With all the enterprise and competitive spirit of her yankse consins. Canada has made a display at the world's fair which admirably serves its purpose of illustrating the natural and developed resources of her vast territory. No department of the exposition has been slighted by Canada, says the Chicago Herald. Each big building contains a comprehensive exhibit, installed according to the best methods that could proofs mailed (scaled) be employed to make it attractive. Possessed of resources so nearly similar to those of this country that but slight distinctions can be drawn, Canada has been aulmated by the spirit of competition more keenly, perhaps, than any other nation represented at Jackson Park. She has given special attention to the display of her agricultural products, upon which she

Great care has been taken by the dominion official to properly present the display in the Agricultural Building. . A beautiful court covering 7,000 square feet and rising twenty five feet from the floor, stands, a model of its kind, on the north side of the center alsle. It is surmounted by a handsome trophy and by a large stuffed deer from the Rocky mountains. The curtain which surrounds the court on four sides is made entirely of grain and straw tastefully and artistically arranged. Displays by Provinces.

Samples of grain in glass jars constitute a beautiful trophy which rises to a height of fully thirty five feet. The display of grain and cereals from the province of Quebec is one of the most beautiful in the section. An interesting festure is a magnificent trophy of Canadian tobacco. There is also a pretty showtwo staple products of this province. The display of grains and cereals from the great grain-growing areas of the northwest show the splendid quality and extensive variety of these staples from the storehous of the dominion. There is also a splendid exhibit of furs and stuffed birds which display. The maritime provinces of the dominion show splendid exhibits of cereals and grains. Where Cotton Is Regent. Canada has outdone her mother country n the neat and pretty curtains she has erected around her section in the Manufactures Building. The section is on the west side of Columbia avenue, with Great Britain on her north, Denmark on the south, and Belgium on the east across the avenue. Every foot of 16,000 square feet of space is crowded with manufactured goods from all parts of Canada. There are a great many lines of manufactured produets in the Canadian court which will compare favorably with those of the older, more populous and more pretentious manuduets of the Canadian cotton mills. Coal and Ore Samples. The samples of coal from British-Columbia show the excellent quality, both anthracite and bituminous, of the inexhaustible coal fields of the Pacific province. Black diamonds are also taken out in large quantities in the province of Nova Scotia, and the sparsely wooded and illimitable areas of farming land in the great northwest of the dominion have a plentiful supply of excellent coal. The display which Canada makes in the Horticultural Building is one of the most important and attractive in that depart. ment of the fair. The Province of Quebec has been more successful than any of the other provinces in keeping up a display of fresh winter apples, of which there are over seventy varieties. Nova Scotis's display of the different varieties of apples from the famous Annapolis valley is beyond criticism. The exhibit from British Columbia attracts much attention because of ing of maple sugar and syrup, which are the immense size of the apples and pears, There is also a great variety of the smaller fruits. Prince Edward island, the northwest territories and Manitoba have all creditable displays of the smaller fruits. In one of the courts is a beautiful model of the sleigh presented by the women of Canada as a wedding present to the Duke of York and the Princess May. It is a magnificent specimen of Canadian workmanship. The display also includes a large exhibit of sporting and pleasure canoes, folding boats, snow shoes, toboggans, etc., for which Canada, as the home of the sportsman, has a world-wide reputation. In the annex of the Transportation Building is a full standard vestibuled train of the Canadian Pacific Railway, entirely of Canadian manufacture, the cars being made from native Canadian woods. C. H. OTTO. BOOKBINDER AND BLANK BOOK MANU MY TYPEWRITER.

Some few months ago I had occasion to require in my business the services of a typepriter, and I made my wants known. As a consequence I was visited by no fewer than 47 candidates in person, without counting the hundred and odd who appliedby letter. Of the 47, 36 were of the weaker sex, and as these demanded a slightly lower wage than their male competitors I decided -for that reason, and that only -to employ

Now, the 35 had all brought samples of their work, and as all possessed the needful qualification and as one typewritten letter is precisely like-another I did what every other man would have done under the circumstances and chose the best look-

She was a very handsome girl and a very charming one too. I say it in spite of the trouble she brought me. For a time she was a complete success. Apart from the fact that I had to dictate to her continually, it was obviously undesirable that she should sit with my male clerks. So I alloted her a corner in my own room, and she set up her machine there. It was pleasant to have some one to talk

The presence of a stranger, even of my wife, who is really in her way a very kind woman, would of source have been unwelcome to my typewriter in her distress, so I said, without looking up;

"I will not press you further today, Gertrude, but on Monday I shall expect to be treated with more confidence. I am expecting some one here on important private ouslness, so you may go at once." She made no answer, and I turned to look at her. She was standing with parted lips and wide staring eyes, her tear stained face tightly pressed against the dingy window pane. I took her hand in mine. Then she, turned, uttering a cry:

"Charlie, Charlie, my darling!" At the moment shedld so-in fact, before the words left her lips-I was conscious of the door opening and that my wife was there and must have heard her with as much surprise as myself and even more horror. But before another word could be said

R. M. Mackey-Miss Helen B. Foe. On July 18th Trinity church, Jersey City, was the scene of a pleasing event, when Miss Helen Boyd Fee, daughter of James Fee; Esq., of Camden East, Ont. Canada, was married to B. Montgomery Mackey, New York. Rev. E. B. Snyder performed the ceremony. During Miss Fee's sojourn in the south, she won many admirers by her charming and amiable mer, in the swimming pool of the Alcazar Hotel, St. Augustine. Miss Fee is stylish and attractive brunette and her young and gallant husband is to be congratulated in having secured such a companion for life. Mr. and Mrs. Mackey left by the afternoon train for their future home in New York City.
