Behind the Windows.

Yesterday afternoon H. H. Richardson, manager for the Kingston skating and curling club, took action regarding the breaking of windows in both the curling and skating rinks. The names of the persons having been secured they were handed over to a policeman who visited the rink at the boys' park. The result was that the boys' park was closed for some time, and the broken glass was removed by the boys, who were then set to work on the rink.

Caring For Convicts.
The change in the methods of caring for the convicts in Georgia promises to be very profitable one for the state, and may result also in better treatment of the prisoners. Under the old arrangement, as was shown in the report of a legislative commission last winter, the convicts were starved and brutally treated by the lessees, who had entire charge of them, even to the extent of punishing them. By the new law control is placed in the hands of a commission, who is to regulate their hours of labor, the manner and extent of their punishment, the variety, quality, and quantity of their food, and the character of their clothing, and also to require their proper care in other respects. The lease system remains, but it is placed on a business basis in the hands of the commission, with the result that the 1,800 convicts are to be hired out for about $178,000 a year, instead of the paltry $25,000 received under the old arrangement. Expenses are largely increased, of course, because of the salaries of the commissioners and the wages paid to guards, doctors, and other officers, but, estimating this liberally, the commissioners are looking forward happily to a net revenue of over $100,000 a year. There has been loud complaint in the state over the size of the tax rate, and it will be interesting to watch the effect on juries of this expectation of revenue without taxation.

The Bachelor Girl.
"She is wise in one respect, is this bachelor girl," Ruth Ashmore writes in the April Ladies' Home Journal. "She has learned the art of gathering years gracefully. She appreciates as she loses her youth that she must pay more regard to her appearance, and that in life's picture she must always be a figure that looks well. Here, the bachelor girl rises superior to the old maid, for with all the old maid's gentleness she was a bit inclined to dowdiness. The bachelor girl impresses you, when you meet her, with her naturalness. Perhaps, as you grow to know her well, you may wish that her natural manner did not tend toward brusqueness, but at least she is truthful. She is a woman of business, and she is gradually learning that to succeed, alike in business and in society, she must follow the example of her brother, and not carry her workaday worries or joys into her social life. She must learn the art of being a grub or a butterfly as time and place demand. She is fond of pleasure, and, being healthy and happy, she is kind and charitable."

Anglo-Saxon Unity.

Principal Grant in Queen's Quarterly.
The progress of events, both in this immediate neighborhood and on the other side of the globe, is making it evident to thoughtful men that the future of the world depends upon a good understanding between Britain and the states. A formal alliance is not needed. Their interest is the same, and so is their heart. Their greatest interest is peace, and the thought, or rather passion, which stirs them is the welfare of humanity by the extension of liberty, the reign of law and the establishment of justice.

PLANS OF THE PRESIDENT.

SPAIN WILL BE ASKED TO DECLARE HERSELF.

Her Refusal to Evacuate Cuba Will Be The Signal For Vigorous Action—An Amendment That Will Be Voted And Inoperative—Things Said To Be Tranquil At Havana.
WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Washington Post's summary of the situation, published in to-day's issue, includes the following statement: "Immediately the navy will issue an ultimatum to Spain giving her twenty-four hours, possibly forty-eight, within which to answer whether she will peacefully withdraw her troops and flag from Cuba. Her refusal to evacuate the island—which is of course looked for—will be the signal for action on the part of this government and that action will be the vigorous use of both our naval and land forces. The Post makes this statement on the highest possible authority, the course of action indicated having been decided on at yesterday's cabinet meeting."
"Should the resolution reach the president, accompanied by the amendment recognizing the republic of Cuba, the president will sign them but in a brief message to congress he will hold that the constitution prerogative vested in the president to recognize other governments, cannot be taken away and that the amendment is therefore void and inoperative."

All Tranquil At Havana.
LONDON, April 16.—As indicating the present view here on the Spanish-American crisis the betting at Lloyd's for and against war is even.
MADRID, April 16.—An official despatch from Havana says: "Perfect tranquility prevails on the island. All political parties are more united than ever, and are rallying round the government and the flag. The journals are printing patriotic articles."
They are Anxiously.
LONDON, April 16.—The Daily Chronicle's Washington correspondent says the powers, with the exception of England, are so anxious at congress for ignoring Spain's offer of armistice that they are conferring with a view to concerted action.

Lennox county takes its name from Charles Lennox, duke of Richmond, a descendant of King Charles II. and the duchess of Portsmouth, who was a member of the Shelburne government in 1782. It is confounded with his nephew, the duke of Richmond, who fought the duel with prince Frederick, and whose wife gave the grand hall at Brussels on the eve of the battle of Waterloo, celebrated by Byron in Childe Harold: "There was a sound of revelry by night, And Belgium's capital was gathered there, Her beauty and her chivalry."
And whose tragic death from hydrophobia, in 1819, when he was governor-general of Canada, will be recalled. The other titles of this family, earl of March and baron Methuen, are commemorated in the names of townships of Carleton and Peterborough counties.

Addington county was named from Henry Addington, viscount Sidmouth, who was speaker of the house of commons from 1787 to 1801, and afterwards chancellor of the exchequer and premier of England. Macaulay says that Addington was universally admitted to have been the best speaker that had sat in the chair since the retirement of Onslow. But nature had not bestowed on him very vigorous faculties. He was a favorite with the king, whom he resembled in narrowness of mind, and to whom he was more obsequious than Pitt had ever been. But Addington took his elevation (to the premiership) quite seriously, and considered himself as one of the great triumvirate of English statesmen, as worthy to make a third with Pitt and Fox.

Queen Victoria For Peace.
LONDON, April 16.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The news published in this morning's Imperial from its London correspondent concerning the deep interest taken by queen Victoria, her earnest desire for peace and her personal endeavor in favor of its preservation, has been read here with the greatest interest. A member of the cabinet said to-day Spain feels grateful for these endeavors. The British government can excite a great influence in favor of peace if it cares to be so persuaded. As it is the United States are simply violating in the most brutal manner all international rights in their dealings with us. Public opinion, however, looks for nothing from England respecting that does the people of this country as well as its own for the moment for siding rather with the United States."

Debating In The Senate.
WASHINGTON, April 16.—The senate convened sharp at ten o'clock and after the transaction of some routine business, the resolution of the foreign relations committee was laid before the senate.
All the senators approve of action, the only difference being as to the methods used, the general desire being to place the United States in a favorable position before the people of this country as well as before the civilized nations of the world.
It is expected the minority report recognizing the independence of the Cuban republic will be passed.
At 1:40 p.m. the house took a recess until ten o'clock Monday morning.
President McKinley will probably not have the joint resolution in his hands until Tuesday. He will then sign the resolution and give Spain twenty-four hours to answer. If Spain refuses to evacuate Cuba the first gun will probably be fired on Thursday.

Manifesto Issued.

MADRID, April 16.—The Cuban cabinet has addressed a manifesto to the queen regent offering unconditional assistance in defence of Spain and in behalf of the regeneration of Cuba.
Senor Sagasta, premier, presented the manifesto to her majesty as soon as it was received. It expresses the warmest and most enthusiastic spirit to the Spanish government.

A Bomb Discovered.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The orders issued some days ago excluding the public from the navy yards are being more rigidly enforced than heretofore and to-day the sentries at the gates refuse even to forward a request for admission.
It is stated that the government has reason to suspect danger to the works from persons in the pay in sympathy with Spain.
A bomb discovered in the coal supplies at the navy yard, and this has led to the exclusion of all visitors.

From New York comes a report that Admiral Buxton has received an anonymous letter, warning him that Spanish agents were waiting in that city to strike a blow at Spain as soon as hostilities were opened, and that the operations of these agents would be on the Brooklyn navy yard and on the powder magazines at Dover, N. J., and on several ship yards. Secret service detectives have been instructed to take preventive measures.

ROME, April 16.—The foreign office declares it absolutely untrue that the powers have even discussed any proposition of concrete action in the Hispano-United States dispute. So far they have merely decided for the moment to offer no further intervention as a body. Italy, however, has proposed that Russia, a recognized disinterested nation, should use its office to induce the United States to accept a middle course—one less vigorous in its actions. This the other powers have heartily approved.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 16.—A Spanish torpedo flotilla is reported to be in the channel.
New York, April 16.—The Spanish consul at Jacksonville, Fla., has been ordered to leave as once.
New York, April 16.—A new bill has been drafted by the war department for introduction in congress at once authorizing the president to enlist volunteers to the number of 100,000.
There is renewed activity on the part of the naval auxiliary board, and a dozen of the largest tugs in this port will be purchased as soon as war is certain and sent south to join the fleet.

CAIRO, April 16.—The American consulate inow under guard owing to attempted disturbance. The students of the school of medicine carrying a flag attempted to make a manifestation here yesterday evening. The police interfered and arrested two of the students. As a result the consulate has been placed under guard.

VICTORIA'S OWN MEDIATION.

Lord Salisbury's Health—One Question Before The London Public And That Is, War Or Peace—Sir Baden Powell Wants Britain to Declare That She Will Not Allow The Declaration of Paris To Be Set Aside.

LONDON, April 16.—There is but one question before the public in London, war or peace, and everybody discusses it more or less intelligently, yet always friendly disposed towards war in the United States. The queen, it is understood, has watched with deep concern the course of the crisis, special service telegrams having apprised her majesty of every turn of the diplomatic campaign between the arrival of the London papers on one day and those of the day following. Her majesty has consulted the marquis of Salisbury as to the possibility of averting war, and it is announced here, "when the secret pages of our foreign office are made public it will be found that her majesty's personal mediation reached both the queen regent of Spain and president McKinley."

The Times presents a letter from Sir Baden Powell, M.P., asking why Great Britain should not plainly declare that she would not allow the declaration of Paris to be set aside and that privateers would be treated as pirates if they touched British ships, and in any case would be excluded from British ports.
The Times commenting on the letter says: "We can see no reason why the powers which signed the declaration of Paris should not join in this assertion of the policy now recognized by the civilized world for over forty years."
"In any case our interests are so valued that we have a right to act for ourselves. There is no reason to believe that the United States would resist the assertion of the principles, and Spain can hardly refuse to submit to rules to which she voluntarily submitted during the war with France in 1823."

Though the marquis of Salisbury well deserved a rest, he is not out of touch with diplomacy, but is kept constantly informed of the progress of all negotiations and has succeeded in doing a bit of diplomacy on his own account since he left England. It is asserted that the premier has managed to materially advance the West African negotiations. In fact, it is said that they have been sufficiently advanced to give reason to believe that a satisfactory settlement will be announced when parliament re-assembles on Monday. On the re-assembling of the house of commons its first business will be that of supply.

The marquis of Salisbury will return to England on May 3d, when, club gossip asserts, he will resign the lord-wardenship of the cinque ports, and be succeeded as lord-warder by lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India. Although the premier is better and able to walk about, retaining Riviera travellers say he evidently does so with much difficulty, and only by leaning on his private secretary. It is added that the marquis stoops more than usual and that his face has not retained the ruddy hue, which is habitual in his case when in good health.

From Egypt comes reports of the discovery at Thebes of the tombs of Amenophis II, who reigned in 1556, B.C. of Thothmes III, of Amenophis III and Ramesses I, II, III. All the bodies are said to be in a splendid state of preservation.
Wilhelmina, queen regent of Holland, is in Paris, innocently, on her way to Cannes, where she is to visit the duchess of Albany. This is the first time queen Wilhelmina has been in Paris and she is said to be delighted. She will be received by president Faure on her return.

It is semi-officially announced that the duke and duchess of York will make a tour of every British colony in 1899, travelling on board the new royal yacht.
The week's discoveries have been most interesting. Eychenroki, the electrician of Lemberg, claims to have discovered an electric fluid which he calls "Electroid." The discovery has caused a great sensation on the continent. He obtained it by electrolysis, but it is not identical with electricity. Its effects are declared to be startling, producing light and causing Geisler tubes to emit fluorescent rays. It works photo-chemically, rotates in mid-air, produces whirlpools in water and kills bacteria. Metal and glass thereby can be charged with electricity, and the magnetic needle changes direction under its influence.

The czar presented the prince of Montenegro with an Easter gift of 30,000 repeating-rifles and 25,000 cartridges.
The princess Louise of Sax-Coburg and Gotha, who eloped from her husband, prince Philip of Sax-Coburg and Gotha, and who has been residing with Lieut. Maitland on the latter's estate in Grosvenor, has been ordered to leave the Austrian dominions.
The duke and duchess of Marlborough have given up the idea of a political salon. They will not take a town house during the season but will reside in Blenheim.
Hundreds of forthcoming weddings are announced, among them being that of the marquis Camden to lady Joan Neville, second son of the marquis of Abergavenny; Sir Ralph Barrett Blose to Miss Frideska Knard; the Rev. E. A. Villiers, nephew of lord Amherst of Hackney, to lady Elaine Guesse, daughter of lord Wimborne; Capt. Charles FitzClarence, great-grandson of king William IV, to lady Violet Churchill, daughter of the late lord Alfred Spencer Churchill and Sir William Orr Ewing, member of parliament for Ayrshire, to lady Augusta Berli, daughter of the earl of Glasgow.

The Bennett steering balloon was successfully tried at the Crystal Palace on Monday. It is not intended to steer against the wind so much as to modify the course of a balloon which, sailing with the wind, in the same manner as affected by the sails of a ship.
