THE REBUKE IN TORONTO.

The Mail has gone mad over the elections. That is certain. It not only makes the absurd claim that the government is beaten, that a majority of those who elected to the legislature are against it, but that a special rebuke has been administered by the Torontos. Still more it persists that this rebuke has been em.

CURIOUS MAINE NAMES.

The Postoffice List Shows Many Traces of Early Indian Influences.

There are 1,193 postoffices in the state of Maine, and, although many of them. especially in the southern and more thick ly populated portions of the state, bear plain, simple, short and easily pronounced American names, there are a considerable number in what may be called "the back. woods" or the inter : which bear names of Indian origin. In Aroostook county there are Wytopitlock, Mattwamkeng, Oxbow, Mooseluck, Meduxakeag and Macwahoctown. In Piscataquis county there are Mattagomonsis, Spurdnabunk, Unsumtalum, Nahmakanta, Allaguash and Pamedecock. In Somerset county, Chem basabamticook. Cauquomgomoc, Maskampbunk and Seeboomook. In Franklin county, Moostookmaguntie; in Oxford. Malehunkemunk, Parmachene and Um-

There are very few French or French-Cathere were 78,000 foreign born inhabitants within its borders and of this number about two-thirds, or agam, were Canadian, chiefly French Canadian. There were by that census only 1, 100 German, 2,000 Scandinavian and 11,000 Irish inhabitants in the state out of a total population of sen. 000, but notwithstanding this circumstance and the fact that the upper portions of Maine were for a time under French rule there is practically no trace of French names in these counties or in the towns composing them, although in neighboring Vermont, the total foreign population of which is, outside of the large cities, much smaller than is that of Maine, French names are largely preserved. The title Vermont is itself French (green mountain); the title of the capital, Montpelier, is taken from a French city; Grand Isle. Orleans and Mamothle are distinctively French, and many of the townships have French names, which are much easier comprehension and much less open to the chance of mistake than are those of the peculiar and confusing style which is so general in Maine. To the business of the dead letter office Maine makes a consideral contribution each year. - New York Sun.
