm I still am, and mean to be." Then with a broken word of apology are the ones who succeed. Don't let a bad stom and poor digestion anchor you to falluse Atthores Effervescent Salt will sever the bonds. It com mistakes that neglect makes. Makes the system healt ful and keeps it so-

Start taking Abbey's Effervescent Sale, to You'll notice its health-giving effect at once. It the head and steadies the nerves by setting the ach right and the digestive organs in natural, beliefs ful working order.

Try a small bottle (25 cents). You'll find it shifficient to prove our chaims.

ALL DRUGGISTS SELL IT. 25c and 60c a bottle

the Health that Makes Success

Unrivalled-opportunities for persons seeking

Bank of Ottawa and Quebec Bank

ELECTRIC TROLLEY CAR SYSTEM. FINEST HOTEL in any town in the Province of Quebe

All within 15 minutes of the magnificent Shawinigan Falls, the Niagara of the East. CHOICE HOUSE LOTS, situated in the centre of the town. FOR SALE ON EASY TERMS Since Spring of 1900, lots have advancedin value over 50 per cent locating in the town will insure steady employment at desa to able bodied men. For plans and particulars apply to SHAWINIGAN WATER & POWER COMPANY - Shawinigan Falls, Ob

Garden Hose.

We have a large supply, ranging in price

Lawn Sprinklers, etc., At Reduced Prices.

"Sorry to disturb you, Jennie, said the dealer, "only a minute. This gentleman would like to look at the pictures." There they hung; two admirable water-colors, and a fine mezzotint—relics of Cumberbatch's little gallery. He came to live in the house next to my fifteen hundred a year, sir-fifteen hun-

