The Wall Paper King of Canada.

Kingston, Belleville, Winnipeg

Owing to the national character of our wall paper business we have decided to open stores in the principal cities of the Dominion.

With this end in view we have already established at Kingston and Winnipeg in addition to Boldo-ville.

Negotiations are now pending for branches in other cities, and as soon as suitable locations are found we will have our branch stores from St. John, N.B., in the east, to Vancouver, B.C., in the west.

For the present year Boldo-ville will remain our headquarters of the mail order department.

Our mail order wall paper trade is the largest in Canada. The enormous quantities of paper handled gives us facilities for buying unequalled by any other house in British North America.

Being in constant touch with the newest goods and cosmopolitan ideas as advanced in wall hangings we are in a position to advise intelligently.

We have leased in Kingston from D. A. Woose & Co., photographers, a portion of that premises now occupied by them.

We invite an inspection of our goods and prices.

Our business in Kingston since Dec. 6th last has been under the management of Mr. J. W. Parker. Mr. Parker has been given the management of our Winnipeg branch while his position in Kingston has been filled by Mr. F. E. Osborne of our Belleville branch, a thoroughly competent young man of experience and ability.

A QUESTION OF COST.

The high school inspector has reported, it is said, in favour of two new classes and teachers, and a gymnasium and instructor at the high school. The desire of the people is to have an efficient high school, but it must be reasonable in its demands.

The fifth class and the commercial class were abolished in the public schools on the ground that the work they did could be carried on at the institute without an increased expense, that an alleged duplication of service would be avoided.

The feeling is growing—in consequence of the inspector's report—that the transfer of pupils from the public to the high schools has occasioned, in part at least, the crowding to which reference has been made, and it is a question if the public schools should not resume the work they had.

The high school costs, in round figures, about $10,000 a year. The public schools, all of them, cost $25,000. This indicates that if extra teachers have to be employed they can be secured to the best advantage in the public school section, and to the development of its interests the best energies should be directed.

HARDY GETTING STRONGER.

The government of Hon. Mr. Hardy is gaining in strength. The recounts have not been going conservative, or all one way, as a Whitney print would have us believe. In West Huron and Ottawa, where so much interest was centered on Saturday, the results have been stimulating to the liberals.

In one constituency Cook, conservative, has a majority of one—the one that worries the Mall—with one ballot to be examined and argued on appeal. In Ottawa Mr. O'Keefe, liberal, has been given a majority of five, and he and Mr. Lumden, the other liberal, will represent Ottawa in the legislature.

The hope of the conservatives now lies in the protests which they propose to put into the courts if only the necessary funds can be raised. That was the decision at the recent conference of the members elected and defeated candidates on the conservative side in Toronto.

The moral victory of the Whitney party has faded away. The legal victory is not likely to be more comforting. Darkness and despair have already settled over the party.

Rev. Prof. Worrell made a practical plea for the support of missions in St. John's church, Portsmouth, yesterday.

Miss Isabel Bailey sang, with delightful effect, "The Queen of England," by Lane, in Queen street Methodist church last evening.

The members of the session and managers of Cooke's church met this evening to confer on certain improvements to the church.

In St. Paul's church last evening, Mrs. Batts, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Phillips sang as a trio, "Saviour, To Thy Dear Name We Raise."

Cooke's church male quartette—John Orr, W. Montgomery, H. W. Newman and W. Burton—rendered "Saviour, Lead Me Leo I Stray" during service in the church last evening.

The appeal of the Methodist mission board for funds to establish a station in the Klondyke, is meeting with a good response. The amount is over $1,300 and every mail brings additional contributions.

The Kingston presbytery meets in Cooke's church to-morrow. According to arrangements at the last session a public meeting will be held in the evening to mark the 250th anniversary of the compilation of the shorter catechism. Rev. Mr. Johnston, Marmora, and Rev. J. Binnion McDonald's Corne, will be two of the speakers.

The following notice was displayed on Saturday before a well-known house of worship in the city: "The ———— will be held their Quarter meeting Commence on Friday the 25th at 7:30 P.M. Saturday 2:30 and 7:30 P.M. On Sunday 1:30 and 4:30 P.M. By Preacher and Sacrament of the Lord's Supper Preacher, At 2:30 and 7 P.M. All Welcome."

A statistical report of the Catholic diocese of Ogdensburg for the past year shows that it embraces 102 priests, 124 churches, seventy-two stations, eighteen chapels, 162 nuns, fifteen ecclesiastical students, 133 orphans, seventeen parochial schools, two hospital and one home for the aged poor. During that time there were 3,231 baptisms and 629 marriages. The Catholic population of the diocese numbered 75,000.

IMMENSE SACRIFICES.

Sir Charles Tupper gave to the common, before the vote on the Yukon railway bill, an account of the immense, the tremendous, sacrifices which he made in accepting the leadership of the conservative party. He did not go into details, and he has left an astonished people in awe and darkness.

As high commissioner he had been tripping between Canada and England a good deal. Each election saw him mixed up in it, doing for the government what it was afraid to do for itself, in the way of promises, and he may be under the impression that with a change of government that offensive partisanship would have been condoned, and that he would have been allowed to swell around the continent under liberal auspices. That may be his impression even now, but it is not the impression of the liberal party.

Sir Charles came to Canada, presumably on business, when the members of the Bowell government were sparing or grasping for each other's throats. Sir Charles probably saw that if that thing went on they would all be put out of jobs, and he made the sacrifice of letting go an office, which was going any way, to take another, Sir Mackenzie's, without considering how much he was making by this sacrifice.

He did not improve things at all. The appeal to the people, in any case, was likely to go against the conservatives, and the situation was not helped by Sir Charles' appearance upon it. Where was his sacrifice, then? What was the use of his indulgence in this high-fliving in the attempt to explain away his vaccination upon a great question? A man of his greatness, his importance, his position, whose history is the history of confederation, backing down, changing his attitude, eating his words in order to retain the leadership! How absurd. Yet how true. Sir Charles sacrificed himself, his consistency (what he had of it), his influence, at the back of certain conservatives, and no talk of his can disguise the fact.

A MEMORIAL SERMON.

Dr. Ryckman's Tribute to the Late Peter McKim

The sermon in Queen street church last evening was a memorial of the late Peter Mc Kim, the veteran U.E. loyalist. Rev. Dr. Ryckman read as a scripture passage the XXVII chapter of Genesis, and took as his text the second and seven verse: "And one told Jacob, and said, behold thy son, Joseph, cometh unto thee: and Israel strengthened himself, and sat upon the bed. And as for me, when I came from Padan Rachel died by me in the land of Canaan in the way, when yet there was but a little way to come unto Ephrath; and I buried her there on the way of Ephrath, the same is Bethlehem."

Dr. Ryckman partially reviewed the history of Jacob, and thought in the history of the late P. McKim there existed somewhat of a parallel. In the joy and vicissitudes of Jacob's life, three prominent features were impressed upon him—God, love and grief. God met him at Luz and enlightened his soul and increased his love; the death of Rachel, his wife, caused him grief. The parallel in the life of P. McKim was his early conversion, when but nine years of age; a life partner sharing his joy and burdens for fifty years, and his grief over her death, which occurred four years ago. He deeply mourned her departure, and on his death bed he loved to talk of his deceased wife. The speaker traced the history of the McKim family, identified with that of Methodism, back some three hundred years, when the French drove the Dutch out of Holland. One band fled their way to Limerick, Ireland, and from there fifty of the Palatines came over to New York in the year 1761. One of the bands was a Mr. Embury, the first minister of the gospel in the state. Rev. Mr. Embury's wife was a Switzer, whose brother was the great grandfather of the late Peter McKim. The family, as well as the deceased, was characterized by industry, thrift, perseverance, honesty and hospitality.

W. T. Frittie, B.A., student at Queen's, will take a mission field in British Columbia for the summer months.

Rev. Prof. Worrell made a practical plea for the support of missions in St. John's church, Portsmouth, yesterday.

Miss Isabel Bailey sang, with delightful effect, "The Queen of England," by Lane, in Queen street Methodist church last evening.

Mr. McLean is entitled to his independence. There has been no attempt at dragging him into a support of the government. He went on the bandwagon, and no fault was found with him. He can keep on repeating the operation, and the only people to be concerned about it are his constituents in British Columbia.

The legislature will proceed with the consideration of the speech from the throne this afternoon. The reply will be moved by Mr. F. Fowler and seconded by Mr. Kenney.

The Crow's Nest Pass railway commissioners arrived in the city this morning and will sit this afternoon and to-morrow afternoon to hear any evidence that may be offered in reference to the railway line.

Will Be Glad To See Him.

Angus McLeod who has represented most of the prominent bicycle firms will this year ride to victory the Gordon wheel. It is reported he is in excellent shape and will be sure to lower his world-wide records. His friends in Kingston are glad to hear of his success and will be pleased to have him visit Kingston again.

Bicycle Show.

With about six inches of mud on the street and the air surcharged with onion effluvia, things are not as pleasant as they might be in Belleville.

The police court this morning M. McLean paid a fine of three dollars and costs. He was arrested on Saturday for drunkenness.
