Just now I said that an insane stock does not always beget an insane progeny. It often does something worse. It very frequently produces the moral imbecile or the well developed criminal, that is the true criminal who is just as much the outcome of a bad heredity as any other degenerate type of the human race. What is the moral imbecile? some may ask, others may wish to deny his existence and tell me that we are supplying a cloak for the vicious and bad of our race. Be patient and I will endeavor to describe

You recognize that it is more highly developed in some than in others, but you can scarcely imagine it almost absent in any one. Sad it is, such is the fact and never yet have I found such a case without heredity to account for the dreadful defect. Here is one case culled a very small child he seemed backward, was not able to walk or talk as soon as other children. As a very little fellow he showed some intellectual defect, and development was retarded in every way. At the time the moral sense should have appeared it was absent, and soon he gave evidence of inability to grasp the ordinary Vamilians of right and wrong, and then conceptions of right and wrong, and then he did not understand their importance. That time never Paints, came to P. D.; he not only killed flies and insects, but as he grew able to toddle about chopped off the heads of chickens and maimed anything that could to this monster. As he grew older he attempted to smother his baby brother and could not be made to understand that he was doing wrong. His list of atrocities grew with dreadful rapidity and his thirst for blood developed apace. He was a veritable fiend. He disembowelled horses and revelled in their suffering. Finally he nearly killed a little girl and was sentenc ed to death. The sentence was not car-

If I were to show him to you there would be surprise on every face—gentle, amiable in manner, looks and conversation, and with ability to quote scripture that would make you marvel. Is he to be blamed? Many would say yes. I say no; because he is not bad in the true sense, we cannot fairly condemn a man for not having what it is not within his power to gain, and if he is born without moral sense no human agency can supply him with the gift divine.
