MR. DAVIN ASKS QUESTIONS. Mr. Davin may be disappointed in no getting a seat in the cabinet, and he may not. He certainly has been very outspoken in recent years, has freely criticised the fiscal policy of the government, and has condemned the combines which it has encouraged. He went too far for his own personal good, when he pronounced the cabinet ministers a lot of avenues and costly palaces and lake steamantigues and incapables. The complete uncertainty that has halted all atyles of business for three months and the pressure of the money market for the last year have put all bargain makers at their wit's end. Some of the best men in the land have faltered; men whose hearts are enlisted in every good work and whose bands have blessed every great charity. The church of God can afford to extend to them ber sympathies and plead before beaven with all availing prayer. The schools such men have established, the churches they have built, the asylums and beneficent institutions they. have fostered, will be their culogy long after their banking institutions are forgotten. Such men can never fail. They have their treasures in banks that never break and will be millionaires forever. The stringency of the money market, I an glad to say, begins to relax. May the wisdom of Almighty God come down upon our national legislature at their convening next month in Washington and such resuits be reached as shall restore confidence and revive trade and multiply prosperities! Yet not only now in the time of financial disaster, but all through life, our active business people have a struggle, and I think it will be appropriate and useful for me to. talk about their trials and try to offer some curative prescriptions.

THE TEMPTED MERCHANT, In the first place, I have to remark that a great many of our business men feel ruinons trials and temptations coming to them from small and limited capital in business. THE PEVERISH TRIEST FOR GAIN. Again, a great many of our business men are tempted to over anxiety and care. You know that pearly all commercial businesses are overdone in this day. Smitten with the love of quick gain, our cities are crowded. with men resolved to be rich at all hazards. They do not care how money comes. Our best merchants are thrown into competition with men of more means and less conscience, and if an opportunity of accumulation be neglected one hour some one else picks it up. From January to December the struggle goes on. Night gives no quiet to limbs tossing in restlessness nor to a brain that will not stop thinking. Have you ever ciphered out in the rule of any gem you can bring from the ocean, all shall be well hereafter. LOSS OF MONEY NOT PATAL.

Bat I must have a word with those who during the present commercial calamities have lost heavily er perhaps lost all their estate. If a man lose his property at 80 or 40 years of age, it is only a sharp discipline generally, by which later he comes to larger success. It is all folly for a man to sit down in midlife discouraged: The marshals of Napoleon came to their commandar and said, "We have lost the battle, and twe are being cut to pieces." Napoleon took his watch from his pocket and said: "It is only 3 o clock in the afternoon. You have lost that battle, but we have time grough to win another. Charge upon the

Though the meridian of life has passed with you, and you have been routed in many a conflict, give not up in discouragement. There are victories yet for you to gain. But sometimes monetary disaster comes to a man when there is something in his age or something in his health or something in his surroundings which make him know well that he will never get up again. In 1857 it was estimated that for many years previous to that time annually there had been 30,000 failures in the United States. Many of those persons never regovered from the misfortune. But let me give a word of comfort in passing. The sheriff may sell you out of many things, but there are some things of which he cannot sell you out. He cannot sell out your health.
