THE FIFTH CLASS AGAIN.

At a meeting in Toronto Junction, which was attended by several representative men, a paper was read on the fifth form in the public schools. Letters were read from the deputy minister of education and others to the effect that the fifth form should be taught, and without fees.

Assuredly, as part of the public school system, the fifth class should be free, but in Kingston it is taught in the collegiate inetitute, and on the same terms as the other classes. Death Of Mrs. John Davis. Last night death came to Mrs. John THE LATE PETER W. DAY.

Death Hastened As a Result Of a Serious

Another old resident of the county pass. ed away last evening in the person of Peter W. Day. Death was hastened by an accident which occurred on the morning of May 23rd. Mr. Day was driving along took fright at a passing train, running away and throwing Mr. Day out, injuring his spine. Partial paralysis was the result, the sufferer lingering until last night when death intervened. Deceased was in his seventy fifth year.

Peter W. Day was one of the best known residents of the county, wherein he was born and spent his entire life. His parents were United Empire loyalists, securing a splendid farm on the Front road, about four miles from the city. Here it was that l'eter was born and reared.

When a young man his father purchased a farm on the Bath road and at "Spruce Lawn" spent the remainder of his life. He married Miss Mary Stroud, six children blessing the union. Of these five are alive : Mrs. C. J. White, Tweed; Mrs. J. H. McEwen, Montreal; Stanley Day, merchant, New York; Arthur and a younger daughter who reside at home, and by the aged partner of his life.
