A MORTIFYING EXHIBIT.

Mr. Metcalfe will have occasion to remember the Local nomination day, February, 1892, and so will many of his friends. Men have made mistakes, have tripped and fallen in debate and escaped comparatively unhurt, but Mr. Metcalfe, by a reckless use of language, by down right misrepresentation, has suffered a fearful exposure.

It came about in this way. Mr. Metcalfe was discussing the parliament building question, and insinuated that the cost of the work had been increased through the manipulations of the architect who was profiting by a percentage upon the total outlay. Mr. Taft, M.P.P., who was present, and who is familiar with every act of the legislature at once threw out a conditional challenge. He invited Mr. Metcalfe to undertake a scrutiny of the facts, and to promise that if his statement were untrue he should insist upon the withdrawal of his candidate, but if it was true Mr. Taft should demand the retirement of Mr. Harty. The audience quickly realized that the proposition was a fair one, and Mr. Metcalfe was put upon his mettle, the mettle that we read about. And the result? Mr. Metcalfe consulted a moment with his friends, gathered from some one the information he should have possessed, advanced to the front of the platforms and sorrowfully, abjectly, pitifully, confessed that he had been telling an untruth. What a mortification! What a degradation on the part of one who had, at the meeting in Portsmouth, quoted religious poetry in the enunciation of that high morality which he professed to have. The experience was a new one to a public man in Kingston, and for the credit of the city, and of the man who presumes to represent it in parliament, let us hope it will not occur again.

The rebuke of Mr. Taft was sharp and cut like a two-edged sword. He reminded the audience that Mr. Metcalfe had been a member of the legislature for thirteen years, that it was his duty to know what was going on in the house, that he was paid for giving the business his attention, and his speech was an evidence of how badly he had served the people. With such a revelation before the electors it is safe to say that they discounted most of what Mr. Metcalfe said, including the declaration that he had secured various favors for the city, including the dry dock, over which he recites the pith of a memorable discussion with incidents which cannot be disputed because of the untimely removal of the man who could contradict him and who counted for something in political strategy.

Mr. Metcalfe cannot be of any further help to Mr. Drennan in his campaign. He presumed to mislead the citizens and failed. He cannot dare to mislead the farmers, many of whom have been already hurt by the loose talk of the conservative candidate.

FRATERNAL INSURANCE.

The following clause in the speech, delivered at the opening of the Ontario parliament by Chief Justice Hagerty, on behalf of the ailing lieutenant-governor, has excited some comment:

"A bill will be submitted to extend some of the provisions of the laws heretofore made in respect of insurance, to certain classes of insurance not included in the present enactments. Also a measure to correct the evils which have arisen from the difficulty under existing laws of distinguishing licensed insurance companies and legitimate and bona fide benefit societies from organizations which are unauthorized and illusory."

What does this mean? Not a check upon the work of any society whose benevolence, in the way of assurance, is conducted along safe and reasonable lines. The "classes of insurance, not included in the present enactments" have no occasion to feel that there will be any interference since with their usefulness, any restraint upon their operations, any action which will raise an obstacle to legitimate effort. Clearly the legislation undertaken by the provincial government, and so vaguely foreshadowed, is protective in its character, and such, therefore, as all sound and healthy benevolent associations should warmly welcome.

The provision that is to be made for some distinction between the licensed insurance companies, the bona fide benefit societies, and the fake schemes, is not objectionable to those who represent institutions whose purposes and work will stand a little criticism. There are those who think the Ontario legislation has encouraged the projection of too many so-called benefit associations but really speculative concerns, of doubtful place and certainly doubtful future, whose cheapness is at once their bane and ruin; and if the proposed law is to be more exacting upon those seeking incorporation under the benevolent societies act, to the extent that they must have features commending themselves to the insurance commissioner, a step in the right direction will be taken.

The suggested legislation in the Ontario parliament is apparently all right. As much cannot be said of what rumor says the dominion house will undertake at its forthcoming session. There has been, of late, considerable antagonism between the assessment societies and the old line insurance companies, and it has reached such a climax that the disposition of the one is to have the other handicapped by parliamentary action or legislation out of existence. The purposes of the recently formed fraternal societies' association are misunderstood. It does not presume to make war upon any company or any institution, but to act on the defensive, in protection of the societies' rights, and in the advancement of mutual interests. True, the association has a legislative committee, whose duty it is to watch the intents of governments to amend the laws which affect them, and, under the circumstances, the existence of this committee is a wise contingency.

The Budget, an insurance journal, in its January number, suggested the passing of an act by the dominion government for the regulating of the fraternal societies. Our contemporary thought, and not unreasonably, that all matters of statistical interest to the public should be required in annual statements of the societies, to be reported to a registrar, appointed to supervise fraternal and benevolent societies as is done in England. Further, that societies organized under provincial authority and desiring to extend their operations to other provinces of the dominion should be registered in the office of the registrar. "By this means," says the Budget, "insurance companies and benefit societies would be kept entirely separate, and they should be, seeing that their objects are different." And says the same authority with a touch of cutting sarcasm, "what a gain that would be to the public now tormented and defrauded by crazy insurance schemes under the guise of fraternal benevolence, but only and solely for the selfish purposes of the schemes."

From all that has been said, and all that can be learned, there is no reason to believe that the legislature of the province or of the dominion will in any way affect the labor of the legitimate benevolent societies.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Great I Am—is not Mr. Metcalfe.

* * *

Mr. Metcalfe should cease talking about himself. He is not nearly so great a man as he thinks himself.

* * *

Heaven help the cause which Ald. Drennan represents and Mr. Metcalfe defends. It is in a sorry shape.

* * *

Mr. Metcalfe and Dr. Smythe should rehearse a bit on the license question. They are making a show of each other.

* * *

Ald. Drennan can be excused in knowing little of Ontario politics when J. H. Metcalfe collapses on a public platform.

* * *

Taft's a teaser. He made Mr. Metcalfe sue for mercy in the city hall, and leave it with a hat that was several sizes too large for him.

* * *

Ald. Drennan told the Portsmouth people that he had no experience in Ontario politics, yet it was his intention to enlighten them on the license and ballot questions.

* * *

Mr. Drennan says that if elected he will watch the interests of the riding "very carefully." Mr. Metcalfe promised the same thing, and we know what followed. Think of yesterday's spectacle!

* * *

Besides admitting that he is young Ald. Drennan says he is inexperienced. Will the electors send a man to parliament to learn his political alphabet, or put one there who knows what he is talking about?

* * *

Mr. Metcalfe says he was the power behind the throne to secure the dry dock for Kingston. And everybody, in days gone by, credited Sir John with getting the dock, and a good many supported him because of this in his last election.

* * *

Dr. Smythe is organizer of the conservative campaign. Well, he lacks in judgment when he lets inexperienced men shatter on things of which they have no knowledge. Yesterday's break in the city hall was enough to ruin the campaign of any man.

* * *

Dr. Grant was shamefully referred to by Mr. Metcalfe yesterday. What has he done? Exercised his freedom of thought and expressed himself in favor of an intelligent, honest and truthful man. So Mr. Metcalfe abandons him. Happy release!

Thankfully Received.

The box of clothing that friends of Queen street Methodist church helped to send to the poor, in the vicinity of North Bay, has reached its destination and the contents placed where they will do the most good. On Jan 22nd the receipt of the box was acknowledged thus to Rev. Mr. Kines: "We are in receipt of the mammoth box of clothing which you and the friends so kindly collected; we have already distributed most of it. If you could have seen the demonstrations of joy and thankfulness with which it was received by the poor half-naked families I think you would feel more than repaid."

How true it is what the Master said: "I was naked and ye clothed me. In as much as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me," adds Mr. Kines in his note to the editor.

Some Admirable Feats.

Gunner Rousseau, of "A" battery, is very strong. He has been in the militia for eleven years and is twenty-eight years of age. About a year ago he began training and last night, in the roller rink, he gave an exhibition. He raised a dumb bell, weighing 142 lbs., full arm's length above his head and twisted it about to show the strength of his wrist. He can put up the weight six times in succession. Twelve men, weighing 1920 lbs., stood on a table and Rousseau, beneath it, raised the ton on his back. He played with a 42 lb. dumb bell as a gymnast would with clubs, and putting a second one up went through club swinging with ease. He made many movements with a bar weighing 75 lbs. He concluded by lifting 455 lbs. His performance was admired greatly.

A Woman Undertaker.

Women have invaded pretty nearly all the fields of labor. Women doctors, lawyers and preachers are numerous, and women have kept lighthouses, and one was a mariner bold on the raging Mississippi—holding a master's certificate. Now we have in Buffalo a woman undertaker, who arranges funerals, embalms bodies and does the regulation thing in the regulation, gruesome manner. She is said to be in great demand at children's funerals, and is able to give most valuable advice as to mourning garb and conduct.

Hospital Funds Missing.

Senator Tomassini and Prince Borghese were the presidents respectively of the City Insane asylum and the famous Santo Spirito hospital in Rome. Of the funds of these institutions 500,000 francs was missing from the asylum and 700,000 from the hospital. Suit was brought to recover these amounts from the senator and the prince. Upon examination it was found that a legal investigation would disclose things unpleasant to the government, and the suits have been withdrawn.

COUNTRY HAPPENINGS.

THE LIGHTS GONE OUT.

One This Side of the River—The Family Have Crossed One by One.

SYDENHAM, Feb. 16.—"Jessie Fraser is gone at last," poor girl, we had hoped to have been spared the sad announcement, although not unexpected who can hear of the death of one that was well known and commanded the respect of every one who knew her, without being startled. Several years ago her father was taken away by consumption. A stalwart brother soon became a victim of the same disease and was also taken, soon to be followed by the dear mother who left three daughters to mourn their bereavement. The grave soon opened to receive the eldest one and the two sisters were left to battle with life alone. Last spring it was evident that Jessie would soon be taken for the ruddy countenance was growing wan and pale. She was soon missed from the church services and her Sabbath school class was without a teacher. Last Sunday night at nine o'clock the end came, God had taken her to Himself for before her translation she had this testimony that she pleased God. Dr. Day, Harrowsmith, was her medical attendant. He visited her for the last time, last Thursday night. On returning home he was seized with congestion of the lungs and at two o'clock, yesterday afternoon, he followed his patient through the dark valley. "In such an hour as we think not the Son of Man cometh."

'Grippe, of a severe type, is prevalent here. Miss F Lawson, the latest victim, is very ill. Miss Spooner, high school teacher, suffering from rheumatism, was taken home last Sunday. Miss Townsend, an invalid for six months, was removed to Kingston, last Friday, for surgical treatment. She has been a patient sufferer and her many friends are anxious for her recovery. The choir of the Methodist church sang, and Mr. Harvey, high school teacher, gave an address at the Harrington tea-meeting last Thursday night. F. Lawson has disposed of his stock of cutters, notwithstanding the late arrival of snow. James Lahey, merchant, had a "bee" last week to draw wood from his back place. A skating carnival will be held next Wednesday night. It will be under the management of the Varret Bros. This is the time to look after your valuation and not wait till you get your tax bill next fall. Visitors: The Misses Nicol, Cataraqui; George H. Horning, Tamworth; Leighton and Richard Horning, Leeds; Miss Snider, Maitland; Miss Creighton, New York, and a dear little grand child up to Almon Woods'.

ELGINBURG EVENTS.

The Familiar Relation of a Holiness Brother—General Village Notes.

ELGINBURG, Feb. 16.—After a somewhat exciting election J. W. Marsh was declared trustee in place of J. Bearance, resigned. The latter was evidently the choice of the action, but unfortunately his residence is a few rods outside the section and we could not ignore our school law, the majesty of which has been sustained and we are all now happy.

Rev. A. B. Johnston received a telegram calling him to see his mother, very low with pneumonia. He started at once, but she passed away before he arrived. J. Porter and J. Lutherland have both been confined to the house for some days, but are better. Miss L. Lawson, who went to spend a few days in Kingston was stricken with grippe, but is so far recovered as to reach home but, is still quite ill. Miss Blair, of Westport, has returned home after spending some days with Mrs. C Fleming. The latter has gone to see her father, who is afflicted with cancer and cannot last long.

The Misses Ewing are spending some time here. F. Lawson and wife, of Sydenham, spent last Sunday here. Mrs. Porter, sr., who is old and feeble in body and mind, has been removed from her son's, George Porter, B.A., (Bachelor of Age) to the home of her son John, who is in a better position to care for the worthy lady in her few remaining days. The revival services in the Methodist church are not as well attended as is usual at such times. The congregations are not equal to those at the ordinary services. However there seems to be quite a "moving in the dry bones" and good is being accomplished. As is usual at such there is an occasional experience given which makes the more thoughtful look at each other. As, for instance, at a recent meeting Mr. Radford, the leader of the "movement," said: "I stand before you as pure and clean as God Almighty can make me." And again: "I throw myself on God's scales every morning and night and I come right up to His standard, so that I never have to pray for myself one moment." He is assisted by C. Carter. They hail from Lombardy.

Westport Whisperings.

WESTPORT Feb. 16.—Mrs. Patrick Murphy is seriously ill. Thomas Golden, Bedford, died on the 14th, aged twenty-eight years. Roads are very bad since the heavy fall of snow on Sunday night. No wood nor hay came into the village yesterday. The mission held in St. Edward's church came to a close last Sunday. It was very edifying to see the crowds of people going to and from the church from early morning until late at night. The tea meeting and social held last week, in aid of the Methodist church, was a grand success; proceeds amounted to $125. Mrs Hiram Barker, ill for some time, is gaining. The Murphy Bros., John and James, will start a shoe shop and a tailor shop in Stone, next week. Andrew McCann, sr., ill for some time, with grippe, is able to be out again. M. J. McCann got in another stock of fine boots, direct from New York. Mrs. Patrick Murphy, sr., died this morning, aged fifty-six years. She was a very charitable woman and a good christian. She leaves a husband, four sons and two daughters to mourn their sad loss.

Death of an Old Veteran.

SEELEY'S BAY, Feb. 15.—Farmers are busy drawing saw logs and hardwood. G. Hawkins, for some time sick with grippe, is recovering. S. Langford has sold his bakery to Wm. Charlton, of Lyndhurst. Mr Langford starts for London, Eng., in a few days, where he will again start a bakery. Jos Gainford, sr., who for many years resided near here, died, this morning, after a lingering illness at the ripe age of eighty years. He came to this country from Ireland when very young. He was a non-commissioned officer in the militia at the time of the rebellion in 1837-38, and fought in the engagement at the Windmill. Mr. Charlton has secured the services of R. Mitchell as baker. The business is in a prosperous condition. E. Coleman is delivering hay in Westport at $10 per ton. Hay is selling here at $8. Miss Minnie Chapman has returned home after visiting her brothers at Havelock.

Exciting Times at Roslin.

BELLEVILLE Feb. 15.—At the East Hastings nomination, held at Roslin on Saturday, there was an exciting time. After the papers had been handed in for W. R Ayles worth, reformer, and W. B. Northrup, conservative, J. W. Johnson, who went over to the reformers at the last election, made a telling speech in favor of free trade. H. Corby, M.P., for West Hastings, followed, and held up Mr. Johnson to the ridicule of the crowd for turning his coat, and for certain acts done, while he was a member of the city council. Mr. Johnson asked the chairman for an opportunity to reply, which courtesy was refused. Mr. Johnson called Mr. Corby a sneak for taking advantage of him, when the latter made for him, and the men grappled. The meeting was instantly in the greatest disorder, and the men were separated with some difficulty.

Reaped Success from Disaster.

A circus was stranded in Altoona Pa. Connected with the show was a man from Biddeford, Me., who had the candy privilege. He deplored the fact that the circus had "smashed up," but that was not all he did. He hired a vacant store, got the trained bear, the stuffed snake and the fat woman and exhibited them with great success—pecuniarily. He now owns a dime museum and is on the high road to wealth.

Killed Two Ferocious Animals.

A mountain lion which measures nine feet from the tip of its nose to the tip of its tail ought to be an awkward customer to handle, and yet a hunter of Provo, U. T., recently killed and brought into town such an animal, as well as the mate, which measured seven feet. The male weighed 400 pounds. They were both killed in Hobble Creek canyon.

THE KINGSTON MARKETS.

The Latest Quotations Gathered on the Market Square.

KINGSTON, Feb. 16.—The markets during the past week have not been very well attended, due, no doubt, to the extreme severity of the weather, causing the market to be flooded with meat, and also resulting in a scarcity of vegetables.

The quotations are: Turkeys, 8c to 9c per lb.; ducks, 8c to 8½ per lb.; geese, 6c to 7c per lb.; chickens, 7c to 7½c per lb.

Meat—Pork, 5c to 6c per lb.; lamb, 6c to 8c per lb for hindquarters; carcase, 7c per lb.; veal, 5c to 6c per lb. by quarter; beef, 5c to 10c per lb.; carcase, $5.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

Vegetables—Potatoes 35c per bag; apples, 40c to 75c per bag; celery, 40c to 50c per dozen; onions, 75c to $1; turnips, beets, carrots and parsnips, 40c per bag; cabbage, 50c per dozen.

Butter finds a ready sale at from 14c to 25c per lb., for fresh; packed, 16c to 18c per lb.; eggs, fresh, 20c per dozen; packed, 15c to 17c.

Family flour $2.50 per cwt.; bakers' flour, $2.50; cornmeal, $2.50 to $2.60; buckwheat flour, $2 to $2.25 per cwt.; bran, $19 to $20 a ton; chops, $25 per ton; cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.80 per cwt.

Hides.—Wool and lambskins, 50c to $1 each; tallow, 5c per lb.; wool, 16c; deacons, 25c to 35c; hides, 2½c, 3½ and 4½c; veals, 40c to 60c each.

The fish market is lively. Lake herrings, 25c to 30c per dozen; bass, 8c per lb.; siscoes, 10c per lb.; sea salmon, 20c per lb.; eels, 5c per lb; oysters, 40c to 50c per quart; cod, 10c per lb.; haddock, 7c to 8c; sea trout, 20c per lb.; finnan haddies, 10c per lb.; trout, 10c per lb.; brook trout, 15c per lb.; pickerel, 8c per lb.; pike, 6c per lb.; whitefish, 10c per lb.; smelts, 10c per lb.; sea herring, 40c dozen.

There was a better feeling in the grain market yesterday but in local markets the price is unchanged. Deliveries are very light. The fact of the ocean freights being very low will help to work off the surplus on this side. If the European demand keeps up we will hope for better markets but it will take some time to work off the surplus. The quotations are: Peas, 58; rye, 75c; barley, 38 to 41c; buckwheat, 42c, wheat, 80c to 85c.

The Markets Elsewhere.

There were about 250 head of butchers' cattle, but no small stuff offered at Montreal on Monday. Although prices were higher all round, the butchers took hold more freely than they generally do. The best cattle sold at 4½c per lb., or fully ½c higher than on last Monday; pretty good stock sold at about 4c to 4½c; old oxen, rough steers and bulls at from 3c to 4c do. There were no sheep or calves offered there to-day. Fat hogs are rather easier, or nearly 5c per lb.; dressed hogs are also lower, or about 6½c per lb.

In cheese in Montreal no new features are developed. Most holders appear to be confident that the chances are good for more money a short time hence, but the action of buyers does not seem to show that they share the anticipation of an advance, actual business being almost at a standstill. Finest colored are to be had to-day for 11½c and finest white for 12c.

Seeds—Slow; receipts light. Alsike sells at $5.50 to $6.50 per bush., according to quality. Red clover is being offered yet, western Ontario seed selling at $5 25 to $5.50, and northern and eastern seed for export at $5.50 to $5 75 per bush. Receipts of timothy are very light and dealers report but little in the country. Prices are purely nominal at $1 25 to $1 50 per bush.

Honey—Very quiet. Extracted is selling at 9c to 10c; filled comb at 14c to 15c per lb.

Hops—Trade slow, with a few sales of best Canada hops in small lots at 24c to 25c; medium are held at 18c to 22c; Bavarian freight and duty paid at 41c to 42c; Wurtemberg at 42c to 43c per lb.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

Sudden change of temperature sorely try all persons prone to rheumatism, sciatica, tic doloreux, and many maladies scarcely less painful, though of shorter duration. On the first attack of stiffness or suffering in any muscle, joint, or nerve, recourse should immediately be had to fomenting the seat of disease with hot brine and rubbing in this remarkable Ointment, which will assuage the uneasiness of the part, subdue inflammation, and reduce the swelling. The Pills simultaneously taken, will rectify constitutional disturbances and renew the strength. No remedy heretofore discovered has proved so effective as the Ointment and Pills for removing gouty, rheumatic, and scrofulous attacks, which affect all ages, and are commonly called hereditary.
