Hair and Eyebrows Fell Off. Doctor and many Remedies no Benefit. Entirely Cured and Hair Restored by Cuticura.

My wife has been troubled for years with dry rasts and scales on her head and eyebrows. Iter seeming to lie dormant for years in her system, it broke out over a year ago in all its fury. Her REMEDIES would cure her. After she had used REMEDIER Would cure her. After she had used nine boxes of Curreuna, and about a decen cakes of Curreuna Soar, and four bottles of Curreuna Resolvent, she was cured entirely. Her hair came on again, and to-day she has as fine a head of black curly hair and as smooth skin as any lady in Allentown. (See portrait.) Her eyebrows are heavier than they ever were, her scalp is free from dandruff, and her health is excellent. FREEMAN STOEKER, 225 Court Street, Allentown, Pa.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are simply wonderful. The cures daily made by them astonish physicians, druggists and those who have lost faith and hope. No statement is made regarding them not justified by the strongest evidence. They are not only the purest and sweetest, but the most speedy, economical and infallible skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times.

Scenes of Indescribable Borror-Twenty-Six Charred Bodies Taken Out of the Wreck-Scores Were Terribly Injured-Orders

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 21 .- The worst accident of the year occurred about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the pards of the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway. which at least 26 persons lost their lives, and double as many more were hadly in-jured. A Raymond and Whiteomb special train from New York and Boston was returning from Chicago. The train was in charge of Conductor Scott, of this city, and Engineer Woolley, and took orders at the station to meet at Nicholle No. 9, the Pacafic express going west, due at 1.30, but which was three hours late. The conductor, or engineer, or both, of the Raymond special disobeyed orders, and passed Nicholls station and collided with the 'acific express coming west at the rate of bout 30 miles an hour. The two engines

The engineers and firemen saw that the samed Burk, was badly hart. When the collision took place the second and third day coaches on No. 9, the train going west, were completely telescoped. It was in these cars the horrible sacrifice of le took place. The second coach cut through the third coach like a knife, and the roof passed over the heads of the sleepng, and the ill-fated passengers were completely entombed in a fiery furnace.

lucky coach, there were 25 dead bodies taken out by the firemen. They were pinioned under seats and jammed up against the end of the coach by the next coach, which had telescoped, and then burnt like rate in a trap.

The accident was a mile from the fire station sed before water could be turned on the cars they were all burned. No one on the Raymond special was injured. The Pacific express was made up of thirteen old coaches and four of them were completely burned, catching fire from the lamps in the cars, The bodies were burned so badly as to be unrecognizable. Nearly all had their heads, arms or legs burned off. As the second car was driven back through the third it swept the people in a mass to the north end of the latter car, in the vicinity of the stove, where most of the bodies were afterwards found.

The cars immediately took fire and in an instant they were all ablaze. The night yardmen and the people living in the vicinity were on the scene as soon as possible. One passenger escaped through the doorway; others who escaped smashed out the windows and climbed through; Only three escaped from the left side and not more than six from the other side. All 'the rest of the occupants of the second

The most horrible sight was that presented by Mrs. Charles Van Duzen, of Fort Plain, N.Y. She succeeded in getting halfway out of the window, but her lega were fastened, and those who ran to her assistance could not release her. She was burned to death before their eyes, with one half of her body still hanging out of the window,

The fire department responded prompt y, but the wreck was over a mile away. The distance of the nearest hydrant from the wreck, and the difficulty of driving the hose wagon between cars and tracks delayed the firemen, and the fire had gained considerably when the line of hose was finally laid, it taking 1,500 feet to reach the burning cars. A line of hose was also laid from the Grand Trunk waterworks, but there was not pressure enough to throw

The awful work of rescuing the dead and injured was not completed until 9 o'clock, when the last body was taken from the wreck. Sufficient stretchers were not to be had, and the workers nailed boards together, on which the charred bodies were laid and carried away as fast as they were extricated. A temporary morgue was made of a freight car, in which the disfigured bodies were placed in charge of local undertakers. So horribly burned and charred are the bodies lying in the morgue that it is hardly possible their names will ever be
