borough of Brooklyn there is a man who rejoices in the name of Honest John French, and he fully deserves! that title. He is a man well to do in the world, with a comfortable bank honest labor. He has not, during his seventy years of honest work, since he was a little boy ten years Mfrs. old, ever depended on anybody's aid. As an evidence of his exactness in estimates, when he was a builder he took a contract for one of the great city buildings, and when the house was finished and turned over to the city there was $16.50 left, which he handed to the city treasurer. Some years ago Honest John

French retired from business, having g achieved a respectable competence. He has nothing to do but attend isters that come to conference, take Books way and the motion born to mit of his church, and there it float- old apple tree at Appomattox.
