It's pardonable pride in a man to want good style in the clothing he wears. Very often the high-priced tailor pulls the wool over his eyes in asserting that his prices are a warrant of style and goodness. This house has proved the fallacy of the argument a thousand times and in a thousand ways, and all the difference we've been able to discover in it is the difference in the price you pay him and the price you pay here, with odds in favor of our style and our quality as often on our side as his. We only guarantee to satisfy you. You don't demand any more of anybedy, anywhere, anytime, for anything. Try us. Look for the price in plain figures-$8, $10, $12, $15.
