THE FRANCHISE ACT.

If the senate is to be supported by the conservative party in its blocking of the franchise bill, how would it be for the government to remove every conservative revising officer, replace him with a liberal, and give the conservatives a stiff dose of their own medicine? It would be righteous retribution.—Star (Toronto).

No, it would not. The liberals do not want a reform in the franchise law in that way. Every one who knows anything about it knows that as it stood, as it was orated, as it was capable of being applied, it was something that needed a change. This change was warranted by every ground that could appeal to reason or common sense. The obstructiveness of the senate does not suggest a resort to wickedness surpassing anything attempted by the conservatives. It is not a maxim of the liberals that they should go one better than the Tories on any account. It is the misfortune of the party that it is already accused of doing that; it would be a greater misfortune to have so erroneous an idea sedulously cultivated. Whether the franchise law is amended as the government desires it, or it is left as it is, it is the duty of the house to see that it is fairly administered and that the services are dispensed with of any one whose record as a revising officer is at all objectionable. The list of revising officers needs looking over, and a better enforcement of the law is the only "retribution" the electors can desire. A resort to electoral impurity is not justified as an object lesson. It would not do the senate any good.

A SHOCKING SCANDAL.

The scandal of the year, so far as parliament is concerned, is that brought to light by the commissioners sent to enquire into the condition of those who were employed by the Canada Pacific railway company upon its Crow's Nest Pass extension. Complaint was made some months ago that slavery, in all its essentials, had been established, and the matter was considered grave enough to warrant the appointment of Judge Dugas, Frank Podley and John Appleton, who proceeded to the Crow's Nest Pass and went into the facts most thoroughly. The result is a report which has shocked all who have read it. It indicates a condition of things which is almost past belief.

Men were induced to enter the employ of the contractors who carried to distant points and forced to live without proper food and shelter. They were charged for accommodation so much that they could not save anything. The money paid them for labour was really taken from them. To stop work was to invite starvation. They could not beg, could not buy without means, and could not travel to civilization. They were abandoned to their fate, with no intent and purpose. "If they quit work," says one, who read the evidence collected by the commission, "instructions were forwarded to camps through which they passed to refuse them food. Some subsisted upon the waste flung from car windows, and which they were lucky enough to find." To turn such a drift under the circumstances meant the most dreadful suffering. Those who remained loyal to the management under their serfdom had to lodge in filthy camps, sometimes doing without water for washing, and without heat, (sleeping on the bare rock), and without the covering of a blanket. When they took sick they suffered the more, as medical assistance was light and inadequate. Two men died of diphtheria and under circumstances that suggested to one member of parliament that they had been murdered.

Nor is this all. The idea was, apparently, to do these men out of all they earned. So they were charged outrageous prices for what they received, and charged for what they did not receive in food and clothing; they were charged with riding to and from their work; they had to accept any wages that were given; they had not even a right to object to ill usage, and when they did they were arrested and still further imposed upon. In fact there is nothing like this experience on record in Canada.

The report, ordered by the government, has come before parliament, and it has inspired the sharpest kind of criticism. The railway company is not held blameless. It may not be directly guilty of the barbarities practiced upon the men, but the contractors would not have dared to inflict them had it not been for the acquiescence of the company. Moreover, it is alleged that the company was appealed to, and to no purpose. It is not liable for the consequences! Surely, and the premier does well to promise that at the close of the session he will give the matter his attention, and that so far as possible the government will see that justice is done. It holds the subsidy, $11,000 per mile, granted by parliament, or most of it, to the company, and it is called upon to enquire if it is not itself involved through the action of its officials, one of whom is alleged to have hired the men the contractors abused while another refused to put into motion the machinery by which some of the scandals could have been avoided.

The indictment of Mr. Robertson, M.P., should make the company wince. He charged that its agent or engineer had gone to the Crow's Nest Pass with a ready-made system of tyranny, cruelty and oppression; that helpless men were deceived from home and robbed of their pennies; that robbery and plunder were the programs of the company; that according to the commissioners the C.P.R. had accumulated power in order to murder the citizens of this country; that the president of the company was like the late Boss Tweed, who, replying to a charge of great wrongdoing, asked, "What are you going to do about it?" Several members said the revelations were shocking indeed.

Never has there been such a pronounced sentiment against a great corporation as this report has occasioned. The company that has fared so well at the hands of the people, that has been given a princely donation towards this very railway extension, cannot afford to let the matter drop. Its good name is at stake. Its hope for the further consideration of the government and people depends upon its action in this case, upon its atonement for every wrong that has been committed, upon such evidence as it can offer that it does not approve of the atrocities practiced upon the men engaged on its works. It should lead in this matter and without delay. But the government has a duty to perform, and it is to see that such scandals are not repeated, and they will not be with a railway commission, for the creation of which the country demands.

ADDRESS TO EXCELLENCIES adopted at the Morning Sitting of the House of Commons. OTTAWA, June 8.—When the house of commons met today Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved an address to be presented to the governor general, on the occasion of his approaching departure from Canada.

Mr. Foster, in seconding the motion, admitted there was a constitutional difference of opinion between the leader of the conservative party and the governor general, and the conservative party entirely agreed with the position taken by Sir Charles Tupper, but he did not consider that they should prevent acknowledging and appreciating the many excellencies which characterized the governor-general's administration in Canada. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Foster asked the premier if he was favorable to a subsidy for a bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he was and might ask his colleagues for a subsidy. Mr. Fielding moved the house into committee on a resolution to provide $284,000, the cost of the erection and furnishing the house at Winnipeg. There was another item of $100,000 which Manitoba claimed since 1884, but the government decided not to open up the settlement of 1885, which was held to be final. Dr. Sprague objected to the payment of the amount and held that it was part of the school question. The resolution passed. Upon the vote of $300 to pay the salaries of the Kingston penitentiary for his services as superintendent of the insane ward Mr. Quinn, Montreal, in the house criticized the methods of the commission which investigated the affairs of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary and defended ex-warden Quimet, who was dismissed as a result of the disclosures at the latter institution. Mr. Fitzpatrick showed that Mr. Quimet given ample opportunity to answer the charges made against him. It had been proved by the evidence, he said, that not and revolts had become an established thing at St. Vincent de Paul and that wholesale stealing was going on there. Amongst other things brought out was that accounts were paid twice and that $65,000 worth of stone paid for was not accounted for. The senate amendments to the franchise bill were read a second time, and a few of them which Mr. Fitzpatrick described as unnecessary but harmful were concurred in. Those which provide for an appeal to a judge in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Manitoba the solicitor general refused to accept and moved that they be not concurred in. Mr. Foster asked that the motion be allowed to stand as a notice of motion, so that the members could become acquainted with the reasons stated in it. Mr. Fielding moved the house into committee on a resolution to provide for the transfer of $300,000 to the government of Manitoba for the purpose of education out of the school trust fund. In answer to Mr. Foster the minister of finance said that parliament would require the money to be spent for school purposes, but it would be left to the Manitoba legislature to say how it should be applied. Mr. LaRiviere, of Provence, opposed the proposal. He said that it was never intended that this fund should be diminished by drafts upon the capital. He declared that the government of Manitoba did not propose to apply the $300,000 to school purposes, but they wanted the money to meet a deficit on account of public funds. The school resolution which had taken up the whole afternoon session was reported. A bill in accordance with it was then read.

The total membership is 40,630, a slight increase. Sunday school scholars aggregate the same number. The total missionary giving is $27,600. Rev. F. B. Stratton was elected delegate to the general board of missions. The next conference is to be held in Belleville.

Messrs. H. McLennan, D. J. Thomson and E. M. Britton, Q.C., M.P., arrived in the city today for the purpose of attending the meeting of the civic elevator committee, re the M. T. company's elevator.

CONFERENCE CLOSED.

The Fabrics Results Given Out—Memorial Committee's Report. MONTREAL, June 8.—At the Methodist conference the memorial committee reported that the general conference be asked to inaugurate a framer system of transfers. The report was also in favor of a four years' term without restriction. The statistical committee reported a membership for the conference of 36,845. During the year there had been 2,046 revivals, besides 1,732 names dropped because of deaths or other causes. There had been 2,441 infant baptisms and 209 adult baptisms. The missionary subscriptions were $51,079, an increase over last year of $6,858. The treasurer of the superannuation fund reported the subscriptions for the year to be $13,558. A committee consisting of the chairman of the district, Rev. Hugh Watson, Dr. Shaw, G. Huxtable, Messrs J. H. Carson and Charles Morton was appointed with power to act to secure justice for the Methodists among the Oka Indians. These are no longer outwardly persecuted by the seminary, but in an insidious way their position is rendered intolerable. For instance, the seminary lends the Indians money at fourteen per cent. Should the latter not be forthcoming the lands of the Indians are taken. A considerable portion of the land has been taken away, and there is every likelihood that the Indians will become a public charity. The conference decided to meet next year in Brockville. MONTREAL, Que., June 9.—The changes made by the stationing committee in the final draft adopted by the Methodist conference in districts namely, are as follows: Montreal district—Montreal (Mountain street), William Jackson, D.D.; Montreal (West End), David Winter; Montreal (Rochelag), E. The above makes no note of those placed on the first draft which include J. E. Lancelot at St. John's street church, J. Elliott at Queen street and Dr. Griffith at Quebec.

Death of An Old Lady. An aged member of U. E. I. family has passed away in the person of Mrs. Jonathan Parrott whose maiden name was Esther Simmons. The aged lady has lived for some years past with Mrs. Anselmino, 125 Alfred street. She passed away early this morning at the ripe old age of ninety one years, having been born in Ernestown township on 13th July, 1807. Her first husband was David McGuin, her second husband Jonathan Parrott whom she has survived many years. The deceased drew land as the daughter of a U. E. I. loyalist and was related to several U. E. I. loyalist families in Ernestown township. She was in possession of her faculties until the last moment, was a member of the Methodist church and enjoyed comparatively good health throughout her old age until the inevitable call came.

Arrangements At Bath. At a special meeting of the sports committee, held on Thursday evening, in connection with the centennial of St. John's church, Bath, to take place Wednesday next, June 15th, it was unanimously decided to offer a football to the victorious team in the match to be played that day. The contending clubs are Napanee vs. Adolphustown. A great deal of interest is centred in the match.

Here On A Visit. Robert Reeve, Albert street, Williamsburg, is at present enjoying a visit from his brother Frederick, at his bride of Boston. They have come this way on their honeymoon tour. They were married in Boston on May 25th. Frederick Reeve has been away from Kingston six years. He has been working the last two years in Boston.

Found Dead In A Chair. LONDON, Ont., June 9.—Steven Washington dropped dead while sitting on the verandah of his niece's residence. Mr. Washington, who was eighty-five years of age, was a resident of Bowmanville and was paying a visit to his niece, Mrs. Bruce. He was subject to fainting spells.

One of the officials of the Farmers' elevator company, Brandon, Man., speculated in Chicago wheat, losing some $10,000, and as a result farmers who sold wheat at recent high prices have not received their money. The members may have to settle out of their own pockets.

The North-Western newspaper, of Winnipeg, is defunct and the Morning Telegram appeared in its stead as a straight conservative paper.
