A CIVIC WEDDING DAY.

MICHAEL FLANAGAN IN OFFICE FOR HALF A CENTURY.

He Was Heartily Greeted by His Associates—They Bedeck His Desk With Flowers and Say Kindly Words—He Has Wielded the Pen for Years, May His Hand Never Fail.

MICHAEL FLANAGAN

The atmosphere of the city clerk's office was perfumed this morning by the fragrance of flowers. Mr. Flanagan was seated in his chair attending to his usual duties but apparently could not make much progress on account of the large number of callers. The desire often expressed that he would be able to remain in office on the celebration of his jubilee was fulfilled. After fifty years of service he looked quite as ambitious to do his work well as he ever could have done in younger days, but yet there was that repose which created confidence that he had always done his best.

Among his earliest callers were the city officials who, in a body, proceeded to the office and, after a congratulatory speech from city solicitor Agnew, in which words of esteem and hope of a long life yet to come were expressed, each official took the clerk by the hand and offered hearty good wishes.

Congratulations poured in during the day. Old friends that he had known for over fifty years, since his induction into the office, were among those to speak words that brought the big tears to the warm-hearted Irishman. Mr. Flanagan was quite unable to restrain his emotion.

Mr. Flanagan began service on Thursday, June 1st, 1843, as assistant to F. Manning Hill. In 1845 he succeeded to the clerkship. For over forty-five years he occupied the same office in the city buildings, that little cupboard on the right of the entrance. Two years ago he was transferred to more commodious quarters, Messenger Andrew Lanigan is the second oldest official having been in service thirty-two years. His father filled the position before him.

The newspaper men have all a good word for the venerable clerk. To many of them he has been a sort of father. Whenever any reminiscence is required he is the personage to whom application is made. He chats with freedom, knows what reporters want and what the people will read. In imparting civic information he does so without a dictatorial manner; he is never too busy to answer questions and to bring down records. Long may he rule.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The Movements of People—What They Are Saying and Doing.

Z. Prevost and wife will leave for the world's fair on June 5th. Mr. Prevost will be the guest of his brother, whom he has not seen for twenty-five years.

F. Kennedy, at the Hotel Dieu for the past week with a disease of the joints, left for Belleville last evening. Dr. Sullivan has advised Kennedy to go west for his health.

Reeve Foley, Howe Island, was in the city to-day. He says there will be good crops in his section if the weather is favorable. He is sure a bridge will be built between the island and the mainland. He and his wife will leave for the world's fair next month.

D. Brennan, a resident of Belleville, died at l'Hotel Dieu, after a lingering illness. Deceased was twenty years connected with W. H. Campbell in the grain business. He was a member of the Belleville council, having been for two years an alderman for Foster ward. A few years ago he was stricken with paralysis and has for three years been in the hospital here.

DEATH OF W. J. MURRAY,

After a Painful Illness He Passed Away Last Night.

This morning the death of a popular young merchant, W. J. Murray, of the firm of Murray & Taylor, occurred. He was about thirty-eight years of age, and up to about two months ago was in good health. Then he contracted a cold, causing an abscess to form in his head. Everything that medical science could suggest was done to relieve the sufferer, and a specialist, Dr. Buller, of Montreal, was called in for consultation. He performed an operation, which it was believed would assist in restoring the patient to health. But such was not to be, and last evening death put an end to pain. Mr. Murray was born in Belfast, Ireland, and came to America with his mother thirty-two years ago. After living a short time in Pittsburg, Penn., they came to this city and here deceased was educated and learned the dry-goods business. He served twelve or thirteen years with Macnee & Waddell and Richmond & Boydan and during this period made many friends.

About eleven years ago he went into business on his own account and proved a great success. He was a member of St. Andrew's church and active in church work. He was the only son and support of a widowed mother who survives.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Who Stole The Eggs?

On Saturday a lady placed a basket of eggs on a table in the island market. She went outside to get more supplies and on returning the basket was missing. Police officers are trying to find the thief.

Relieved The Till.

The bar-tender of the Stanley house left the bar for a few minutes the other night, and while absent a young fellow slipped behind and relieved the till of the money, some $15. There were two fellows in the scheme and both have left the city.

Visit To Kingston.

Dr. Bessey, of Toronto, orificial surgeon and specialist in the treatment of piles, rupture, rectal and intestinal diseases, genito-urinv troubles and chronic affections, will be at the Frontenac Hotel, Kingston, on Saturday, June 3rd, for consultation, until 3 p.m.

May Sell His Mine.

C. H. Corbett has returned from Montreal, where he had been called in conference with a couple of capitalists who wish to get control of his fibrous talc mine in North Hastings. The capitalists made Mr. Corbett an offer which the latter did not consider large enough and a sale did not occur. Mr. Corbett is to meet the capitalists again in a few days.

Dominion Day Celebration.

Ald. Bowes stated to a reporter this morning that he intended calling the merchants together to consider what is best to be done towards a celebration here on July 1st. Mr. Bowes suggests that a military parade occur in the morning; a regatta at eleven o'clock; sports at the athletic grounds in the afternoon, and a trades procession with fireworks at night.

Loaded With Something Like Tallow.

Recently Mrs. M. Sullivan, Mrs. McEwen, and Mrs. Jones purchased butter on the market and when they cut it the progress of the knife was stopped by a substance similar to tallow, only harder. The market clerk has a sample of the butter and is getting such evidence as will enable him to cause the saleswoman to be arrested. She belongs to one of the islands.

Making Slow Progress.

General complaint is heard about the slow progress being made in the erection of the Brock street drain. Traffic is materially impeded by the work and from all appearances will be for the next three or four weeks. An alderman asserted last night, that the men should be paid over time and work up to eight or nine o'clock till the work was finished. A large gang of men might expedite matters.

She Is Not Dead.

Yesterday the death of Mrs. Glassop, the oldest native Kingstonian, and mother of Mrs. Joseph Clark and Mrs. Allan Rees, was reported at her daughter's, Mrs. (Rev.) A. Macgillivray, Toronto. A message to that effect was received at Collinsby. But at noon to-day a telegram said the venerable lady was not dead but speechless and suffering no pain. On Tuesday while sewing she suffered an apopletic stroke.

A Good Trade Expected.

Manager Dowling, of the Hotel Frontenac, is looking forward to a large business this summer on account of so much travelling occasioned by the world's fair. Kingston is looked upon by tourists as a place of more than ordinary importance and when such is possible a stop off of a couple of days will be made. A despatch from Detroit was received, this morning, asking that twenty rooms be reserved for a Japanese party, arriving here on Monday.

A Model Man Gone.

The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Olin, of Watertown, was one of the largest that ever occurred in that city. The deceased was pastor of Trinity church for the erection of which Messrs. Flower donated $100,000. Although with a salary of nearly $3,000 a year Mr. Olin died poor. He gave it away and a subscription for his family was started yesterday. Over $5,000 was raised and it is expected to reach $10,000 within the present week. Rev. W. B. Carey attended the funeral on behalf of the Kingston clergy.

Opera House To-Night.

One of the best attractions of the season will be given, a reproduction, at Martin's opera house this evening, Lincoln J. Carter's magnificent scenic production, "The Fast Mail." This is a melo-drama of more than ordinary merits, while the scenic and mechanical effects equal anything that has ever been given in this city. The play has an absorbing plot and the lines are all strong. There is plenty of humor to relieve the pathos, and altogether it is hard to get a play of more perfect symmetry. The members of the producing company show a good conception of the author's ideas.

The Needs Of The Hospital.

The general hospital board issued a short list of requirements for the comfort and convenience of the patients and the improvement of grounds and buildings. Among them was a request for a tent for convalescing patients, who spend the day upon the grounds in not very comfortable fashion. To-day a large marquee tent was presented by Dr. K. N. Fenwick and has been gratefully received by the staff and patients. The comforts of the institution are being rapidly multiplied. In a month or so the board will be in a position to announce several handsome donations to the furnishing and maintenance fund.

Received Advice.

A cow belonging to a citizen was impounded on Friday, and yesterday when he applied for it he was told it would cost $4.80 to get the animal out. The citizen thought this too high and before he would pay it determined to see a lawyer. The first lawyer he interviewed referred to the statutes and explained that only 25c a day could be charged. To make sure, the fellow obtained similar advice from two other solicitors, and finally consulted commissioner Gordon. The latter turned up his books and showed that a new law, lately passed, allowed the pound man to charge $1 a day. The citizen had to pay the shot for the cow and the lawyers who did not know of the statute.

Oddfellows Building Association.

At the meeting of the Oddfellows building association, last night, the directors elected for the ensuing year were: G. H. Allen, Capt. T. Donnelly, Dr. T. M. Fenwick, A. Chadwick, R. F. Elliott, J. Bullis, W. Langdon, F. R. Sargent, W. C. Martin. The thanks of the meeting were tendered to the president and directors for the services rendered during the year just closed.

A. Chadwick, president, reported that the year just closed had been a very satisfactory one, and while the statement showed the expenditure as having exceeded that of the revenue by some $1,568.73, there was included in this amount a balance of some $548.36 remaining over from the previous year, making the net outlay over that of the income for the current year $1,020.37. About $240 was expended in building a necessary annex. Seven societies were meeting in the lodge rooms. The new board of directers would begin operations with a secured rent roll of $1,560, which should have a margin of profit over the expenditure. Of the $50,000 capital stock of the association $11,050 was so far subscribed, only $1,230 of which has not been paid.

Professor Alexander's lecture last night was thoroughly enjoyed. It was one calculated to lift men out of the ruts of selfishness and to start them on the highway to a nobler, freer and more generous life. He knows well how to combine rich enjoyment with sound common sense. He hurts many an old prejudice, but his ideas are right. His examination of Mayor Polson, P. Daley and Wm. Kelley was entirely satisfactory. He lectures Friday evening on "Good and Bad Heads."

All members of No. 1 company who do not turn out for parade to-night will be struck off the roll.

A very doubtful yarn, now current, of the invention of the bullet-proof uniform in Germany, recalls an anecdote of the great Duke of Wellington. A stranger gained admittance to the war office one busy morning and urged the duke to introduce into the army a bullet-proof jacket which he had invented. He produced a specimen. "Bullet-proof," said the duke, "very good, put it on, will you?" The man did so, the duke rang the bell, an officer appeared. "Tell Captain So-and-So to send two of his men here and let them load with ball cartridge." When the duke looked up from his writing presently the inventor had disappeared.

He Wants Damages.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The insurrection in Venezuela and the cruise of the South Portland which left New York harbor, last September, will shortly be discussed in the United States courts. The South Portland was loaded with rifles, Gatling guns and ammunition for the insurgents and collector Hendrick refused her a clearance. When she finally sailed it was said the friends of the Venezuelaen government were going to charter a yacht, fit it up as a man-of-war, and chase the other vessel and give her battle before she could deliver her cargo to Crespo, at that time in command of the rebel forces. Francisco Gonzales, the accredited agent of the insurgents, has begun action against collector Hendrick claiming $32,000 damages for delay to the South Portland.

Looking Into the Future.

A prominent reformer predicted, last evening, that when his party got in power several changes would be made in connection with the government departments here. The customs house and post office would be raised a storey each, and mansard roofs would be adopted. Over the post office the excise department would be located and the addition to the custom house would give the collector more room. Between the two buildings on Clarence street a bonded warehouse would be erected and then the government business would be concentrated and convenient.

THE MAIL BAG ROBBERY.

The Grand Trunk Officials Have Detectives on the Hunt.

As yet no trace of the robbers who cut the mail bags, Wednesday night, has been received. The G.T.R. Co. has two detectives, one from Toronto and the other from Montreal, in the city working up the case. The sleuth hounds had very little clue to wind a web of evidence about, but still they hope to run down the culprits.

Inspector Jones thinks the press in reporting the robbing of the mails at the G.T.R. depot was severe on the officials, who were not in any respect to blame. The mail bags were delivered safely into the custody of the G.T.R. authorities who were supposed to keep them safe. They were securely locked in a room at the G.T.R. depot, where they have been kept for years waiting for trains. Crooks on the way to Chicago probably broke into the room and rifled the bags. This might have occurred had they been locked in any other building, and it is hardly fair to blame anyone for neglect. The inspector had expected worse than the robbery. He thought the driver of the mails would have been knocked in the head and mails taken away from him.

The robbers must have been disturbed in their work, for they neglected to investigate a package containing fifteen registered letters, which must have held a large sum of money. The loss is not as great as expected. Eleven registered letters were opened and $258 stolen. Four other registered letters were opened, but the money was not removed.

SEEKING KNOWLEDGE.

Prof. Virchow, of Berlin, Here to Study Sword Fish Manners.

Prof. Virchow, of Berlin, son of the greatest pathologist living, was met on the market this morning in company with Senator Sullivan. The professor is a mild-mannered young man, speaking fairly good English, and has a distinguished appearance. He was dressed in a black suit, very tastily made, and wore a wide rimmed hat.

He is professor in a college in Berlin, and is here to get information respecting the nature and history of sword-fish or gar-pike and dog fish. He had several lengthy interviews with fishermen, who promised to bring him some samples of the fish he intended to investigate. He visited H. Stratford, sr., and from him learned a great deal respecting the finny tribe. The professor will not leave until he acquires all the knowledge he desires.
