Some drummers were diverting themselves in a smoking car by repeating verses of so-called "checks." All but one had a certain amount of sense. When he was called upon, he said: "I don't remember anything worth telling. In fact my wife has completely done me out of my wits. She has taken a fine sample of her own stock. When I went back from my latest trip, I went home at some time after 9 o'clock in the evening. Well, there was my house lit up from top story to basement, candles were leaving the door, and affairs seemed to be in a state of confusion."
