Mr. Gauvreau, the new member for Temiscouta, made a most favorable impression in the speech with which he seconded the address. Sir Charles Tupper, whose physical endurance and mental vigor stamp him as a wonderful old man, delivered a speech near midnight. One of the incidents of the performance was an effort to discipline his rebellious follower, Mr. Maclean. The leader characterized Mr. Maclean's attack upon him as one of the most cowardly at. tacks he had ever known since he entered

Mr. Maclean replied at a later stage, and in severe terms took Sir Charles to task for having reached forward to justify the Yukon railway transaction, which his party did not approve. The member for East York repeated a statement that he had heard that Mr. Foster had written a letter signed "Onleoker" in the Ottawa Citizen condemning the railway bargain. Mr. Foster did not deny the authorship of the article. Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a brilliant and ef. fective reply to the verbose effort of Sir Charles Tupper, and concluded with a perora. both sides of the house, and liberals and conservatives joined in an enthusiastic tribute to the speaker.
