If Kingston Wants a Carriage Factory Its Citizens Must Subscribe.

Mr. Walton, late manager of the Gananoque carriage company, says that if he cannot prove to investors that the business of a carriage company established in Kingston will pay ten per cent. he does not desire the scheme to go through. It is likely that by Wednesday sufficient stock will be subscribed to organize a carriage company here. Mr. Walton, as manager of the Gananoque works, made it a success under many disadvantages and he is confident he can make a Kingston carriage works a greater success than the Gananoque concern. As a business man he comes with first-class credentials, and even if he did not possess these he has an extensive reputation among dealers in carriages in Canada and America. It is hoped men of means will be convinced that there is money in the business under his management and that he will have no trouble in organizing a company with a sufficient capital. The matter will have to be settled during the next forty-eight hours. Mr. Walton has a big offer from capitalists in Quebec, which he will have to answer in a few days. He would rather remain in Ontario.

About $21,000 has already been subscribed. The company wants only $9,000 more, and citizens now have this matter under consideration. The works are to be located in Mr. Chadwick's building, the old Stevenson piano factory, and to be started at once.

WAS BORN IN KINGSTON

MELANCHOLY TIDINGS, CARRIED TO A MAN'S RELATIVES

Barrister Christie, Drowned in French River, Was the Son of Kingstonians, Who Lived Here Forty Years Ago—The News Given to His Friends.

A melancholy interest attaches in Kingston to the death by drowning of Donald Malcolm Christie, of Chatham, on the French river. It is conjectured that he, with others were drowned on Aug. 20th while descending rapids. Deceased, forty-four years of age, was a native of Kingston, having been born here a couple of weeks after the decease of his father in 1850. His father, Donald Christie, was a very prominent man in Kingston in the forties. He was a grocer and kept a store on the market square about where the Collendar hotel stands. He was one of the first Oddfellows in Kingston, having joined the order in 1846 at its inception by Mr. Dickson (father of C. Dickson, of the inland revenue office) along with the late Sir John A. Macdonald. Mrs. Christie the aged widow, a resident of Chatham and cared for by her lamented son, a barrister of much local fame, was named White and a representative of a family well known in the forties, one of the kin being a well esteemed school teacher. On the death of Mr. Christie his widow and her son went to Guelph, where the Whites had meantime located and there Donald was educated and graduated as a barrister. He located in Chatham and soon became senior partner of the law firm of Christie & Lewis, a concern of much repute. Mr. Christie remained a bachelor, caring for his mother, who is now over seventy-five years of age. Deceased was one of the best canoeists on the continent, and had already made many long voyages of exploration in the west and far north. Last year he made an expedition over the same ground which has proven his death-trap. With him on the fatal trip were Arthur Northwood, son of John Northwood, Chatham, a graduate of Toronto university, and who had just secured the position of science master at Ottawa collegiate institute, and George Rispin, brother of the Grand Trunk railway city ticket agent in Chatham and a young man of about twenty-five years.

A WHIG reporter carried the sad news to an anxious family yesterday—the Misses McMillan, University avenue, and Mrs. J. W. Madden, Alfred street, cousins of Mr. Christie. Their mother, the late Mrs. Donald McMillan, was a sister of Donald Christie, sr. The reporter also found there Mrs. M. McKendrick, of Kincardine, an aunt of the deceased and also of the Misses McMillan. She had been in Montreal and on her return visited here. On Saturday she received telegrams from her son, who asked about her whereabouts, and this caused her concern until she learned of the reported absence of her nephew. She thinks her son has gone to North Bay to assist in the search for the bodies of the lost men. She said the deceased was a noble man, devoted to his mother and business. He was also greatly elated over his canoeing trips—they added zest and exhilaration to his life. His stories of his adventures were entertaining. It was deplorably sad that one of these outings should cause his death, and that too when he was the protector and supporter of his mother in her declining years. Her grief must be almost inconsolable. Mrs. McKendrick will proceed to Chatham. The father and sister of the deceased canoeist are buried in Cataraqui cemetery, and it is probable the remains of the deceased, if found, will be brought here for interment.

Deceased was president of the West Kent reform association, an officer of St. Andrew's church, a member of various societies and an ex-alderman.

THE M'KENNY CASE.

It is Possible He Had a Good Life Insurance—Moans Heard.

It now transpires that the unfortunate man, Thomas McKenny, drowned in the harbor the other night, may possibly carry a large life insurance. Mrs. McKenny was looking through her son's trunk the other day when she accidentally ran across a letter from the Provident fund society, of New York city, dated Dec. 11th, 1893. The letter was from a man who signed himself H. B. Peter and who had charge of the Lowville, N.Y., agency. The letter told McKenny that his next fees would be due in March. It amounted to $2.50. The writer told McKenny that if accident occurred to him to not fail in letting the head office at 29 Broadway, New York, know of it. On one corner of the letter is a statement showing the amounts due in different cases. For the loss of life the insurer can get as high as $10,000. The question now is whether McKenny was in good standing with the company at the time of death. The case is worth looking into and James Norris, upon direction of Mrs. McKenny, will have the matter investigated.

The body of the unfortunate man has not yet been recovered. His chum, Braun, has not yet been heard of since he took the mail boat for Montreal. Braun's actions are certainly suspicious. Every effort will now be made to find the body. A reward of $50 is offered for its recovery.

Major McGill's family, at the military college, heard moaning for a long time on the night of McKenny's drowning, thinking at first it was a loon. There were no cries for help and after listening for a long time they went back to bed. This was about two hours before Braun was picked up. The inference is that it was not a veritable accident.

Excursions Down The River.

The excursions down the river on the steamers Maud and Hero yesterday were well patronized. There were over 200 passengers on the Hero. The weather was balmy and the trip very comfortable. A new and pleasing route through the islands enabled the passengers to see their beauty just before they fade under the autumn frosts. Many of the residents have gone to their homes in the cities and their island homes look forlorn. The stewards' departments were a favorite place for an hour and the excursionists were refreshed by an excellent bill of fare. On the way home the steamer Maud was passed, but the skipper of the Hero solemnly vowed there was no race.

John Anderson's Wealth.

It was announced at the death of John Anderson, the Toronto stamp collector who ended his life in Kingston penitentiary, that as there were no heirs the estate, said to be valued at $40,000, would revert to the crown. Since then, however, claimants have turned up from Scotland and two sisters at Watertown, N.Y. The attorney-general's department has been notified and it has been decided to allow the trusts corporation of Ontario to administer the estate. The value of the estate is said to be exaggerated.

He thinks Bobcaygeon is a fine place in which to spend summer holidays.

Metcalfe For Postmaster.

Toronto News.

There is an undercurrent feeling in Kingston that J. H. Metcalfe, M.P., will be the next postmaster of Kingston. James Shannon, the present postmaster, is an old man and is growing feeble. He will be superannuated, it is said, and J. H. Metcalfe will be given the position. This manoeuvre will be carried out in order to make room for a new conservative candidate in the person of ex-mayor Donald M. McIntyre, who is looked upon as the strongest man in the party at present, and also as the next member for Kingston. He was offered the nomination for the legislature but would not accept it, so it was given to Dr. Smythe. Mr. McIntyre, although a young man, is well-known in the political arena. He is a clear and forcible speaker and is, besides, very popular with the electors.

A large excursion party came to the city, yesterday, from Ottawa, on the str. Empire State.

A THIRD TIME THEY MET

AND THE RESULT WAS STILL A DRAW.

The Crescents and Maple Leafs Have a Game on the Cricket Field—The Bicycle Races at Belleville—Stabbed a Horse—Crowds at Asylum Park.

At two o'clock referee Haney started the lacrosse match on the cricket field with the following players facing up:

CRESCENTS.		MAPLE LEAFS.
Dunlop	Goal	Lawlor
D. Stone	Point	Coulson
Farrell	Cover Point	Hazlett
Carmichael, Shaw, Pannell	Defence	Nicholson, Gallivan, Clark
Reyner	Centre	Wartman
Lamb, Ainsley, Porter	Home Field	Atkinson, J. Brooks, D. Brooks
M. Murray	Outside Home	Kennedy
R. Murray	Inside Home	H. Evans
N. McCaig	Field Captain	W. J. Macleod

After about five minutes of rough, wild playing on both sides a goal was counted for the Leafs. Then the Crescents steadied down and in fifteen minutes had tied their opponents, making the score one each. Both sides now started in to win and a good exhibition of play was given, but the combined attacks of the Crescents soon told and ere long they had two goals to their credit. Again the ball was started to finish out time, the play being mostly confined to the Leafs' goal and behind the crowd which persisted in getting in the players' way, and with just three minutes to play the Leafs made a spurt down and J. Brooks scored by a pretty shot. Each side worked hard to score the winning game but in vain, as the referee blew his whistle promptly at 3:25 o'clock, the baseballers being in wait to start their match.

This makes the third drawn game for these teams this season, and a great many think they should have been given a chance to finish. Good playing was given by both teams and individual mention is unnecessary. The Leafs are a very much heavier team but the Crescents are still confident that it will be a different result next time.

Catching The Greasy Pig.

The catching of the greasy pig was an exciting affair. There were probably a couple of thousand young fellows in the chase. Young McKeen, who works for Nicholson, the butcher, was cute enough to have a couple of pockets full of sand and when the pig came his way he took a couple of handfuls and in this way guarded against slipping. He caught the pig and held on to it. To catch was to keep and to-day he will have pork stake.

Stabbed a Horse.

It was estimated that there were between 6,000 and 7,000 people in the cricket field yesterday afternoon. The marshals had a big time keeping the crowd back so as to give the baseballers a chance. Young McKeen and McCammon were on horse back. A dastardly act was that of a man in the crowd who lunged McKeen's horse with a knife, cutting in on the left flank. The animal bled profusely. If the criminal could be found out he should be prosecuted.

A Huge Success.

The electric street car service was not equal to the patronage which was extended last evening. As many more cars as was in operation could have been filled. Hundreds of people who wanted to ride had to walk to their homes. The entertainment at the asylum grounds was a howling success. The 14th batt. band was on the grounds and gave an excellent programme. The display of fire works, while the music was in progress, made the people feel happy. There were so many spectators that the cars were engaged until nearly midnight drawing them to the city.

Belleville Bicycle Races.

The bicycle races yesterday were very successful, about 1,100 persons attending. The results were:

One mile novice—W. E. Holton, Belleville; T. Carlyle, Toronto. Time, 2:37 1-5 min.

Quarter mile open—Harley Davidson, Toronto; L. D. Robertson, Toronto. Time, 35 2-5 sec.

One mile, midland district—B. E. Cumming, Belleville; R. Ivers, Belleville. Time, 2:32 2-5 min.

One-third mile (flying start)—B. E. Cumming, Belleville; L. D. Robertson, Toronto. Time, 44 2-3 sec.

One mile, 2:40 class—B. E. Cumming, Belleville; R. O. Blayney, Toronto. Time, 2:32 4-5 min.

One mile open—Harley Davidson, Toronto; L. E. Cumming, Belleville. Time, 3:38 min.

One mile handicap—B. E. Cumming, Belleville; J. J. Thompson, Belleville; E. W. Holton, Belleville; R. Ivers, Belleville. Time, 2:29 min.

Five mile open—L. D. Robertson, Toronto; B. E. Cumming, Belleville. Time, 12:58 min.

Two mile team race—Won by Belleville. Time, 5:42 min.

One mile tandem—L. D. Robertson and W. R. Hensell, Toronto. Time, 2:10 2-5 min. This race was against time, there being no competition.

No accidents occurred to mar the sport. W. R. Hensell punctured his wheel in the five mile race and dropped out. An over officious policeman arrested a visiting wheelman from Picton. The fence near the grand stand broke down. The races were very exciting and no one had a walk over. B. E. Cumming showed some wonderful bursts of speed. Among the notables present were: H. Corby, M.P., Mayor Walmsley, W. N. Ponton, J. J. B. Flint, Thomas Wills and J. C. Jamieson.

Mr. McIlroy, driver of Dalton & Strange's delivery waggon, met with an accident yesterday. While carrying a barrel into the back store he fell into the aperture left by the hoisting platform, which was in the second story. Mr. McIlroy attempted to jump over the hole and fell. A sprained wrist was the only injury received.

Removed To Ogdensburg.

Sunday morning Hogle Miller, who escaped from the asylum at Ogdensburg about a month ago, was taken back after his insanity had been proven beyond a doubt by the evidence of medical men. Extradition papers were signed by Lieut.-Gov. Kirkpatrick. Miller was handcuffed and taken to Ogdensburg on the steamer Bon Voyage.

Farmers In Bad Shape.

Capt. Towers, of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co., was in the city yesterday. He has just returned from a trip in Michigan. He states that the destruction being done by fires in the country is alarming. On account of dry weather the country is in a miserable condition and the farmers can only see starvation ahead of them.

A Game Of Baseball.

Yesterday there was a baseball match played on the car works field between teams, supposed to be selected from the employees of the gas light and electric light works. The game was finished in the seventh innings, the gas light men leading. The electric light players say that only four members of the other team belonged to the gas works. The others were good local amateurs.

Asking For Collections.

A pastoral touching the cause of the Irish parliamentary party has been issued by Archbishop Cleary and was read in all the Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese of Kingston, calling upon the people to offer contributions on some Sunday during the present month to advance the interests of dear old Ireland, whose prosperity or continued distress hangs trembling in the balance.

Lawn Tennis Tournament.

The local lawn tennis tournament commenced yesterday, but owing to the presence of a large crowd of people the players were hampered and there was not sufficient space for the game. One single match took place, E. O. Strange vs. W. G. Irving. Strange won. Score, 6-2, 2-6, 8-6. The tournament will likely last two weeks. There are more entries for the singles than last year. There are nineteen entries altogether.

To Burn Down A Church

Two attempts have been made to burn down the Methodist church at Mooretown on the East Gananoque circuit. The new edifice is located in a grove and on both occasions fire has been started in the woods on the windward side of the church. Luckily the flames were discovered and subdued before damage was done. The neighbors are reticent but are agreed as to the perpetrator of the deed.

Had a Narrow Escape.

Harry Davis, aged eighteen years, met with a serious accident on Wolfe Island, yesterday. He was taking a team home after working on the fields all morning. The colt he was riding baulked and threw him off. Davis' leg got caught in the strap, and the result was the unfortunate young man was dragged half a mile before the animal could be stopped. Davis is pretty badly hurt, and it is feared several bones are broken. He was lucky to get off with his life.

The Century Run to Kingston.

H. S. Macdonald, F. Parson, K. Hall, W. L. Allen and A. Mercer, members of the Peterboro bicycle club, arrived in the city by their wheels last night, having ridden from Port Hope. They completed the century in a little over fourteen hours, having left Port Hope at six o'clock yesterday morning and arriving in Kingston at 8:15 o'clock. They had the regular century document with them which Mayor Herald signed. The cyclists left for their homes again last night.

Looking For Ducks.

Kingston sportsmen out shooting since Saturday find ducks a scarcity. One sportsman spent all day Saturday at Bob's lake and only got three birds. Amherst Island is a pretty good place for duck shooting and some of the boys are now up there.

Yesterday Joseph Franklin was hunting and fishing on Collins' lake. He caught many fish and shot ten ducks. He thinks Collins' lake as a fishing ground cannot be beaten. On Saturday J. Harmer, engine driver on the K. & P.R., and John Dowker, of Hartington, went to Napanee lake and shot thirty-six ducks.

A Clergyman's Wish.

On Sunday evening, before a large audience in Queen street Methodist church, Rev. C. O. Johnston praised the old church of Rome for its latest attitude in regard to the liquor traffic and its determination, as expressed through ablegate Satolli, to condemn and discourage the sale by church followers. The clergyman noted the coming of the Christian Endeavorers to Kingston by hundreds next month. He wanted Kingston to give them a right royal welcome, to be hospitable and entertaining. It would be a shame to have to pass the doors of christians and have the endeavorers housed in hotels and boarding houses. It would rejoice his heart to have the homes of Roman Catholics opened to the delegates thus proving that they were all one in Christ if they were different on the outside. The WHIG adds that if the endeavorers desire sympathy and help on such occasions they should be fair to their best friends at other times.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late Thomas McCammon, Portsmouth.

The village of Portsmouth is called upon to mourn over the loss of one of its respected citizen, Thomas McCammon, baker, whose spirit took its flight Sunday morning, Sept. 2nd. It can be truthfully said of him that during his lifetime he was meek in spirit, upright in his dealings, a true sympathetic friend, good neighbor and beloved by the villagers. Deceased came from near the city of Armagh, Ireland, to Kingston in the year 1848, learned the baking trade with his elder brother, Robert, and afterwards started a bakery in the village, in 1854, which he carried on continually with success. He took an active part in all the interests of the village, having served for a number of years as a councillor, and for the past seventeen or eighteen years he was its treasurer. He also sat as trustee and chairman at the public school board, and was a member of Cooke's Presbyterian church. In politics he was a consistant reformer. He leaves a faithful and devoted wife, two sons and one daughter married, to sorrow after a good christian father. Both sons learned the bakery trade. Robert, the eldest, remained at home assisting his father, and Thomas is head baker at Rockwood asylum.

IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

Played a Sharp Game But Detective Gagne, Sudbury, Ferretted Them Out.

About three weeks ago the dry goods store of A. Paul, Sudbury, was broken into and a large quantity of the goods stolen. The same goods had been examined the previous day by a strange woman and two men, and suspicion was at once directed, and the fact made known to Detective Gagne. George Tuddenham gave the information that the suspected parties were at Cartier, seventy miles west, and had the goods boxed up and shipped to Winnipeg, for which place the woman had purchased her ticket. Telegrams were sent to the authorities at Port Arthur and Winnipeg to detain the goods and arrest the lady, but the authorities did not act, and she reached her destination in safety. On the following night the safe in the post office at Chapleau was blown open by burglars but they escaped, without getting anything. The next day four suspicious characters boarded the C. P. R. express going west at Grasett station. Conductor Hennard at once notified Detective Gagne, who was on the train, and they devised a plan to arrest the suspects. The train was stopped on a large trestle bridge, and the trainmen guarded each end of the train while the detective got after the intruders. After a lively chase through and on top of the coaches, he succeeded in arresting one of them, by the name of John F. Cunningham, the other three escaping down the trestle work, and taking refuge in the woods. That afternoon the leader of the gang came to a gang of section men, and asked them if they had heard of the attempted burglary, and they replied that they had. He informed them that he was a detective, and looking for the burglars, and asked them if they would pump him over the road to the next section, which request they readily acceded to. The same request was asked of the next gang, and was also granted. As it was now night, he was asked to remain all night, and after due deliberation consented to remain in the house without retiring. That night he wrote two letters, and in the morning went west, taking the letters with him. As he could not get an opportunity to post them, for fear they might, if on him, be a clue to his identification, he tore them up and threw them on the track. Brakeman Alex. St. Eloi, on the train the previous day, was sworn in as special constable, and proved himself a very efficient acquisition, even good enough to do credit to the illustrious Hawkshaws or even Pinkerton's forces.

St. Eloi was walking the track in hot pursuit of his man, and noticing the small pieces of paper scattered along the track, picked them all up, and after spending hours putting them together, one of them proved to be a letter to his wife, the lady who had gone ahead with the stolen goods, giving the address in Winnipeg where she would be found. St. Eloi handed the letter to Detective Gagne, who took the first train for Winnipeg, went directly to the place, as directed, where she was promptly arrested and brought back Friday for trial The trial came off last week, when Police Magistrate Quibell sentenced her to three years in the Kingston penitentiary. She gave her name as Mrs. Mary Bronson, and says they all came from Antigonish, N. S. Cunningham pleaded guilty to having been one of the party of four who attempted the burglary at Chapleau. He and another fellow were outside watching while Bronson, the leader of the gang, and another fellow, whose name he would not divulge, were doing the work inside. Cunningham got five years at Kingston, but the rest of the gang are still enjoying their freedom.

Cunningham is a young man, of a very respectable family, and when he was informed that the postmaster, H. L. Nicholson, and his wife, whom he attempted to rob, were old schoolmates of his, he broke right down, and wept like a child.

TWO PAINFUL DEATHS.

A Man Struck by an Electric Car, a Woman by Her Husband.

WINDSOR, Sept. 4.—An unknown man, nearly seventy years old, who may be Thomas Boyle, was killed by an electric car on Wyandotte street. He had been sitting on the track and arose just as the car was upon him. The motorman did not see him until that moment, and though he reversed he could not stop his car, which ran over and terribly mangled the body. Death was instantaneous.

Two weeks ago a Mrs. Ruland, whose husband is a peddlar, was found lying in her house, about to became a mother. She was penniless and with not a mouthful of food for herself or three children. Ruland had deserted her two weeks before. She was given medical and other attendance but the shock of the treatment she had received at the hand of her brutal husband, together with her condition, proved too much for her strength, and she died yesterday in convulsions. Two years ago Ruland deserted his wife and family in the same way.

The Street Railway Again

KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—(To the Editor) Kindly allow a few words regarding the new aspect of affairs on King street east since the headquarters of the electric railway have been placed there. To residents of that vicinity they have become a nuisance. Every morning, till as late as ten o'clock, two and three cars are left standing on the street and every evening, for a couple of hours, the central portion of the roadway is taken up by cars. This is an inconvenience and interferes with the right of every citizen to use the road-bed. Then I never knew that any citizen or company was allowed to utilize more than a certain portion of each sidewalk but I find that not only is a double width of sidewalk monopolized by this company but that they have erected posts in the centre of the walk which are a menace to pedestrians, and at night are shrouded in darkness, that is the side next to Queen street. If some protection was accorded the public in regard to the posts, and the cars left standing for a less time each morning on the road-bed the public in that vicinity might put up with the other short comings for a while longer.—RESIDENT.

It will be independent in politics and will be favorable to the stand taken by W. H. Biggar, M. P. P., in the house. It will be out in a few days.

IMPOSED A HEAVY FINE.

The Magistrate Adjourned One Case and Settled Another.

The magistrate had a long docket to wade through at the police court, this morning. The girl, Mary Hogan, did not take the colonel's advice and get out of town, but lingered about as if she had not a limited time to make herself scarce. There was no use of her protesting, the Mercer reformatory for women at Toronto was the proper place for her and there she must go. The magistrate sentenced her to six months and a fine of $50 and costs or a further period of six months if the fine was not paid.

Inspector Gildden has been keeping his eyes open lately and lodged complaints against both Michael Doyle and Patrick Nolan, restaurant-keepers, for an infraction of the liquor license act. In both cases two different complaints were laid; one for selling liquor without a license and the other for keeping liquor on the premises for the purpose of sale. The man John McCarty, arrested for drunkenness and raising a racket on the night young McKenny was drowned figures in the cases. He had been remanded for a week and as Nolan pleaded "not guilty," Mr. Gildden wanted further evidence. The cases against Nolan and that of drunkenness against McCarthy were further adjourned till Friday. Doyle pleaded "guilty." The magistrate said in this case he would withdraw one of the charges. For selling liquor without a license Doyle was fined no less than $100 and costs, the largest fine levied in some time.

James Lay, drunk, $5 and costs or one month in jail.
