THE SOLDIER VISITORS.

THE 14TH P.W.O. RIFLES, OF KINGSTON, IN MONTREAL.

Kingston's Crack Regiment Reached Montreal on Sunday From the Limestone City and Quartered at the Victoria Rifles Armory—Plenty of Enjoyment.

At half-past six, Sunday morning, the hot summer air of Montreal was stirred by the crash of military music, and the sun-baked walls re-echoed to the rattle of the brass bands as the 14th P.W.O. rifles, Kingston, marched sturdily up to their quarters in the Vic's armory to the music of the two excellent bands.

Owing to the early hour and the fact that the special train by which they travelled arrived half an hour ahead of time, instead of an hour and a half late, as is the usual custom with special trains, there was only one enthusiast and a stray reporter on the platform to welcome the visitors. However, the P.W.O. rifles did not mind that. It knew that a hearty welcome was coming as soon as Montreal had got its breakfast, shaved itself and put on a clean shirt. And it came as was expected.

The regiment marched into the armory about 275 strong of all ranks. Lieut.-Col. Smith was in command, the staff officers being Majors Shannon, Skinner and Galloway (adjutant), Paymaster Sinclair, Quartermaster White and Surgeon Cunningham.

Immediately after the men had piled arms, taken off rolled coats and helmets and relieved themselves of their accoutrements, the officers proceeded to the Windsor, and the men were marched to the restaurants to get their breakfasts. Two companies were quartered at the Hope Coffee house, and the others scattered at the restaurants in the vicinity of the armory under the watchful eye of quarter-master White. On returning the bare wooden floors of the armory were soon covered with soldiery, in their jerseys and trousers, sound asleep with their heads pillowed on their rolled up tunics, or on some other fellow's body. The hot dusty ride of the night had wearied them.

In the afternoon, however, everyone was bright and spruce. Long before parade time, the men were busy brushing their dusty tunics and rubbing up their belts, so as to look bright and clean for church. There was a big turnout of citizens to see the regiment march to St. James the Apostle church where Rev. Mr. Smith preached an appropriate sermon, and still more were present to witness the march back. Hot, tired and dusty the men looked as they tramped down the hot roadway, and there was a look of relief on their faces as they turned into the armory again and got a chance to throw off their belts and sweltering tunics even, though the climate of the drill hall was certainly not that of the north pole.

In the evening the streets were dotted with the soldiery. Every here and there one came upon a group of them marching along the sidewalk on the principal streets, and a quiet, orderly, well behaved crowd they were. They spent yesterday in sight-seeing, and at night the management of the Queen's theatre extended an invitation to both officers and men of the Princess of Wales own to be present at the opening of the engagement of Tyrone Power and his comedy company. Special seats were reserved for the volunteers in uniform. The regiment left by the late train for Kingston, reaching the city early this morning.

The Snaps Shots.

Early on Sunday cards were left at the Windsor hotel, where the officers had their headquarters, announcing that they had been "put up" at the Cosmopolitan city, and Metropolitan clubs. Every room in the Vic's armory were thrown open to them. The sergeants' mess rooms were opened to their non-commissioned officers, and a number of veterans were ready to welcome the visitors in the rooms of the reserve association.

Another parade was held at 10 a.m., Monday, when the regiment made a short march out through the principal streets of the city. The men looked neat and marched with precision and the steadiness of veterans. The playing of our band was the subject of general comment all through the city.

Everything both days went smoothly and it was not until the return journey was about to be undertaken that anything occurred to mar the pleasantness of a trip that by both officers and men will not soon be forgotten. The platform of the station had been reached and the boys were hard to find so mixed up were they with Victoria rifles, officers and men, Royal Scots, Prince of Wales, 65th and Fusiliers and this was not all for even the encampment of Oddfellows, headed by their fife and drum band, were plainly to be seen with their red and white feathers and gaudy uniforms, and two full companies of the Victoria veterans had the head of the column. So with so many varicated it was a hard matter to get the companies away to their different couches. Owing to the scarcity of cars six coaches were all that were available, and as the band and buglers, forty-eight strong, occupied one coach it left only five for the six companies. One company had to be divided and told off to the different cars. "A" Co. was the company divided on the journey down and "F" Co. on the journey up. This they refused to do, a clean case of insubordination, which, if the lieutenant-colonel commanding chooses to deal with, will place this company in a very serious light before the authorities at Ottawa and serious punishment meted out to the N. C. officers and men alike. Military law makes no more provision for disobedience on the part of a volunteer than on that of a regular. The result is that "F" Co. is in Montreal to-day, having been left on the platform when the train moved out. To the officers of the Montreal garrison, from Col. Houghton down, the 14th batt. is very much indebted, but particularly to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Victoria rifles their thanks are especially due.

The officers were entertained at dinner in the City club, last night, by the officers of the different city regiments and was a grand affair only breaking up at train time.

It would be out of place to make mention of the conduct of the several companies, but we think C and B companies deserve great credit for the way they attended drill. C company only had one man absent and B company turned out to a man at both parades. We think this worthy of mention.

It was jocularly remarked on the arrival in the city that while there were none killed or wounded one whole company was missing.

What The Papers Say.

The Toronto "Mail's" correspondent says "the soldierly bearing of the men was much admired"; the "Witness" adds that "at an early hour on Sunday the city was attacked and captured by the Princess of Wales Own Rifles, of Kingston. Negotiations were immediately entered into with the Vics, but it will not be until a late hour to-night that a treaty will be arrived at. But even then it will come too soon and the city corps will be sorry at the withdrawal of the Kingston boys. The Princess of Wales Rifles are a smart lot of young fellows and a credit to the militia of Canada. Their rating is high."

The "Herald" agrees that "they were not as natty in appearance as our own regiments, but the men were a fine sturdy lot and had a useful look about them that an old soldier could appreciate. A very few weeks in barracks would make them a smart, soldierly battalion, for their raw material is excellent, their non-com's smart and intelligent, and the officers are good and evidently up to their work. Lieut.-Col. Smith can be proud of his command."

The Camp Notes.

Things have been quiet at the camp during the past couple of days. The officers of "A" battery had the brigade officers to dinner Saturday night, and a pleasant time was spent.

Major Hewton, of the 47th batt., had all the guards at the penitentiary out to see him on Sunday. The major is chief keeper and is well thought of by his fellows.

Sergt.-Major Morgans gives sword exercises to the officers of the 47th batt.

Col. Hunter says the officers of the 47th batt. are open to shoot any of the officers in camp. In 1890 the officers of the 47th beat the 45th batt., and the latter had three Wimbleton men in the contest.

The officers and men of "A" battery have had hard work during the two camps. All the striking of tents has been done by the permanent corps as well as all guard duty.

Rev. Dr. Griffith preached to the Methodists on the camp ground Sunday morning and advised the soldiers to follow the example of the apostle Paul. The Roman Catholics attended St. Mary's cathedral and the Anglicans marched in a body to St. Mark's church, Barriefield. Appropriate sermons were preached on all occasions.

Capt. Filson is quarter-master of the 47th batt. and a right good one he is, too.

Sergt.-Major Morgans in engaged by Capt. Cox, of the 47th, to instruct his company.

Police Court Results.

At the police court, during the past couple of days, Mayor Polson has presided and the punishments inflicted were: Daniel Byron, drunk, dismissed; Peter Creek, Michael O'Donnell and Thomas Morris, sailors off the steambarge Hiawatha, will spend ten days in jail as they could not pay a fine of $2 and costs for drunkenness.

Arrested As A Deserter.

Hugh Griffin, a man about thirty-two years of age, was arrested in Ottawa on Saturday as being a deserter from "B" battery, Kingston. Griffin said he got leave of absence for two weeks, but had exceeded his time by three days. He had been down at Montreal and was on his way back to Kingston. A ticket for Chapleau, on the line of the C.P.R., was found in his pockets.

He Was Badly Wounded.

On Saturday afternoon John McDermont, while intoxicated, wandered into the yard at the rear of the Frontenac hotel. He stumbled on the steps leading to the laundry and pushed his hand through a pane of glass. He was badly wounded. An artery was severed in two places and had not a doctor arrrived promptly he would have bled to death. He left for Odessa Monday after two days in the hospital.

Resulted In a Bubble.

Capt. Filson, Amherst Island, in speaking of the amalgamation of the island to Frontenac, says the recent attempt to bring about the union ended in a bubble. The scheme is quite possible and would be a good thing for the people of Amherst Island. Kingston is the natural market, and if the project is advocated in the right way the farmers from that district will be adding to the finances of Kingston merchants.

Lost An Eye.

Pte. W. H. Morgans, of the 16th batt., with home at Picton, met with a serious accident at the butts on Saturday. He was fooling with a couple of others when he tripped himself and falling to the ground his eye struck the end of a bayonet sticking in the ground. The member was so terribly lacerated that after treatment by Dr. Gardner, specialist, of Montreal, who happened to be visiting at the camp, the poor fellow was taken to the general hospital, where the eye was removed.

Seeking the Remains.

Yesterday W. McCammon, harbor master, received a letter from P. J. Corcoran, Syracuse, in which he stated his brother, John, was drowned at Fort Niagara, on June 10th. It is supposed the body is ashore at some point on Lake Ontario. The writer asks Mr. McCammon to communicate any information respecting his remains. The letters "J.C" and a star or heart is tatooed on one arm. He was member of company "E," of the regiment of infantry, Madison barracks, N.Y.

An Annoying Arrangement.

The post office was closed on Saturday; it was open on Monday. The way matters were conducted proved a great annoyance to the people. Had the officials acted with discretion and sense, they would have arranged the staff and kept the office open on both days. There were many mad farmers and citizens who pounded on the closed doors on Saturday. They wanted to do business, but could not. On Monday the clerks were kept in the office, but work was very light; their patrons were off holidaying.

A Forgetful Groom.

Rev. G. S. White was recently installed pastor of the Methodist congregation of Wolfe Island. He was a pastor in Kingston thirty years ago in the Johnston street Methodist Episcopal church, long since torn down. Recently he was called upon to marry a couple in Oconto. At the time appointed for the service the groom was not present, and after waiting an hour a party was sent out to look for him. He was found working in a field. When told he was wanted he said: "By George, I forgot the date of the wedding."

He Did Not Die From Old Age.

Dr. Sullivan, who attended the late John Breden, aged ninety-three, in the last days of his illness, said the post-mortem examination showed he had not died from the effects of old age. The usual changes in the structure of the body or infirmities of the mind, which result from old age and found in old men were entirely absent. Had he not contracted the disease of which he died, he would have lived a great many years longer. An affection of the liver and stomach, contracted some time ago, is just as likely to attack the young as the old.

Didn't Know His Colonel.

A great many volunteers were upon the search-light excursion per steamer Empire State on Saturday night, and they seemed to enjoy themselves immensely. In a friendly and amiable mood a citizen approached one of the party and asked:

"To what corps do you belong?"

"The 41st," he answered.

"Who's your colonel?"

He hesitated, thought a moment, looked confused, and candidly admitted that he didn't know, "but," said he, "I heard some one say it was Straw Benzie."

That chap was a pick-up, sure.

GENERAL HOSPITAL.

To Lay the Corner Stone—Dr. Mundell Appointed to Fill a Vacancy.

A meeting of the board of hospital governors, yesterday brought together a good representation of the solid men of Kingston. There were present H. A. Calvin, B. M. Britton, Alex. Gunn, I. A. Breck, C. V. Price, R. T. Walkem, Isaac Simpson, E. H. Smythe, B. W. Robertson, Edwin Chown, J. B. Carruthers, Dr. Saunders and chairman Pense. Accounts to the amount of $881 for the month were passed. The medical report showed that the number under treatment in May had been reduced from seventy-three to fifty-five; there were three deaths and two births. A fire escape was ordered for the Nickle wing and tenders ordered to be invited for the converting of the old laundry into a nurses' dormitory for four beds.

It was resolved to invite the Hon. J. M. Gibson, provincial secretary, under whose departmental patronage the provincial hospitals are, to lay the corner-stone this month of the new women's wing. Rev. J. Mackie was invited to conduct the religious service on that occasion.

E. H. Smythe, B. W. Robertson and J. B. Carruthers were elected to the investment committee. Their duty will be to dispose of all securities of the hospital, to pay for the buildings in process of erection. The course of the medical superintendent, in declining insane patients requiring constant watching and special rooms, was approved, and it was resolved to ask the city council to provide for payment of the ambulance (a private enterprise) when used in cases of accident, requiring its being called into service by passers-by or near-by residents. The hospital is often applied to to send the ambulance, and it cannot be expected to both care for the sick free and to pay for the vehicle to convey them to their free quarters. A letter from the Smead-Dowd Co., regarding the inefficient heating apparatus in the Nickle wing, was considered at length and a committee was appointed to instruct the solicitor in the course to be pursued in taking the legal action already resolved upon. The hospital staff cannot possibly endure another winter with the apparatus in its present shape.

R. T. Walkem and Rev. M. McGillivray were reappointed visiting governors having performed their duties with zeal for the past month. Dr. Smythe and Dr. Saunders were appointed a committee to express the regrets of the board at the loss of Dr. Dupius from the staff of attendant physicians, and an election by ballot took place to fill the vacancy created by his death. Dr. Mundell was elected medical officer to complete the force of three surgeons, the two others being Drs. Garrett and Anglin. The three physicians are Doctors Oliver, Saunders and Thomas Fenwick, with Drs. K. N. Fenwick, gynaecologist, and Dr. Connell, for eye and ear treatment.

A WONDERFUL SCENE.

Thousands of Large Fish Playing in the Moon Beams.

On Thursday evening between nine and eleven o'clock while Dr. Sullivan, Prof. Virchow and Miss Sullivan were in a row boat they saw a wonderful scene between Point Frederick and the M. T. Co's dock. The moon was full and cast its beams along the water, and in the silver streak thousands of fish played and gambolled. They were large and so thick that the doctor was afraid they would upset the boat. Every minute one or more of the fish leaped out of the water and their white bellies showed very plainly. The professor, who comes from Berlin, said he never saw such a sight and it alone was worth his visit to America. When he came over to study the habits of our fish he did not expect from them such a spectacular reception.

An Admirable Concert.

Arthur E. Fisher's concert in the First Congregational church, last night, was not greeted with a very large audience, but still it was fair, considering that the public holiday had given so many hundreds of citizens an opportunity of leaving the city on the many excursions during the day. The programme was carried out in its entirety, the various selections rendered being executed with much ability, and were of a character entitling them to rank as first-class. The songs of Mrs. Fullerton and Miss Stickney were given in good style, both having voices of great scope and sweetness. The piano solos of Miss G. Fortescue were much appreciated. The hit of the evening was the violin playing of Miss Kate Archer. The fair young lady handled the bow in a manner that indicated the skill of a master. Each number was received with enthusiasm, and on being recalled she responded in fine form. Mr. Fisher fully sustained his more than provincial fame as a musician of brilliant capacity.

The Clergyman In Hamilton.

Rev. C. O. Johnston preached to a big audience in Hamilton on Sunday. He addressed the members of the Independent Order of Foresters on the subject of the glorious heritage of the christian. "One of the greatest crimes of the era," he said, "is the attempt of certain people to put a denominational straight jacket on Jesus Christ." If a man had the christian character and spirit of love it did not matter what creed he professed. He would rather be an Independent Forester, with an open hand and liberal heart, than a stingy, dried-up, moss-back member of the church. Speaking of the universal pursuit of wealth by the present generation he said that if it was not for the common necessities of every-day life that cause men to exert themselves, man would retrograde back to the original protoplasm from which he is said to have originated.

CELEBRATING THE DAY.

THERE WERE NO EVENTS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE HERE.

The Excursions Were Well Patronized and the Picnics Fairly Well Attended—The Way the Time Was Passed—Results of Athletic Games.

The celebration of dominion day was injured a great deal by wet weather. Had the day been bright the excursions would have been better attended. In the morning the steamer Empire State took 350 people, 150 of whom were from Gananoque, to Oswego. The excursion to Jones' Falls, under the auspices of the Y.P.S.C.E. of Bethel church, was well patronized. There were about 150 on the steamer Princess Louise when she started. In the afternoon picnics were held at Brophy's Point and Simcoe Island. The attendance was fair in both cases.

A Delightful Trip.

Of the many excursionists who left the city yesterday it is safe to say that none enjoyed their outing more than did those who participated in the Bethel Y.P.S.C.E. excursion to Jones' Falls. The unfavorable weather of early morning delayed the departure of the excursionists and kept a large number of intending comers at home, but at 9:30 o'clock when the str. Princess Louise left her dock she had over 125 persons on board who from start to finish enjoyed the trip as most of them never enjoyed a trip before. There were those on board, some from far off Kansas, who had never been on a boat before, and there were others who had never been through the wonderful locks and who, therefore, experienced for the first time the intense delights occasioned by most favorable views of the matchless scenery of the, as yet, comparatively unknown Rideau. The officers and members of the society aided by the courteous captain (Ira Folger), and employees of the boat left nothing undone towards making all on board feel perfectly at home. The foolish, unfounded and unjust prejudice previously existing in the minds of some towards the staunch Princess will not likely ever again be shared in by those who yesterday were almost as loud in their praises of the speed, steadiness and good accommodation of the Princess Louise as they were of the unrivalled scenery through which she bore them safely home.

A Close Contest.

The baseball match between the Park Nine and Athletic teams was the feature of the day at Long Island park yesterday. A score of 1 to 0 cannot but have been the result of a fine game of ball. The light shower which fell about 3:30 o'clock made the ground a little slippery at first, but the hot rays of the sun following soon made the diamond fit for a professional game.

The Park Nine scored its point in the fourth innings. The teams were:

Park Nine—Moore, c; McNally, p; Pierce, 1b; Lawless, 2b; Donnelly, ss; Shaw, 3b; Smith, l.f.; Black, c.f.; Newell, r.f.

Athletics—Elliott, c; T. Robinson, p; Smith, 1b; Conley, 2b; Gallivan, ss; McCammon, 3b; Sherow, r.f.; Porter, c.f.; Sullivan, l.f.

An orchestra was on hand and dancing was enjoyed at the pavilion until 7:30 o'clock, when the str. Pierrepont brought the crowd back.

The Pleasant Sail.

The athletic and military searchlight excursion, last night, per str. St. Lawrence, was well patronized, there being good sprinkling of soldiers, athletes and citizens aboard. Clayton was called at to allow a few tourists to disembark. The searchlight worked well and the ever enjoyable scenes of the St. Lawrence were seen again.

There Were Many Sick.

The trip to Oswego, yesterday, was very pleasant, but the return voyage was not so comfortable. The wind blew hard and the waves pounded the steamer Empire State, but she ploughed the sea in a steady way. Many on board became very sick, but on reaching calm water they recovered and on landing felt much better than when they started.

SYDENHAM STREET EXTENSION.

The Costs Incurred and Recommendations by the Mayor.

The costs in connection with the extension of Sydenham street up to the present are: James Reid's award, $15,567, arbitration fees, $593; Somerville's award, $8,900, arbitration fees, $258; G. Carruthers' award, $900, T. Y. Parkhill, $800; arbitration fees, $60; grand total, $27,578. The city estimated the value of the property of the Roman Catholic corporation and Regiopolis college to be $12,630.78, and the costs of four arbitrations held $1,100. The cost of three arbitrations to be held, including arbitrators' fees, $1,300; witness fees, $200; removing buildings, $2,050; cost of valuators employed by the city, $590. The total amount apparently needed for the completion of the work is $44,958.78. The mayor in his report to the finance committee points out that the sum voted by the people for the work is inadequate, and that there are two ways out of the difficulty. Either an additional sum of $13,000 can be asked from the electors, or a new by-law can be framed, changing the line of the street and avoiding the Reid property, which would reduce the cost of extension $10,000 and bring it within the limit of the by-law. The costs of arbitration up to the present are about $3,000, and it would not do to drop the scheme at present, for the demand for the scheme is as marked as when the by-law was submitted a year ago. The finance committee will meet in a few days and adopt some course of action.

Over At Channel Grove.

The lacrosse game at Channel Grove, yesterday afternoon, between the Kingstons and a picked team from the camp representing Carleton Place, Brockville, Gananoque and other places resulted in a victory for the Kingstons by a score of 4 to 3. The Kingstons were: Goal, T. Gaffney; point, W. Reid; c.p., J. Gaffney; def. field, F. Raney, J. E. Spankie; centre, S. Reid; home field, A. Rea, J. Elliott; outside home, J. Ellis; inside home, Todman. Referee, C. L. Bass.

The Kingstons indulged in some very pretty combination work throughout the whole game which at times baffled their opponents who lacked combination but played a very nice individual game. The improvement of the Kingstons by the hard and judicious practices during the past few weeks was made manifest in their team and individual play yesterday.
