MALONEY TO BE WATCHED. Strange Remarks He is Said to Have Made

Edward Maloney, an ex-convict, convicted this morning for pointing a revolver at T. Flaherty, another ex-convict, and E. Hansen, bartender at the St. Lawrence hotel, is strongly suspected of knowing all about the marder of Angus McLeod in Napanee.

A detective has been here several days gleaning particulars about Maoney and the statement made about him by Flaherty is very important. The cause of the row between Flaherty and Maloney was because the former refused. to accompany Maloney one evening. He said to Flaherty :, "I want you to come with me because I have a good job on.'
